HITLER WARNED BY HINDENBURG IN CHURCH ROW

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

Berlin, June 30 (U.P.).—President Paul von Hindenburg today wrote Chancellor Adolf Hitler, expressing "grave concern" over the bitter and growing conflict in Germany between the church and state.

The aged chief executive, in a vigorously worded message from his summer estate at Neudeck, in East Prussia, called upon Hitler to moderate his campaign relative to the church. He broke his almost complete silence since Hitler's rise to power dramatically to intervene in the quarrel.

President von Hindenburg suggested that his chancellor enter into negotiations with representatives of the different church groups and state his view on setting the conflict.

Hitler Conference Bared.

The president added that numerous letters and telegrams to him had revealed wide-spread disquietude regarding the freedom of the church under the Nazi regime, and said:

"I feel obliged before God and my conscience to do everything to avert damage."

The President's letter revealed that he had gone over this delicate problem thoroughly with the chancellor during their lengthy conversation at Neudeck yesterday. Hitler flew to East Prussia, over the Polish Corridor, to report to Von Hindenburg on political developments under his rule.

Army Chaplain In Control.

The intervention of Von Hindenburg into the Nazi state-evangelical church controversy followed incidents in recent weeks in which the hand of Hitler, seeking to control the church has been seen.

The Rev. Dr. Ludwig Mueller, an army chaplain, yesterday assumed control of the German Evangelical Church Union, acting on behalf of and as the representative of Hitler.

A decree was issued by Dr. Mueller, saying that steps had been taken "to meet an emergency endangering the unity of the people and, the church." He also assumed the presidency of the Supreme Church Council.

The Nazi government also has moved against the Catholic Church organizations, including the Catholic party, which is to be dissolved in Hitler's campaign for a one-party dictatorship.

American Aviators Ousted by Mexico

Laredo, Tex., June 30 (A.P.).—John Pumyea and Norman McLeod, American fliers arrested near Don Martin Dam early in April when their plane landed there, were deported from Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, to the United States late today.

They had been charged with illegally entering Mexico by airplane without a permit and with smuggling airplane parts. Each was fined 200 pesos and their plane was confiscated by the Mexican government.

The fliers, after being escorted to the American side of the international boundary by consular officers, left by motor car for San Antonio, accompanied by Mrs. Pumyea. Since early in May they had been detained at the Mexican customs house in Nuevo Laredo.

Strong German Beer Is Seized on Steamer

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Inspector Michael Sweeney, on a routine tour of the liner Washington today, reasoned that some beer barrels looked too old to contain the new 3.2 brew. He ordered a sample analyzed. The chemists reported it was "real German beer that might test as high as 10 per cent."

Forty-five barrels were seized, customs officials explaining that the line's ships were not allowed to bring in beer stronger than 3.2 even under seal.

Long Deserts Law For Lack of Clients

New Orleans, La., June 30 (U.P.). Senator Huey P. Long said tonight he was "closing up my law office for lack of business."

"I've been home from Washington for two weeks and I haven't made a thin dime," the "kingfish" stormed.

"I came back here when Congress adjourned, hung up my shingle and put a public ad in the papers announcing that I was ready to do some law business. I dusted off my $25,000 law library that I made before I held any of these public offices. But I ain't seen a sign of a single client."

BANDITS TAKE $157 IN TOUCHING HOLDUP

Cash Returned to "Needy" Men During Hour-Long Shop Robbery.

The pleas of a beverage shop proprietor's wife so affected three maudlin bandits that they returned money from a few patrons during a one-hour holdup.

But they retained $157.50 taken from those whom the bandits thought could spare it.

The robbery was not reported to police until a Post reporter was "tipped off" on the holdup, and, reluctantly, the proprietor admitted it had happened.

Three men strolled into the place, operated by Frank "Reds" Mitchell, at 916 Sixth street northwest. His wife was present while he was absent.

They lounged about the place. Then came a rap on the door and one of the bandits smilingly opened it.

"Come in," he said ingratiatingly.

The customer did; and looked down into three revolvers. He netted $7.50.

"Why do you take his money?" demanded Mrs. Mitchell. "He's out of work. That's all the money he has."

Then came a newspaperman. He met the same fate, and his pockets netted fully $3.

"That'll do you a lot of good," chided Mrs. Mitchell. "He probably needs it more than you do."

Three other customers appeared; but none of them had more than a few dollars, which the bandits returned.

Then came a Filipino.

"Stick 'em up," ordered the bandit.

"No spik Engleesh," he pleaded.

He saw a gun and his hands shot into the air. His pockets held $114. This victim pleaded poverty.

"Give the guy a fiver back, and shut him up." This was done.

Meanwhile the victims were huddled in one corner, cowed by the guns.

The bandits asked, "Where's Mitchell? He generally carries a heavy roll, doesn't he?"

Finally Mitchell appeared. He was taken into the kitchen by the leader of the band and thoroughly searched. They took from him $48.50.

"Listen, Mitchell, you're a good guy," apologized the bandit. "We hope you ain't got no hard feelin's against us. We're sorry we have to do this, because you look like a swell guy."

With a general apology to all, they departed.

Farmer and Boy Killed By Lightning Under Tree

Greensburg, Pa., June 30 (A.P.).—A farmer and his nephew were killed and another person injured today as lightning struck trees under which they sought refuge during a sudden thunderstorm.

2 Army Engineers Missing After Fire

Petersburg, Va., June 30 (A.P.).—Two War Department engineers, John S. Wood and Harry M. Lineback, both of Norfolk, were feared to have perished today in the Appomattox River when their launch caught fire.

The blazing boat was found unoccupied in midstream soon after passing a tugboat 2 miles below the city. The river was dredged this afternoon, but no trace was found of the missing men.

Wood and Lineback came here from Norfolk to survey the river for dredging. They completed their work and were returning to Petersburg in the launch they had borrowed when the vessel caught fire. Both men were married.

LEGS DIAMOND WIDOW KILLED IN APARTMENT

Woman's Body Is Found Amid Evidences of Death Battle.

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—The widow of the notorious Jack (Legs) Diamond was found shot to death in her Brooklyn apartment tonight, a year and a half after her gangster husband was slain in an Albany hotel.

The body of the 30-year-old woman, whose maiden name was Alice K. Schiffer, was discovered on the living room floor by Charles Hunter, superintendent of the building, to whom neighbors had expressed the belief something was wrong.

Dress Torn, Chairs Upset.

The medical examiner found a bullet wound in her right temple, and determined she had been dead since early Wednesday.

Mrs. Diamond's dress was torn up the back and chairs in the living room were overturned. On a table in the kitchenette were three coffee cups, leading police to express the belief two persons were with her at the time of the shooting.

Two or three bullet holes were found in the walls of the apartment, which is in a substantial residential district on the way to Sheepshead Bay. Questioning of other occupants of the building by police failed to bring out any information about the shots or a quarrel that officers said apparently preceded the shooting.

Diamond Shot to Death.

Neighbors said they last had seen Mrs. Diamond Tuesday night, when she was out playing bridge with friends. She left the party, they said, a few minutes after midnight.

Mrs. Diamond, who occupied the apartment under the name of Alice Kenny, had lived alone there since last August. Her name seldom had been connected with her husband's gang activities. Diamond was more frequently accompanied in public by Marian (Kiki) Roberts, a showgirl.

Diamond was shot to death December 18, 1931, in an Albany hotel during the waning hours of a party celebrating his acquittal the night before on a kidnaping charge.

Police officials next day said they had information that Diamond was told he was "going" to get it" during the kidnap trial at Troy, N. Y.

Mrs. Diamond went to Albany, returned to New York with the body, arranged the funeral and then vanished again from the public eye.

Veteran Kills Self, Assailing President

Philadelphia, June 30 (A.P.).—Ending his life so his family might have "the miserable balance" of his soldiers' bonus money, Daniel W. thornton, an officer of the Khaki Shirts, left a letter to President Roosevelt criticizing the latter's attitude on the bonus question.

Thornton, a former United States Army captain, was found dead in a gas-filled hall bedroom last night, where police said he had been living with his wife and one child. A policeman who attempted to rescue him collapsed from the fumes and had to be revived at a hospital.

His "open letter" to the President stated that, although he wanted to live, suicide was "the only way I can provide for those dependent upon me, by making available to them the miserable balance due me on my adjusted compensation certificate." He added this amounts to about $275. Thornton was described by police as a major general of the Khaki Shirts.

Arsenal Fire Loss Is About $200,000

Frankfort, Ky., June 30 (A.P.).—Fire believed caused by spontaneous combustion today badly damaged the State arsenal and caused about $200,000 loss to the Federal Government. The building, valued at $25,000, was damaged to the extent of between $5,000 and $10,000, officials estimated. The State loss was covered by insurance. All occupants escaped.

The fire was under control after an hour of work by the Frankfort and the State Reformatory fire departments.

The loss to the Federal Government was in equipment stored for use by the Kentucky National Guard, and consisted largely of pistols and rifles.

Murray Gets Sales Tax Bill He Aims to Veto

Oklahoma City, June 30 (A.P.).—A general 1 per cent sales tax measure was sent to Gov. W. H. Murray in the face of his veto threats, when the Senate passed the bill by a vote of 32 to 6 late today.

It already has been approved by the House.

LINDBERGH SUSPECT IS JAILED IN CHICAGO

Former Convict to Be Turned Over to U. S. Agents in Kidnaping Case.

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Lee Turner, 34, a former convict whose record on file at police headquarters here bore a "stop" order with the notation from the Department of Justice, "Wanted in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping," was arrested today by two detectives.

Halted as he walked from a restaurant by Detectives Roy Van Herik and James Brennahan, one of whom said he recently saw Turner's picture in a magazine listed as one of those sought for the kidnaping in March, 1932, the prisoner at first gave the name of "Doc" Jennings.

After being taken to detective headquarters, he readily admitted he is Turner, officers said, but denied any knowledge of the kidnaping and slaying of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and refused to talk further.

Word of his arrest was telegraphed the Department of Justice at Washington, but police here said they did not know the reasons Turner was reported wanted in the case. Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker said Turner would be handed over to Federal authorities tomorrow.

Detective Bureau records revealed Turner served six years in Leavenworth Penitentiary for violation of postal laws; two years at Jefferson City, Mo., prison in connection with an automobile theft, and a two-year term at Boonville, Mo., for larceny.

Turner said he formerly lived in St. Louis, but had been staying at a Loop hotel the past three weeks.

New Jersey State police said they had no record of a Lee Turner wanted in connection with the Lindbergh abduction and slaying.

Gore at Puerto Rico For Inauguration

San Juan, P. R., June 30 (A.P.).—Puerto Rico's new governor, Robert H. Gore, Florida publisher, arrived here this afternoon after a flight from Miami with his family.

He will be inaugurated tomorrow, succeeding Gov. James R. Beverley, who will resume his private practice of law here. Gov. Gore and his party spent last night in Port au Prince, Haiti.

Roosevelt's Son Leaves For Europe Wednesday

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt jr., son of the President, will begin his vacation trip to Europe next Wednesday, sailing with two Groton schoolmates on the liner Washington.

Accompanying him will be George Whitney, jr., of Westbury, Long Island, and Drexel Paul, jr., of Philadelphia. Young Whitney is a grandson of the late Robert Bacon, once Ambassador to France.

DRAMA OF HIGH FINANCE BARED IN SENATE QUIZ

By Harold J. T. Horan.

Otto H. Kahn, dilettante in the fine arts and international banker in the grand manner, finished his testimony before the Senate Investigating Committee yesterday in a glow of reciprocal good feeling. Chairman Fletcher and Senators Barkley, Goldsborough and Townsend, the members of the subcommittee that has been listening to the testimony of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., really seemed sorry to see Mr. Kahn leave the stand, and Chairman Fletcher was so moved that he said:

"I hope, Mr. Kahn, you go to Florida and live to be 100."

Banker Cordial to Pecora.

Mr. Kahn, his counsel and the other members of his firm passed around the table and shook hands with all the members of the committee and even with the members of the staff of the Senate's counsel, Ferdinand H. Pecora.

The Wall street banker left the stand after describing one of the most dramatic struggles that have marked the growth of American industrial life. In the struggle the American investing public eventually lost more than $100,000,000 and the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. netted a profit of almost $10,000,000.

The titantic industrial conflict involved the banking house of J. P. Morgan and Kuhn, Loeb, as well as their respective antagonists in the lists, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Van Sweringen interests. The prize was the control of the lush agricultural and industrial region of the Middle West as it was tapped by the railway lines serving the region.

Lee Timorous Witness.

Morgan organized Allegheny Corporation for the Van Sweringens, and the Pennsylvania network, becoming alarmed, sought counsel from Kuhn, Loeb. The Pennroad Corporation, a holding company, was the result. The Pennroad Corporation was formed with an issuance of 10,000,000 voting trust certificates. The Kuhn, Loeb underwriting commission on the formation of the holding was slightly more than $5,000,000. In addition there was a profit in the purchase and disposal of a half-million block

5 Pennsylvanians Die in Big Storm

Philadelphia, June 30 (A.P.).—A severe wind and rainstorm tonight whipped Philadelphia and most of eastern and central Pennsylvania, causing the deaths of at least three persons, all Philadelphians. About a score more were injured or stunned by falling debris and lightning.

In rural Light street, 2 miles north of Bloomsburg, the storm reached near-hurricane force, leveling barns and outbuildings through an area about 100 feet wide and 2 miles long.

Carlisle, Pa., June 30 (A.P.).—Two men of the Civilian Conservation Corps were killed by lightning tonight and another was stunned, as they prepared their tent at a forest camp near Pinegrove Furnace against a coming storm. The dead men were Robert B. Armstrong, 20, and Herman Chuderwicz, 20, both of Pittsburgh.

Minister Balbo at Head of 100 Fascist Fliers on 6,100-Mile Cruise.

Orbetello, Italy (Saturday), July 1. Twenty-five powerful seaplanes roared away from Orbetello at 5:45 a. m. (11:45 p. m., Eastern standard time) today, carrying Air Minister Italo Balbo and 100 of his crack Fascist fliers on the first leg of a 6,100-mile cruise to Chicago.

Gen. Balbo and his group of three planes was first in the air. The remainder then took off in groups of three.

After leaving the lagoon here and gaining altitude, the planes dropped into formation in the air and swooped away to the northwest toward Amsterdam, their first objective.

Balbo was at the controls of the first plane to zoom off the smooth surface of the lagoon. With him as second pilot was Lieut. Col. Stefano Cagna, who served in the same capacity on Balbo's flight to South America in 1930.

Balbo's flagship was flanked by two other planes forming a triangular wedge, the one on the left commanded by Capt. Luigi Questa, and the other on the right, by Capt. Attilio Biseo.

Only an overnight stop is planned at Amsterdam. Tomorrow morning, if everything goes well, the squadron will continue to Londonderry, North Ireland—a distance of 650 miles.

Londonderry to Reyjavik, Iceland—930 miles.

Shediack to Montreal—500 miles.

Montreal to Chicago—870 miles.

Selling of Draft Beer Forbidden in Indiana

Indianapolis, June 30 (A.P.).—The Indiana Supreme Court today overruled a lower court decision in Lake County sanctioning the sale of draft beer.

It made permanent a writ of prohibition, the effect of which will permit State and county officials to arrest and prosecute persons selling the draft beverage. The Indiana beer law permits the sale of beer in bottles only.

Moley Advocates Plan For Banks to Prevent Currency Fluctuation

Plans to Board Ship Today for Return to Washington.

Campobello Island, N. B., June 30 (A.P.).—President Roosevelt is standing pat against immediate attempts by the London Economic Conference to stabilize currency until he is sure that the true levels of money of the various nations have been reached.

Unconcerned about the reported crisis in the London parley, Mr. Roosevelt is enjoying his vacation and waiting for the conference to get down to business on other things.

The President expects to leave for the return trip to Washington tomorrow aboard the cruiser Indianapolis. He visited this newest of America's fighting ships today and reports went out he was ready for a hasty departure for the Capital. It was explained later that the Chief Executive wished to utilize the cruiser's wireless equipment.

Issues No Ultimatums.

An authoritative analysis of the American viewpoint on the ruckus over currency stabilization at London revealed here today that Mr. Roosevelt doesn't think it concerns the internal economic situation and until governments which are running far behind their budgets fix up their own currencies the question can stew.

The conclusion drawn from this is that the few remaining gold standard nations, headed by France, are going to have to go off, put their currency to sea with the United States and Great Britain and let true levels be found.

However, Mr. Roosevelt is issuing no ultimatums. In fact, he said today, he had not been in touch with the struggling economic parley by direct appeal for three days.

Viewed as Bank Problem.

As Mr. Roosevelt sees it, the question of temporary stabilization of currency to prevent wide-spread fluctuations is a problem of banks and not of governments. So involved are the factors that he thinks it totally impossible for a conference to settle the issue within 48 hours or even a week.

The net result of the administration's position is believed to be that the European gold bloc which has been demanding stabilization is going to have to wait. In other words, a government running $500,000,000 behind in its budget is unlikely to remain on the gold standard.

Relaxing after his 12-day sail at sea at his boyhood summer home here today, Mr. Roosevelt slept late and then joined a beach party given by Mrs. Roosevelt to the newspapermen and naval officers who trailed the President into this quiet retreat just across the harbor from the United States.

Insull Is Rebuffed By Canadian Court

Toronto, Ontario, June 30 (A.P.).—An application on behalf of Martin J. Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, sought by Cook County authorities for extradition, for a commission to go to Chicago and gather evidence for the defense was refused today by Justice A. C. Kingstone. He had no authority under the extradition act to authorize such a commission, the justice said.

Martin Insull, brother of Samuel Insull, who is now living in Greece, has been at Orillia, Ontario, since last summer.

Both the Insulls are charged by Illinois authorities with larceny and embezzlement in connection with the collapse of Midwestern Utilities, Inc., of which they were the heads.

Towson Woman Freed in Slaying

Towson, Md., June 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Janice A. Mick was acquitted of the murder of her husband by a jury in Baltimore County Circuit Court here tonight.

The jury was out only 54 minutes when it returned with the simple verdict of "not guilty."

Mrs. Mick was charged with having fatally shot her husband, June 9, at their Darlington, Md., home. She confessed shooting him as she returned from a visit to the home of her mother in Lancaster, Pa., when, she said, he approached her threateningly.

Reichsbank Will Pay Foreign Loan Interest

Berlin, June 30 (U.P.).—Foreign investors in German issues received cheering word today when the Reichsbank announced modification of its transfer moratorium, scheduled to go into effect tomorrow.

Instead of halting payments of all interest on foreign loans for the next six months, the Reichsbank announcement said 50 per cent of these payments will be met during the period of the moratorium on transfer of gold abroad, to meet such services on debts.

The other 50 per cent is to be paid in marks into a conversion fund, to be administered here by the Reichsbank. Also, no interest or dividend payment transferred abroad under the new regulation can exceed 4 per cent of the capital involved.

If the whole dividend exceeds 8 per cent, then less than half will be transferred.

TEXTILE WAGES UP $2 A WEEK IN CODE

But Manufacturers Remain Firm Against Cutting Hours of Work.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

Confronted by labor, consumer and Government opposition to the provisions of its proposed industrial code, the cotton textile industry yesterday amended its schedule.

Proposed so-called minimum wages which had been fixed at $10 and $11 a week were advanced to $12 and $13.

Modification of the code was submitted to National Recovery Administrator Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, yesterday by George A. Sloan, head of the cotton textile institute, yesterday.

The increased minimum wage offer of the manufacturers was made after several long consultations following assault by labor on the code and a clear indication by Gen. Johnson that he wouldn't approve the minimum wage provisions as submitted.

The manufacturers stuck by their guns on the 40-hour week, however. Labor is trying to have this work week reduced. Manufacturers are determined that they will not agree to any lesser work week than 40 hours. Another argument arises

Nobleman to Wed Daughter of Astor

London, June 30 (A.P.).—Phyllis Nancy Astor, only daughter of Viscount and Viscountess Astor, is engaged to Lord Willoughby De Eresby, son of the Earl of Lancaster and heir to the title and estates. Viscountess Astor is the former Nancy Langhorne, of Virginia.

Phyllis inherits her mother's vivacious temperament and energy. She was a keen horsewoman until she was thrown and injured while hunting three years ago. She has been working for two years in the office of a real estate firm in London. Lord Willoughby De Eresby, a noted amateur steeplechase rider, also was thrown and injured two years ago.

Phyllis, as the daughter of the viscount, has the complementary title "the Honorable."

Slayer Hangs After Five Reprieves in California

San Quentin, Calif., June 30 (A.P.). After having been saved from the gallows five times by reprieves, Frank J. Paciga, slayer of Eugene Fuller, of Los Angeles, was hanged in prison here today. The trap was sprung at 10:04 a. m. He was pronounced dead 11 minutes later.

The last rites were administered to Paciga by the Rev. Father George O'Meara. The prisoner ate breakfast with apparent relish.

1,048 Face Indictments In Louisiana Vote Fraud

New Orleans, La., June 30 (U.P.).—Indictments charging fraud were drawn up today against every one of the 1,048 election commissioners who acted in the November 8 general election in New Orleans.

The bills were presented en masse to the Orleans Parish grand jury by James O'Conner, assistant attorney general.

Roosevelt's Approval Expected at Parley, Maybe Today.

London, June 30 (A.P.).—Raymond Moley, Assistant American Secretary of State, has recommended to President Roosevelt approval of a monetary formula under which central banks could use their resources to prevent extreme fluctuations in currencies, it was learned definitely late tonight.

Although no reply had been received when the Assistant Secretary retired after a busy day, the belief prevailed in some conference quarters that the President's approval would be forthcoming, probably tomorrow.

Emphasis was placed by American quarters on the following points:

It is in no sense of the word stabilization, but merely a permissive attitude to allow central banks to smooth out wild fluctuations while not interferring with the trend of the dollar.

Separate from Conference.

It has nothing to do with the governments, but concerns the central banks, in the case of the United States the Federal Reserve system.

It is wholly apart from the world economic conference although it has a direct bearing on its continuance, in the view that it was expected to satisfy the demands of the French, who have threatened to leave otherwise.

Central bank action to curb fluctuations was contemplated in general terms in the formula, drafted in a consultation between members of the gold bloc and the British; designed to buttress the position of countries still on gold.

Roosevelt Is Silent.

Statesmen of the world's great gold and nongold powers solemnly assembled at No. 10 Downing street twice today to sign a truce to end the monetary feud which is blocking the world economic conference, but each time announced they must await word from President Roosevelt.

The final gathering broke up at 11 p. m. (6 p. m. Eastern standard time), as Moley telephoned, saying he had been unable to establish contact with his chief for final approval of the text of an agreement to which the delegations of the United States, Great Britain, France, Holland, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy and Poland had tentatively agreed.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, president of the conference, who had been struggling for two days to break the impasse resulting from fears of the gold bloc concerning wild gyrations of the dollar, informed Moley he would hold himself in readiness throughout the night to receive any message which he would immediately communicate to the other delegations.

Georges Bonnet, French finance minister and head of that country's

Work Well Done, Flood Follows Dance for Rain

Albuquerque, N. Mex., June 30 (A. P.).—Who said there wasn't anything to this thing of dancing for rain?

Last week there were a few skeptics at the Isleta Indian Pueblo. They scoffed, but in a few minutes it rained so hard the skeptics couldn't see the dancers. The Indians must have overdone themselves, for flood waters from an arroyo covered about 1,000 acres of their land to a depth of several feet.

100,000 MEN TO FIND HIGHWAY WORK SOON

(Associated Press.)

The public works administration expects 100,000 men to be swinging picks and shovels on highways within six weeks.

The $400,000,000 highway fund becomes available to the States today. A statement from the administration last night said it had information that a number of States intended to push their plans and that many had already arranged to start the work when the money arrived.

Donald H. Sawyer, temporary administrator of public works, said he had been informed the work created by the highway building would be "more than doubled" by increased activities in the mining, manufacturing and transportation industries supplying materials for the highways.

Road Peak in September.

The Public Works Administration estimated 9,600,000 man-weeks of work would be created through the expenditure of the $400,000,000 and that thousands of unemployed soon would start moving from relief rolls to pay rolls.

Road building operations were expected to reach a peak by September, with the Public Works Administration moving as swiftly as possible to get other funds into construction channels and from its $3,300,000,000 total.

The board of Cabinet officers in charge will meet today to decide on a program of Federal projects estimated to cost approximately $400,000,000, on which work can be started immediately after President Roosevelt gives his approval.

Many Varied Projects.

Included are rivers and harbors projects, flood control, reclamation work, national park service roads and trails, Indian office construction and a varied list of other building by the 60 or 70 Federal agencies included in the program.

Meanwhile, public works officials continued the preparation of lists of nominees to be State administrators. They will be submitted to President Roosevelt on his return from his vacation.

Applications for State, city, county and other non-Federal projects under present plans of the board must be submitted through a State administrator for approval, with those approved sent on to Washington for final action.

Court Rejects Suit Against Dismissal

The Government's economy program, in so far as it relates to the dismissal of employes who are protected by the civil service, won an important legal battle yesterday when Justice James M. Proctor, in the District Supreme Court, dismissed a suit brought by Mrs. Pearl G. Stansbury, 380 Rhode Island avenue northeast, who had sought an injunction to prevent her ousting.

Justice Proctor ruled that Public Printer George H. Carter had acted within the scope of his authority in asking Mrs. Stansbury, whose husband is in the Naval Aviation Corps, to resign as of June 30.

Mrs. Stansbury, a machine operator at the Government Printing Office, asked for an injunction to prevent the Public Printer from forcing her to resign. She claimed his action was illegal. Through Assistant United States Attorney John W. Pihelly, the Government contended that Mrs. Stansbury's suit was, in effect, a suit against the Government, and as such was not entitled to consideration by the District Supreme Court.

TEXTILE WAGES UP $2 A WEEK IN CODE

over the so-called "stretch-out system," under which the employers would make up higher wages and shorter hours by giving each employe much more work to do. That question is under study and was not settled by the modifications proposed yesterday.

The cotton manufacturers are counting on several factors to get early approval of their present code. One of the most important of these is the desire of Gen. Johnson to get the textile code approved with expedition as an example to the rest of industry.

Several other industries have submitted codes, and some of the largest have codes in the last stages of preparation. Which will be taken up next has not been decided, Gen. Johnson said.

Submitting his industry's amendments to its code yesterday, Mr. Sloan said that efforts would be made to include "white collar" workers in the working hours and wage provisions. Although it submitted both hours and wages as maximums and minimums, they were not actually the high and low limits, because many workers were excluded from their provisions.

The offer of the manufacturers to increase wage limits was thought by many to have lessened labor's chances to get the working hours reduced. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had proposed a six-hour day and a five-day work week, a proposal the employers regarded with horror.

Dr. Alexander Sachs, chief of economists in the recovery administration, apparently has thrown the weight of his influence against labor's demand for shorter working hours. Dr. Sachs yesterday said that the industry's proposed wages would mean return to predepression levels of the purchasing power of the worker, allowing for a further 10 per cent increase in living costs.

Another of the controversial features still to be settled is the increase in machine capacity. Under the modifications submitted yesterday, the manufacturers propose to prohibit additional machinery except as replacement, or where it can be shown that the new machinery will not work hardship through undue increase in production capacity. The hours of machine use is involved in this question. Under the amended proposal the recovery administration would keep a continuing hand on the production lever of the industry.

Miss June Croll, representing the National Textile Workers Union, appeared before the administration yesterday, giving a fervid argument in favor of the workers.

HEAT WAVE SEARING U. S. AS DEATHS RISE

(Associated Press.)

Despite scattered rains, the sun seared most of the Nation again yesterday as it continued its siege of a week.

Storms broke the heat wave in a few sections, but other portions of the Nation sweltered and deaths from the heat mounted.

Kansas still was the Nation's oven. At Hill City is was 112, at Hays 111, at Emporia and Garden City 109, and Topeka had 105, the twelfth day that the thermometer stood above the century mark.

Lincoln, Nebr., reported a reading of 103 after a rain, the first of consequence since May 29. High winds flattened farm buildings and toppled trees near Scandia, Kans., and Burlington Junction, Mo. Temperatures in most of Missouri still stood near 100. St. Louis had a new high for the season, 101.

Omaha, Nebr., sweltered under a hot wind, but Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin basked in temperatures that neared the comfort mark.

Storms cooled portions of northern Indiana and one woman was killed by lightning. It was 97 degrees at Indianapolis. Chicago had one heat death and downstate Illinois reported high mark—101 at Springfield, the highest of the year, and 104 at Mattoon.

A violent wind and rain storm cooled southeastern Ohio. Detroit reported two heat deaths and temperatures near 90. Thunderstorms brought slight relief from the heat wave in western Pennsylvania, but Pittsburgh reported one dead from heat. Two persons were killed in the State by lightning.

New York saw partly overcast skies and had a forecast of continued warm. It was sultry at Atlantic City. Cumberland, Md., had a reading of 98 and it was 90 at Baltimore.

John Grayson, Indicted, Is Reported Near Death

Charlottesville, Va., June 30 (A.P.). Reports from Washington that John Cooke Grayson, brother of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., retired, under indictment in connection with a shortage of $1,700,000 in the accounts of the Park Savings Bank there, was near death at his home near Charlottesville, could not be verified today.

3 Trucks Collide; One Killed, 4 Hurt

One man whose identity has not been established was killed and four others were injured yesterday in a triple truck collision on the Crain highway, north of Upper Marlboro. The dead man, about 45 years old, was riding on one of the trucks. The driver said the man hailed him near Glenburnie.

Those most severely injured were Lorrenel Hogge, 22, concussion of the brain and possible skull fracture; James Johnson, 22, colored, leg injuries, and Frank Harris, 30, cuts and bruises. They were treated at Casualty Hospital. All are from Gloucester Point, Va. The fourth man, whose name was not learned, was taken to the Prince Frederick Hospital. He was only slightly injured.

The three truck drivers, Milton J. Harris and E. A. Ward, of Gloucester Point, Va., and Isaiah Gray, colored, of Calvert County, Md., were all held by Prince Georges County police pending an inquest July 7.

Mrs. J. T. Russell Sues for Divorce

Monthly maintenance of $1,000 is asked by Mrs. Russell for herself, and $250 monthly for support of three minor sons, James, Charles and Anthony. She asked custody of Anthony, 20 months old, until the age of 5, and suggested dividing the custody of James, 11, and Charles, 7, with her husband for six months of each year.

The son of the late J. Townsend Russell, canon of Washington Cathedral. Mr. Russell is wealthy and has devoted his time to archeology, having made excavations in France and other countries. He was married in New York, March, 1921. Mrs. Russell established residence in Las Vegas six weeks ago. She is reported to be living at a fashionable hotel, and is frequently seen at Las Vegas night clubs.

Turtle Wins

Baltimoreans Hail Aesop as Tortoise Beats Hare in Annual Race.

Baltimore, June 30 (A.P.).—The newspapers today were hailing as a contribution to scientific research the corroboration given Aesop at Johns Hopkins Hospital yesterday.

Following the annual turtle race on the hospital grounds, the winner, Panic 2d, was pitted against a hare, described as being from the Whitney Stables.

True to the Aesop fable, the tortoise plugged along and, accompanied by shouts from the gathered throng, crossed the finish line well ahead of the erratic rabbit.

Panic won the right to race in this feature event by defeating Fragments, from the Orthopedics Stable, and Blessed Event, a last-minute entry, from the Obstetrics paddock. Fragments appeared to have the race in the bag, but as photographers rushed to the side lines to snap his picture, he stopped to pose, permitting Panic to win.

Forestry Workers Rob Virginia Store

Harrisonburg, Va., June 30 (A.P.). More than $150 worth of merchandise was taken from the John Irvin store at Columbia Furnace in western Shenandoah County late this afternoon by a group of members of the Civilian Conservation Corps stationed at Camp Wolfe in the foothills of the nearby Shenandoah Mountains.

The men, approximately 75 in number, were on furlough from the camp and were said to be on their way to Richmond, Roanoke and other points to spend the Fourth of July holiday.

One of the trucks in which the forestry soldiers were traveling broke down at Columbia Furnace. While it was being repaired the men went into the store and were said to have helped themselves to anything they wanted. Sheriff Seetz of Shenandoah County and his deputies arrived too late, as the truck repair was completed and the men had departed.

Bingham's Aid Denies Envoy Is Seriously Ill

London, June 30 (A.P.).—A report published in London today that United States Ambassador Bingham was dangerously ill drew forth an emphatic denial from the embassy. Mr. Bingham, it was stated, is recovering from a latent infection which tends to send his temperature up when he exerts himself.

An official in the American Embassy said that "Mr. Bingham is not seriously ill, but we want to keep him quiet because when he moves about too much his temperature rises." The official added that the ambassador is quite able to carry on his ambassadorial duties.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "he will be attending a Fourth of July reception. His health is in no grave danger at all."

Fancy Free

(Associated Press.)

Carrying a passport to "everywhere," Senator McAdoo, of California, made known last night that he is planning a long-distance vacation trip, and that the summer's end may find him "somewhere in Europe or somewhere in Asia."

The former Democratic Treasury Secretary and one-time aspirant for the presidential nomination said with a smile that he couldn't be too specific now about just where he would go.

"I haven't decided yet myself," said McAdoo, "so I have armed myself with a passport that will take me anywhere and everywhere."

The Californian intended to step into his plane, The Blue Streak, at the airport here at 5 a. m. today, and, provided flying conditions are right, he hopes to sit down to lunch in Los Angeles tomorrow.

McAdoo told of his vacation hopes when asked about published reports that he was planning a "mysterious" trip to China and the Philippines, provided he got "the word to go," the Californian said there was nothing "mysterious" about his intended journey, and that he had obtained an unusual passport only because he didn't know where he would go or when he would get a chance to start.

STABLE CASH URGED IN ROBINSON'S TALK

Rotarian Convention Is Told Slump Will Gain Should London Parley Fail.

Boston, June 30 (A.P.).—United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, today warned that should the London conference end in failure, "the economic war now being waged will become fiercer and more disastrous."

"International commerce likely will continue to diminish and the depression may be prolonged indefinitely," the senator warned in a speech before the convention of the Rotary International.

"Conflicts of national interest can not be completely reconciled, but they may be so far harmonized that fair tariff and currency arrangements may be negotiated — arrangements calculated and designed to present economic war and revive business among nations.

"Given the cooperation and support of public opinion which the importance of its undertaking warrants, the results of the conference still may not be entirely satisfactory and reassuring. Denied that cooperation, hopeless failure seems inevitable."

Speaking of the spread of Socialism and Communism, the senator saw the preventative for its increase not in "the suppression of free speech," but "in the repeal of laws and in the overthrow of systems which deny equality of opportunity to citizens or subjects."

The Arkansas senator looked for "stabilization of tariffs on a basis of mutual interest and good will, with fair regard to comparative prevailing production costs and living conditions in contracting countries.

He made a plea for the stabilization of currency.

Shoals Transfer To Occur Today

(United Press.)

The Tennessee Valley Authority today formally will take over control of the Muscle Shoals property from the War Department.

Eighty persons employed on the property will be transferred to the authority's pay roll.

In a statement last night the Tennessee Valley Authority said it could not formulate any policies for the development of the Tennessee River Valley until it obtains all the details of State and national legislation relative to the project. Preliminary studies in the power field, it was said, may require six months.

ROOSEVELT SILENCE TIES UP CONFERENCE

delegation, stalked from the meeting, scowling, to take a train for Paris. He will face his cabinet in the morning, perhaps empty handed. This determined leader of the gold bloc had been particularly anxious for a reassuring development inasmuch as the French treasury wants to announce a new short-term loan Monday.

The first meeting was convened at 6 p. m., when the powers were ready to initial an agreement, but Moley then arrived to say the essential word from Roosevelt was lacking.

Proposal Is Redrafted.

This followed a day of feverish negotiations in which the Assistant Secretary received various representatives of the gold bloc at the American Embassy while routine committee meetings of the parley were neglected.

The American and other delegations had been hopeful of an agreement since last night, when Cordell Hull, Secretary of State and head of the United States group, and Moley addressed an appeal to President Roosevelt. It was learned during the day, however, that last night's suggestions were only partially approved by the President, necessitating a new draft which would not in any sense commit the United States to stabilization.

In the meantime, the gold bloc group was considerably intrigued by a press report from Campobello Island, where the President is on vacation, that Mr. Roosevelt regarded the ironing out of undue dollar fluctuations a matter for the central banks rather than the governments, and an indication in American quarters that the Federal Reserve System might start such action unannounced.

The dollar was watched closely for indications that control had started, and, while it continued to fluctuate somewhat, there was no repetition of the gyrations of the previous two days.

KAHN BARES DRAMA OF HIGH FINANCING

Describes Banking Struggle in Which Public Lost $100,000,000.

of stock of the company of almost as much again.

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Pecora was hammering away at a timorous witness, Henry H. Lee, president of the Pennroad, who was unable to recall details of the financial activities of his corporation and in particular details of the purchase of certain railways properties from Frank E. Taplin, a Cleveland industrialist, who was the object of a Senate subpena dispatched last night. Mr. Taplin will be heard when the committee meets again next Wednesday, and at that time the details of the purchase of railways properties for account of the Pennroad Co. will be thoroughly explored by Mr. Pecora.

The profitable participation of Kuhn, Loeb in the Pennroad operation was a great surprise to Mr. Kahn.

"We really were surprised. The profits came solely through the action of the market. People were buying securities at wholly unreasonable prices."

Mr. Pecora refused to become affected by Mr. Kahn's ingenuousness. He rasped:

"Had your firm ever gone short in this stock?"

"We had traded in the stock and sold portions of the first 125,000 shares against the option," was the reply.

The Kuhn, Loeb option was against four blocks of shares of 125,000 each which the bankers were entitled to buy at 16, 17, 18 and 19. The price at which the stocks were eventually liquidated on the market were $28.75 and $29.75. The same stock is now selling at about 84 per share.

Prominent Men Favored.

Other privileged persons were enabled to buy the Pennroad stock at $18 and the list was made public and acknowledged by the bankers yesterday. Some of the prominent financiers included in that list were:

Eugene Grace, 1,200 shares; Morgan's Philadelphia affiliate, Drexel & Co., 6,000 shares; John T. Dorrance, of the Campbell Soup Co., 6,000 shares.

Pecora jumped from one phase of the Kuhn, Loeb activities to another and put in evidence several exhibits, which revealed the extent of the firm's participation in foreign financing, loans made by the private bank to directors of banks or corporations, the balance sheet of the bank for the year ended December 31, 1932, and an aggregating balance sheet of the total amount of financing of the Wall street firm in the five years from 1927 to 1931, inclusive.

The members of the committee listened attentively while Mr. Kahn outlined his recommendations for future banking legislation, as affecting private bankers.

Pools Called Dangerous.

"I've got to lean over backward when I talk about that because that affects me in my business."

The financial catechism as offered by Mr. Pecora and Mr. Kahn ran as follows:

"Are pools dangerous?"

"Yes."

"Should they be regulated?"

"They should be restrained, but after all the best kind of restraint is self-regulation and then, of course, there is always the fear of the Government that is in the offing. That is the policeman around the corner."

"What do you think of short selling?"

"That all depends on the motive. If it is merely to raid the market, then it is even more reprehensible than to boost prices."

Mr. Kahn explained the role of the private banker as follows:

"The only justification that exists for the private banker is whatever service he can render in accordance with his experience and in the preservation of an almost family spirit of relationship between the banker and the industry. If the private banker renders better service than the vice president of a bank, let him go ahead and the force of public opinion will see to it that he does not garner any exorbitant profits."

Chairman Fletcher asked if the organization of the Pennroad Co. had been designed to circumvent the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has authority over railroads, but none over railroad holding companies.

"You may be entirely right in those motives, but I don't know whether these motives existed," Kahn said.

Firm's Assets Shrink.

The balance sheet of Kuhn, Loeb for 1932 showed a remarkable shrinkage in assets over the preceding accounting made public two days ago for other years. The total amount of cash on hand for example was $3,600,966.62 and a drop from $67,000,000 to $34,000,000 in total assets was revealed. The total profits from stock and bond issues handled by the private bank over the five-year-period from 1927 to 1931 were almost $17,000,000, the same accounting showed.

The detailed operations of the Pennroad Co. and its relations with other railroad companies occupied the rest of the afternoon after Mr. Kahn had left the stand. President Lee of the Pennroad was under questioning, but was unable to remember with sufficient exactness the points of several operations affecting the purchase of railroad securities by the Pennroad Co. over the past three or four years. In particular Mr. Pecora was persistent in inquiring about the acquisition of shares of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railroad and the Canton Co. for a price considerably in excess of the market.

Mr. Lee explained this price by stating that the increased price had been paid because the appreciation price would have followed the buying move in the market in any event.

Rain Delays Start Of Great Air Race

New York (Saturday), July 1 (A.P.). Reports of rain over the eastern mountain area delayed the start of the $12,500 transcontinental air race to Los Angeles early today.

Amelia Earhart Putnam, who planned to be first in the air, decided shortly after midnight to postpone her take-off until after conferring at 3 a. m. (Eastern standard time) with the five men entrants.

The conference was to decide the take-off time of the $10,000 race for men. The five entrants are Col. Roscoe Turner, Russell Thaw, Lee Gehlbach, Russell Boardman and J. B. Wedell.

FEDERAL NEW YEAR FINDS 4,000 OUSTED

More in Field Service Lose Positions; Labor Leader Protests Bitterly.

By Robert C. Albright.

Washington's wheels of government early today creaked into a new fiscal year, minus nearly 4,000 of the willing hands that formerly urged them forward.

Hundreds in the Capital drew their last pay check from Uncle Sam, and thousands in field outposts everywhere swelled a huge unemployed army that eventually must look again to Washington for relief.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, was quick to point out the paradox of the situation in a statement bitterly protesting this turn in the Nation's battle to put the people to work.

Plea for Humane Policy.

"For humane, as well as economic, reasons the policy of Government dismissals of Federal employes ought to be immediately abandoned," he said.

The number of Washington dismissals could only be roughly estimated on the basis of incomplete reports from bureaus and departments. The total for the country at large appeared likely to reach five times the Washington total.

Several of the largest departments admitted the full extent of their personnel reductions can not be calculated until later in the month. Among these were the Agricultural Department, where it was said "several hundred" must go; the Interior Department, which may release nearly as many, and the Commerce Department, which concedes that the 100 dropped from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the 200 married workers let out and the 100 30-year retirements, are only part of its curtailment program.

Release of Married Workers.

A few departments apparently rigorously observed a "no dismissal" policy, although even here 30-year retirements and release of married workers will take up some of the slack.

In this last category probably will come the Postoffice Department, now busy formulating a furlough program of departmental employes; the Labor Department, which yesterday released three married workers and one 30-year employe, and the War Department, which hopes furloughs will stave off dismissals.

"In the permanent force of the department, very few dismissals will be made," Secretary of War Dern announced. "A number of clerks employed on temporary duty will have to be discharged. The savings necessary to be made in the departmental service will be effected by payless furloughs."

Many to Be Taken Back.

A number of Federal agencies were looking to the Government's emergency public works fund for aid, not only with a view to retaining employes now on the rolls, but with an eye to taking back some of those already released.

In this class was the Bureau of Standards, which hopes to reemploy 200 of the 380 indefinitely furloughed, to test building materials under the recovery program; the Navy Department, which can call back 85 to the Washington Navy Yard and hundreds more throughout the country when ship construction funds are released; and the War Department, which is imposing a four-day week in its Ordnance Service.

"Earnest efforts are being made to secure funds made available by the national industrial recovery act, and if we are successful it will be possible to retain the major portion of the employes in our arsenals," Secretary Dern said.

Civil Service Furloughs.

The Civil Service Commission yesterday announced it will be able to meet reduced figures through retirement of 10 30-year employes and temporary retirement of 12 others, coupled with the indefinite furlough of 40 employes whose husbands or wives are employed elsewhere in the Federal service. In addition, all surviving employes will be furloughed.

The Bureau of Prohibition, which early in the week announced 1,300 would be dismissed throughout the country, yesterday published the names of those dropped. Washington dismissals, ranging from clerks and typists to attorneys and investigators, numbered 118.

The Geological Survey made ready to retire ten employes, many of them widely celebrated geologists, and to dismiss approximately 140 others from mostly minor positions.

The White House will be able to operate within its $369,000 appropriation without dismissals, compulsory retirements or furloughs, it was learned.

Recovery Act Is Cited.

The inconsistency of the Federal dismissal program in the face of the Recovery Administration's drive to put millions to work was pointed out last night by President Green.

"Through the industrial recovery act, the Federal Government is endeavoring to strike at the vital spot of unemployment," he said.

"It is seeking through the application and operation of the industrial recovery law to reduce the hours of work in private industry so that the slack of unemployment may be taken up and to increase wages so that the buying power of the masses may be greatly increased.

"On the other hand, the Federal Government is increasing unemployment by diminishing Government workers by the thousands, and reducing the buying power through reductions in wages and salaries, and dismissals and furlough. Here is presented a truly paradoxical situation.

Largest Employer of Labor.

"Consistency would require that the Government, which, after all, is the largest employer of labor, should conform to the spirit as well as the law of the industrial recovery act. It ought to lead in reducing hours for its employes, in creating work opportunities and in raising wages. It ought to set an example for workers in private industry."

Yesterday's dismissals, furloughs and retirements, officials "explain," were ordered in line with administration plans to save about $846,000,000 through departmental retrenchment and reorganization of bureaus. The fiscal year closed on a deficit of more than $1,750,000,000, the second largest on record in peace time.

POWER OF WALLACE OVER FOOD DEFINED

President Issues Executive Order to Avoid Tangle on Recovery Act.

(Associated Press.)

To clarify the relationship between the National Recovery Administration and the Farm Administration, President Roosevelt yesterday delegated to Secretary Wallace all the powers contained in the industrial recovery act relating to the handling of milk, tobacco and all foods and foodstuffs except those provisions relating to hours of labor, rates of pay and other conditions of employment.

The move—made in an Executive order—was intended to avoid difficulties which have arisen through certain industries handling foodstuffs applying to both the organization headed by Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, and George N. Peek, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act.

In a joint statement, Johnson and Peek said the Executive order would facilitate the closest cooperation between the two administrations.

To assure uniformity, the provisions of the recovery act relating to fair competition codes will be applicable to all industries, including those covered by the agricultural adjustment act.

Murderer Sentenced to 20 Years.

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat yesterday sentenced Charles E. Hendricks, colored, to 20 years in the penitentiary for slaying Thomas Blackwell, also colored. Assistant United States Attorney John J. Sirica prosecuted the case.

U.S. IS HOLDING FAST AGAINST STABILIZING

European Proposals Fail to Shake Belief Present Is No Time to Change.

(Associated Press.)

Administration officials carefully evaluated European currency stabilization proposals last night, but made it clear that America was holding firmly to her position that such action at the present time is undesirable.

As dispatches flowed in from London, however, there was a careful avoidance of comment as to whether some change of attitude was imminent.

Messages from the delegates at London were promptly forwarded to President Roosevelt and to Secretary Woodin, who is convalescing from a recent illness at his home in New York. There he conferred yesterday with important figures on the developing situation.

President Roosevelt's objection to stabilization now is based upon a belief that it would tend to hinder the continued rise in domestic commodity prices, which is one of the objectives of his domestic recovery legislation.

Since his objection to immediate stabilization was first announced, the price rise has continued, with an accompanying decline in the foreign exchange value of the dollar and recent sharp fluctuation in the latter.

The office of Acting Secretary Phillips at the State Department has become a clearing house for a constant succession of messages between Secretary Hull and officials in the United States.

Two Police Officers Moved To Tears on Adieu to Force

After many years of police duty which is supposed to take all the tenderness out of a man, Charles Mullens, veteran detective sergeant, and Robert A. Sanders, narcotic chief, were moved to tears last night when presented with 12-gauge shotguns by fellow officers at a farewell ceremony held on the eve of their retirement from the Metropolitan Police Department.

Mullens and Sanders have a combined service of 71 years. Mullens entered the service in 1896 and Sanders three years later. Both were promoted to the headquarters force in 1907.

Both officers were forced into retirement when they failed to pass the annual physical examinations required for the continuance of service. The good wishes of the headquarters force were extended to the retiring officers by Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of detectives.

Sanders, familiarly known as "Doc," admitted he had no plans for the future. Mullins, however is said by his colleagues to have ability at wood carving, hence they expect him to spend considerable time "whittling."

Coed Takes Bat To Chase Burglar

Evanston, Ill., June 30 (A.P.).—Virginia Michaud, 20-year-old Northwestern University coed, knows what to do when burglars call at her home.

One started climbing through a window of her bedroom today. Clad only in pajamas, Virginia leaped from the bed, grabbed her brother's baseball bat, and galloped out the back door. She descended on the prowler, still busy at a catch on the window. He saw the waving bat and ran. So did Virginia.

For two blocks she chased him through puddles of muddy water and across lawns. She might have caught him, too, if cinders and pebbles hadn't made her bare feet sore.

NEW PARTY NEEDED, W. C. T. U. HEAD SAYS

Moral Politics Is Necessary, Mrs. Boole Declares as Convention Opens.

Milwaukee, June 30 (A.P.).—Charging that both the Democratic and Republican parties had betrayed their constituencies, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, today opened the organization's fifty-ninth annual convention with a plea for a new political party.

"We need a new party of moral ideals, a party that stands for the policy of prohibition and its administration by its friends, Mrs. Boole declared.

She assailed President Roosevelt and his administration for the legalization of beer and support of submission of a repeal amendment to State conventions.

Drys' Fighting Chance.

The W. C. T. U. will fight repeal every step of the way, Mrs. Boole asserted amid applause by the delegates. The drys have a fighting chance to keep 20 States from ratifying repeal, she said, stressing the importance of waging an aggressive campaign to get out the entire dry vote in every State.

Mrs. Boole declared that the increased use and effectiveness of advertising would result in great increase in the sale of liquor in case prohibition is repealed. The technique of advertising has been greatly improved, she said.

The women's dry meeting will continue until Wednesday. Members are making plans for one of the most critical fights in their history.

Government "Bribe" Charged.

Mrs. Margaret C. Munn, Evanston, Ill., national treasurer, charged the Government with attempting to bribe the people to legalize the liquor traffic.

"The year 1933 will long be remembered for the frantic efforts of the administration to halt the depression by legislative means, to balance the budget and to persuade the people that legislation of beer would bring prosperity," she said. "In years to come there will be a sharp reaction and the public will wonder how it could have been so deceived."

Whiting Williams, of Cleveland, Ohio, sociologist and investigator, said prohibition has helped to save America from rioting and bloodshed during the depression.

Two-Cent Local Postage Rate Is Effective Today

(United Press.)

Local delivery mail needs only a 2-cent stamp beginning today. The 3-cent rate still will apply on out-of-town deliveries.

The Postoffice Department hopes the restoration of the old 2-cent rate will bring back an enormous amount of business lost when the flat 3-cent rate went into effect.

Greek Societies Honor MacVeagh

A genial toast of support and good will was offered Lincoln MacVeagh, United States Minister to Greece, by local Greek societies with a banquet at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel last night.

The Minister of Greece, Charalambos Simopoulos, greeted the recently appointed minister and praised his knowledge of the country and its history. Senator William H. King, chairman of the House District Committee, referred to the bonds of friendship between the two countries.

Achilles Catsonis, supreme secretary of the Order of Ahepa, extended the good wishes of Ahepa to Minister MacVeagh. Senator William J. Bulow, of South Dakota, and Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, greeted the gathering. George Vornas local attorney, was toastmaster.

Milk Code Parleys Set in California

Farm administrators yesterday ordered a public hearing at Los Angeles July 10 to consider a milk marketing agreement covering the Los Angeles milk shed, submitted by producing and distributing groups there.

They also ordered a hearing July 11 at Los Angeles to consider another agreement covering San Diego. Later hearings will be held, probably at Berkeley, on agreements covering San Francisco and Oakland.

The Los Angeles agreement was submitted by the Producers Arbitration Committee, Inc., and the Southern California Milk Dealers Association. It deals with prices and competitive practices and centers about the aim to increase the return to producers.

Sugar Quota Plan Adopted at Parley

(Associated Press.)

Definite agreement to stabilize sugar prices at higher levels through a quota system was reached yesterday by leaders of the industry.

Obstacles in the way of an accord were surmounted at a series of meetings of a subcommittee which reported its progress to a full steering committee. The group was instructed to proceed at once with the drafting of a concrete plan.

The steering committee, upon which sat representatives of domestic growers and refiners, as well as those from the Philippines, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, was named at a conference of key men in the sugar industry held Tuesday under the auspices of the agricultural adjustment administration.

Quota figures now are being prepared by the subcommittee, which has been divided into two groups for this purpose.

LUTHERANS APPROVE BUDGET OF $80,000

Board of Education to Make Survey of Proposals for Seminary Mergers.

The board of education of the United Lutheran Church of America will spend $80,000 during the ensuing fiscal year, according to the budget adopted yesterday at the concluding session of the meeting at the Burlington Hotel.

The figure, the same as last year, represents a reduction of $20,000 from the previous year's expenditures.

Adoption of the budget followed a conference on the proposed merger of a number of Lutheran seminaries throughout the country. Under the leadership of Gould Wickey, former president of Carthage (Ill.) College and one time pastor of the Georgetown Lutheran Church, the board will conduct a general survey of the proposed mergers.

The board announced grants of funds to students "in some 25 university centers, including the New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago areas and such centers as Pennsylvania State College, Purdue University, University of California, University of Wisconsin, University of Iowa, University of Nebraska, University of West Virginia, University of Washington and University of Illinois."

Grants were also made to Roanoke College and Marion Junior College in Virginia, Lenore-Rhyne College, in North Carolina; Newberry College, in South Carolina; Susquehanna University and Thiel College, in Pennsylvania; Wagner and Hartwick Colleges, in New York; Carthage College, in Illinois; Midland College, in Nebraska, and Waterloo College, in Ontario, Canada.

Seminaries receiving grants were Saskatoon Seminary, Saskatoon, Canada; Martin Luther and Western Seminaries, in Nebraska; Chicago Seminary, in Illinois, and Southern Seminary, in South Carolina.

Roads May Return To Private Finance

(United Press.)

Plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad to repay $9,500,000 on a $27,500,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are considered here as forecasting the return of carriers to private financing.

After being advised that the Pennsylvania Railroad had paid $5,000,000 yesterday to the New York Federal Reserve Bank and would make an additional payment of $4,500,000 next Wednesday, directors of the Finance Corporation said:

Records of the corporation show that up to date total loans of $372,778,401.50 have been made to the carriers. Of this amount $20,544,050.31 has been repaid. This does not include the payment yesterday of the Pennsylvania road.

Additions to Staff Of Johnson Bared

(United Press.)

Prof. Alonzo Taylor, director of the Food Research Institute at Stanford University, and Lucius R. Eastman, New York, president, Hills Bros. Co., president, American Arbitration Association and American representative on the economics committee of the League of Nations, as members of the consumers advisory committee.

Five Virginians Named To Postmasterships

Noted Former Mayor Dies in San Francisco

San Francisco, June 30 (A.P.).—P. H. McCarthy, 70, former mayor of San Francisco and widely known labor figure, died of a heart attack today.

As president of the Building Trades Council, which he organized here in 1894, he wielded a strong influence in San Francisco labor affairs. He moved to Boston in 1927, but returned after a short period.

Dr. Shailer Mathews Retires.

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Shailer Mathews, 70, retired today as dean of the University of Chicago Divinity School after 39 years on the faculty. He was succeeded by Prof. Shirley Jackson Case.

By Robert F. Whitney.

From the corners of the Nation they have come, these men, these "Marshals of Roosevelt," to take up their task of whipping and cajoling the country back to prosperity.

To inflate currency, increase prices, hire men, control the farmer's planting, guarantee the worker's wages, make work and to control business are some of their tasks.

Already the Nation has felt the sting of their lash and responded; already it has listened to their appeal and responded.

Who are these "giants" in whose hands the President has given over the greatest conflict ever waged against a common enemy? Who are these men, some of whom have more power than many Presidents have exercised?

Not least among them is Robert Fechner, machinist, labor leader, and now director of the emergency conservation work—leader of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Last night at his room at the Burlington Hotel, he was a hot, tired and proud medium-sized man of middle age with sandy hair and blue eyes.

He was resting from a task which began on April 5. Since that time he has worked a herculean stint. Today, according to the President's plans, there were to be 250,000 young men in forest camps.

Today, according to Mr. Fechner, there will be that number of young men at the camps, working on 1,400 projects—a quarter of a million persons taken into employment.

"In the time," he said, "we have enlisted, examined, conditioned, trained, equipped and transported 250,000 men. In 1917, from April 6 to July 1, 181,000 soldiers were armed and trained for the World War. We have enlisted more men than were under arms in the entire Spanish-American War."

His home is in Boston, where, until he answered the President's call, he was northeastern district representative of the International Association of Machinists.

He has been connected with the machinists' group since 1912, and before that he was a journeyman machinist, working through the South, Mexico, Central and South America. In Panama he worked for the De Lessups Co., which began construction of the Panama Canal.

He was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1876. Savannah, Ga., he calls his home. It was there that he received his education which ended with grade school.

"My work? The reforestation project? I think it is the finest idea of the President's recovery plans. I have had 20 years of similar work with the machinists' association."

Long, hard hours have been the order at Mr. Fechner's office, but now that the enrollment and establishment of the camps are over he hopes to be able to visit them.

His visitors form a day-long continual procession, he said. Sometimes the problem is State officials and politicians wrangling over the location of work problems. Once, he said, there was a request that he recommend a visitor for an ambassadorship.

Mr. Fechner met President Roosevelt during the World War, when he was Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Fechner was in charge of the machinist's union offices here.

Flood Check

Rock Creek Is as Carefully Measured Constantly as Great Streams.

Flood reports from Rock Creek will probably never reach the importance they hold in the Mississippi Valley, but the rising water in the creek is measured as carefully as the level of the Father of Waters at Cairo, Ill., through apparatus installed by the Geological Survey.

And high and low water records for last year were set on succeeding days, the report issued yesterday by the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks shows. Low water at the Q street station was 1.79 feet on September 4, while the next day the maximum of 10.68 feet was reached. This is charged to the cloudburst last Labor Day, which flooded streets throughout the city.

The maximum flow of water at Q street was 842 cubic feet per second, with an average of 38.6 and a minimum of 2.3 cubic feet. The average at the Sherrill drive measuring station was 28 cubic feet. Rock Creek at Q street drains 75.8 square miles, while at Sherrill drive it carries off water from 62.2 square miles.

Officials point out that the exceedingly low minima set during droughts emphasize the necessity for preserving the natural sources of water which guard the creek against stagnation and insanitry conditions. They also point out that floods which cause the creek to overflow its banks do little damage, while use of the creek as a storm sewer has saved the city's taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars.

SUIT IS CHALLENGED BY WILLIAM MELLON

Four Other Aids of Gulf Oil Also Question Authority in Tax Case Action.

Pittsburgh, June 30 (A.P.).—Answering charges that they evaded income tax payments, William L. Mellon and four other officials of the Gulf Oil Corporation today contended the plaintiffs had no authority to bring the suits.

In affidavits of defense, filed in Federal Court, the five oil magnates asserted there are no Federal statutes under which David A. Olson, of Washington, and Albert R. Knight, of Lansdowne, Pa., the plaintiffs could file an income tax action, either for the Government or in their own behalf.

Mr. Olson, former special counsel for the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, and Mr. Knight, a one-time Philadelphia district manager for the Gulf Corporation, are seeking to recover nearly $8,000,000, double the amount of income taxes they say Mr. Mellon and the four others failed to pay. Mr. Mellon is a nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury. The other defendants are George S. Davison, W. J. Guthrie F. A. Leovy and H. L. Stone.

The plaintiffs assert the five failed to include in their returns as taxable income the value of Gulf shares given them, the suits charged, in return for services.

14,400 Indians Put On Forestry Work

The Indian is taking full advantage of the new deal afforded through forestry work, it was announced yesterday by the Civilian Conservation Corps. The entire roster of 14,400 Indians will be at work by the end of the next week.

The total number of Indians to be benefited is about 25,000, because of a staggered scheme worked out by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Under this plan many Indians work in the forests on alternate weeks, spending the rest of the time on their own farms.

Work is being done in all the 53 reservations. Catch dams to provide water for grazing on thousands of acres; roads, fire trails and fire-lookout telephone lines will be built by the Indians. Wind and rain erosion problems are being attacked. Camp sites are being inspected by the Public Health Service, although many Indians will continue to live in their own homes nearby.

Thousands Honor Pontiff at Mass

Rome, June 30 (A.P.).—Holy year pilgrims numbering many thousands renewed their homage today to the most illustrious of their number, Pope Pius XI, as the pontiff emerged from the Vatican and attended a brilliant high mass at the Basilica of St. Paul, outside the walls.

It was the third appearance of Pius in famous cathedrals of Rome following his avowed intention of visiting these basilicas during the holy year to obtain eventual plenary indulgence.

Hundreds of especially invited persons, including many American seminary students and lay pilgrims, and thousands of devout Roman citizens flocked to the basilica early this morning. Among them were Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany; Archbishop MacNicholas, of Cincinnati, and Bishops Vehr, of Denver, and Walsh, of Maryknoll, N. Y.

$3,735,000 Ready For River Work

(Associated Press.)

Rivers and harbors allotments for urgent maintenance work totaling $3,735,000 were approved yesterday by the War Department.

The sums included $425,000 to cover a change in plans for the construction of a lock on the Tennessee River at the site of the future Gen. Joe Wheeler Dam and $55,000 for surveys on the upper Mississippi 9-foot channel.

The total was divided into small sums for work on various projects already authorized and in operation and for maintenance work of an urgent nature, such as the removal of obstacles to navigation. The largest sum was an allotment of $515,160 for such work in the Columbia and lower Willamette Rivers below Vancouver and Portland.

VETERAN ARRESTED IN ROBERTS KILLING

Man Admits He Originally Intended to Bomb Representative Harlan.

Dayton, Ohio, June 30 (A.P.).—The murder of a Government official and a plot to kill a member of Congress were attributed by police today to a disgruntled Spanish-American War veteran, who was cut off the pension and disability rolls of the Veterans' Bureau three weeks ago.

The veteran, James D. Shadbolt, 53, was charged with murder growing out of the fatal shooting last night of Col. Vernon Roberts, chief of the medical staff of the National Military Home here.

Shadbolt was found hiding in a cemetery near the home and was closely questioned for several hours. Later police said he had told them he originally planned to kill Representative Byron B. Harlan, of the Third Ohio District. Harlan voted for passage of the recent veterans' economy act in Congress.

Records of the military home indicated Shadbolt served one year in the Spanish-American War and until this June was receiving about $60 monthly as a pension from the Government on a disability claim.

Along with many others, Shadbolt was ordered to leave the home and his pension was discontinued on the grounds that his disability was not incurred in Government service.

Shadbolt was quoted by officers as telling them he had gone to the Gem City Democratic Club, in Dayton, several times in recent weeks, carrying bombs intended for Representative Harlan. Each time, Harlan was away.

Asked why he turned his wrath against Col. Roberts, police said the veteran told them:

"I must have got the devil in me last night. Col. Roberts was a fine guy, I liked him." Shadbolt said he served under Col. Roberts as an ambulance driver at the Johnson City, Tenn., Veterans Hospital some years ago.

Shadbolt told the police he had taken several drinks before going to the Roberts residence in the military home grounds, but officers said he was not drunk when they arrested him.

Negro Democrats Act to Keep Jobs

Dismissal of a large number of colored and white employes of the office of the Recorder of Deeds by Jefferson Coage, incumbent of that office by appointment of former President Hoover, resulted in a tentative organization last night of those affected, with the avowed purpose of having the dismissals made subject to a board of review. Activity of the organization is expected to bring to a head the question of recognition of colored Democracy by the present administration.

Truly Hatchett, Negro Democrat, of Baltimore, has sought appointment to the office, and Dr. Shelley George, of Paducah, Ky., is also understood to be an aspirant to succeed Coage to the only remaining position held by a Negro in America, other than the municipal judgeship, which requires senatorial confirmation.

Gross Income Tax Law to Take Effect

Pierre, S. Dak., June 30 (A.P.).—South Dakota's Supreme Court, by a 3-to-2 decision, today denied requests for a referendum on the State's new gross income tax, thus putting the law into effect tomorrow.

A bare announcement from the bench of Presiding Judge H. B. Rudolph that the writ of mandamus asked to compel the referendum would be denied was the only information disclosed on the court's action.

Action of the court means the income tax will become operative July 1 along with 162 other new laws adopted by the 1933 Legislature.

Black to Fight O'Brien In New York's Primary

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—New York's mayoralty campaign, opened yesterday with Mayor John P. O'Brien's announcement that he would seek reelection, was given impetus today when Representative Loring M. Black, of Brooklyn, announced he would enter the primaries in opposition to the mayor.

In his announcement, Representative Black asserted there was widespread dissatisfaction with Mayor O'Brien and that the Democratic party can not win with him.

Plant's Gas Fumes Force Philadelphians to Flee

Firemen and employes tried for two hours to stem the leak before the flow finally was turned off by Walter Schrader, 55, a night watchman, who donned a gas mask to enter the place.

N. E. A. AID CHARGES CASTE PLOT IN U. S.

Capital Man Tells Teachers Wealthy Are Trying to Destroy Schools.

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Charges that capitalists sought to destroy educational facilities for the masses and "create a caste system of peasants" were made tonight as the vanguard of 8,000 school teachers gathered for the National Education Association's annual convention.

The statement, expected by the teachers to be a central point of discussion at the seven-day convention beginning tomorrow, was voiced by Joy E. Morgan, of Washington, D. C., director of publications for the association, at a meeting of the National Council of Education, organization of leading educators.

"America is in the midst of a struggle between democracy and a caste system fostered by the great financial czars, the gigantic mechanized industries and the privately owned utilities," Mr. Morgan said.

Teachers' Views Suggested.

"School men and women of the Nation are aware that preservation of democracy is dependent on preservation of our system of free schools."

Mr. Morgan said that "even the most ethical of big business men are of essentially undemocratic character" and that their greed for large profits possible by higher mechanized industry caused unemployment and resulting depression.

The Washington educator classed as even more serious than the "cutting off of financial support for the schools" the lack of employment for thousands of young men and women graduated this year from college and high schools.

"An Unemployed Generation."

"The graduates of this year were turned out into a vacuum," he said. "We now have what amounts to practically an unemployed generation."

As a side issue of the charge that finance had entered a plot to withhold support from public education, considerable discussion was expected at the convention on the financial condition of Chicago schools and the back salaries due the teachers. A month has been sliced from the school year here because of financial difficulties.

Mr. Morgan said that economic stability could be restored to America only by shortening working hours "far below the 30-hour week as now suggested" and by shifting population from the large cities to rural areas. He said that Federal programs for reforestation and flood control in the Tennessee Valley represented the beginning of a principle which would "provide a sweeping change in American life if carried out to a conclusion."

Peek Says Wheat Tax Will Be Kept

(Associated Press.)

George N. Peek, chief farm administrator, said yesterday there is "no likelihood" of any change in the 30-cent per bushel processing tax on wheat scheduled to go into effect at midnight, July 8. Plans for operation of the wheat acreage reduction program have been gauged to a 30-cent tax.

Asked if the tax would be reduced in event that wheat prices increased to a point by July 8 where there was only a difference of 5 cents between the current average farm price and the prewar farm price, Peek said:

"We would not change it."

2 Get Life Terms For Killing Grocer

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Two men today were convicted of plotting the slaying of George Carl, a 41-year-old grocer. His widow had declared his death had been prophesied by a soothsayer a fortnight in advance.

The men, John Milosis, 50, alleged sweetheart of the widow, Mrs. Vera Carl, and Ivan Grilec, 39, brother-in-law of the slain man, were given life imprisonment sentences.

The widow and two other men will go on trial July 17 in connection with the death. One of these, John Fess, the confessed slayer, testified as a State's witness. The State contended Carl was slain in a plot to obtain his insurance money.

Lake Gale Blows Away Heat Wave at Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30 (A.P.).—The heat wave, so far as Buffalo was concerned, was blown away this afternoon when a 47-mile wind swept in from Lake Erie. One boat was blown ashore, a few trees were blown down and the temperature dropped from 85 degrees to 77.

A 20-foot cabin cruiser, owned by George Schoefield, of Chicago, went aground on a reef near the Canadian shore of the Niagara River. Four occupants of the craft were taken off by a crew of an immigration border patrol boat. On board, in addition to Mr. Schoefield, were Mrs. Schoefield, Capt. J. Bennett, the skipper, and George Sauer, a deckhand, all of Chicago.

Deposits in Closed Banks Subject to Tax Assessment

In filing tax assessment returns, which are due today, residents of the District must include deposits in closed banks, William P. Richards, District assessor, announced last night.

He declared the law made no provision for the exclusion of such deposits from the tax returns. He stated, however, that the Board of Personal Tax Appraisers would make adjustments in the assessments of such deposits in relation to liquidity of the deposits. For example if a $100 deposit is found worth $60 subject to withdrawal, he said, the tax assessment would be made in accordance on the 60 per cent basis.

An act of Congress requires that bank deposits be included in intangible property returns, Mr. Richardson declared, and warned all residents to make out their returns strictly in accordance with the law.

Persons making tax returns in which they include "money in bank" should name the bank with the amount. If it is determined definitely before the first tax payment is due on September 1 that the amount in the bank is larger or smaller than that listed in the return, the taxpayer will be allowed to amend his statement.

St. Petersburg to Raise Pay of City Employes

St. Petersburg, Fla., June 30 (A.P.). This city has ordered pay increases for municipal employes. City Manager W. M. Cotton announced today that increases of not less than 10 per cent would go into effect within the next 90 days.

Cotton gave as his reason for the ordered wage increase, the present rise in the price of commodities.

"Values are on the upgrade," he said, "and wages should be treated in a like manner."

Capitalist Nations Warned To Pool Scientific Secrets

British Engineer Tells Chicago Convention Such a Move Is Vital to Meet the Industrial Challenge of Russia to End Unemployment.

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Warning that capitalist nations must pool all scientific knowledge and trade secrets to meet the "challenge" of Soviet Russia's industrial system and end unemployment was voiced today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Only by this means could the nations that now are in the lead industrially maintain this lead, said Dr. A. P. M. Fleming, engineer of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Co., of England, who is one of the 30 foreign scientists invited to speak before the summer meeting of the association. Several engineers of the Metropolitan-Vickers recently were brought to trial in Russia on charges of espionage and sabotage.

"There is in the U. S. S. R.," he said, "a larger body of organized research workers under unified control than exists in any other individual country in the world. The Soviet government looks to science to play a most important part in its industrial and economic activities.

"Whether the Soviet plans succeed or fail, already enough has been accomplished to show the possibilities of this combined scientific effort. Even partial success may have far reaching effects on the rest of the industrial world.

"Should the standard of living be raised to the same, or to higher, levels than those of other countries, and, as may in time reasonably happen, hours of labor be shortened, there would be a considerable degree of labor unrest in other countries.

"Moreover the possibility must not be overlooked that Russia may tend to become a great exporter of manufactured goods.

"This situation is developing at a time when there is little industrial cooperation between the other countries and there is no doubt that this challenge of a communal to a competitive plan justifies a careful consideration of the advantages of further cooperation, especially in the matter of pooling of scientific resources and experience.

"With the lead that the foreign manufacturing countries jointly possess and with the fullest use being made of their joint scientific resources, it should be possible to meet the challenge successfully."

Man Paroled to Mate In Wife-Beating Charge

Federal Judge R. L. Williams, a bachelor, sentencing Cloud to two years in Leavenworth Penitentiary, paroled him to his wife, saying:

"If he beats her again, all she has to do is tell me and he'll go to prison. I'll stop this wife beating."

U. S. PENSIONS COST CUT IN HALF TODAY

(Associated Press.)

The pension rolls will be lightened by almost one-half today by the Roosevelt economy program.

The beginning of the new fiscal year brought veterans' expenditures down from 1933 appropriations that aggregated $927,949,000 to estimates totaling $581,988,000 for the new year, a reduction of $345,961,000.

However, not all this amount came out of benefits previously paid former soldiers. Fifty million dollars of the reduction was accounted for by a decrease in the 1933 appropriation of $100,000,000 for the fund set aside yearly to pay the bonus in 1945. The appropriation for the fiscal year 1934 was halved.

400,000 Lose Benefits.

Benefit payments to between 400,000 and 500,000 men who served in the World and Spanish-American Wars stopped last midnight. Estimates of these savings aggregated $135,000,000. Compensation to thousands of other former service men will be less than last year.

The total of the estimated 1934 funds for the Veterans' Administration is $602,838,000. This includes $20,850,000 for nonveteran activities, mainly Civil Service retirement pensions.

Approximately 387,000 World War veterans who heretofore received disability allowances for ailments not directly connected with their service will be removed from the rolls. About 74,000 Spanish-American War veterans likewise come off. In addition, there are several thousand veterans in other classifications, such as the 6,014 emergency retired officers. Between one-half and two-thirds of these men go off the rolls.

Hospitalizing Curbed.

An end to hospitalizing veterans whose troubles were not connected with service came also, but Veterans' Administration officials said there would be adequate facilities for all former soldiers for disabilities or diseases resulting from their war service in spite of a reduction in the hospital and domiciliary care fund from $115,000,000 to $85,773,000.

Permanent and totally disabled veterans, even though in the nonservice connected class, will continue to receive benefit payments. There are approximately 30,000 of these, for which $10,142,760 is allotted for 1934.

The total compensation paid to dependents of veterans, including widows, children and parents, will be decreased but slightly. The 1934 total is $36,830,000, compared with a 1933 appropriation of $37,581,685.

Beer Unfit to Drink, Defendant Goes Free

San Francisco, June 30 (A.P.).—"Needle beer," described in court as brew "stepped up" by the infusion of spirits, was held by Federal Judge Frank H. Kerrigan to be unfit to drink and therefore not a beverage.

Judge Kerrigan ruled no offense had been committeed in its sale, so Jimmy George, the defendant, went free.

The Federal Diary

By George D. Riley

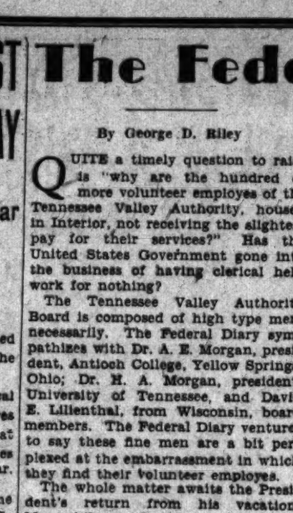
QUITE a timely question to raise is "why are the hundred or more volunteer employes of the Tennessee Valley Authority, housed in Interior, not receiving the slightest pay for their services?" Has the United States Government gone into the business of having clerical help work for nothing?

The Tennessee Valley Authority Board is composed of high type men, necessarily. The Federal Diary sympathizes with Dr. A. E. Morgan, president, Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Dr. H. A. Morgan, president, University of Tennessee, and David E. Lilienthal, from Wisconsin, board members. The Federal Diary ventures to say these fine men are a bit perplexed at the embarrassment in which they find their volunteer employes.

The whole matter awaits the President's return from his vacation. Meanwhile, employes of this $50,000,000 enterprise wait to pay board, rent and to avail themselves of the excellent values being offered in retail stores. Explanations to employes have been received graciously but that does not put butter on the parsnips.

And let's raise this question: "Why were these people called upon to be volunteer workers in the first place?" Has the world's greatest Government junked the one-time truism "the laborer is worthy of his hire?"

Fifty million dollars but not a cent available for pay roll!



REYNOLDS' CHAIR.

TWENTY-THREE years ago Francis Reynolds, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy, drew the above sketch and sent it to the chief clerk with these lines:

I respectfully request admittance to a hospital for radical cure. My disabilities are very serious, constituting a broken back and wobbly wooden legs; origin in line of duty, incident to about four years' faithful service. I was recently discharged from hospital as cured, but upon resuming my duties became broken down. Early action is urgently requested. (Signed)

REYNOLDS CHAIR, 1910.

The card has languished in the desk drawer of J. W. Rohrback, now assistant chief clerk, all these years. Yesterday the now Dr. Reynolds walked into Mr. Rohrback's office after having seen duty as an Army veterinarian in the West and Southwest. He has been away from Washington since June 28, 1914. He has been ordered to the Army Medical School.

Belated tidings come of a successful week-end fishing trip to St. Georges Island, down on the Potomac, by a group of Tariff Commission folks. Several dozen flounders and hardheads were caught, averaging from 1 to 10 pounds.

The group stayed at the St. Georges Inn and enjoyed several swell meals, too, we hear. The Tariff Commission folks were F. M. Leonard (), accompanied by Mrs. Leonard; Miss Violet Foster, Joe Cook and Miss Hattie Wallace (). Another member of the party was Carl Moore, of New York. Capt. Graydon Stephens, veteran riverman, piloted the folks around. They also caught, may it be added, a couple of barrels of hard shell and soft shell crabs.

Fifth installment of National Civil Service Reform League's annual report:

Postmasterships.

"THE league has observed with growing concern the system established for the appointment of postmasters under the executive order issued by President Harding in 1921, whereby presidential postmasters are selected from among the highest three persons on eligible lists resulting from "competitive tests" conducted by the Civil Service Commission in conjunction with the Postoffice Department.

"Selection of one of three from the lists for postmasters inevitably invites the ill-advised practice of acting on the political recommendations of congressmen and local political committees. The report that Postmaster General Farley will continue this traditional practice is a matter for great public concern, implying, as it plainly does, that the present administration looks upon postmasterships as legitimate political party spoils.

"The operation of the present system has created an erroneous general impression that the Civil Service Commission, directed by presidential executive order to conduct tests for postmasterships, is a party to the whole discredited political process whereby the selfish aims of local political bosses are accomplished.

"WE believe that this is far from the truth, and that, generally speaking, the commission has performed a difficult task in a creditable manner. The net result, nevertheless, has been that only the candidate for a postmastership who believes he has the backing of the local political organization cares or dares to enter the competition. The person politically indorsed and 'groomed' for the place is usually the one to get it.

"It is not generally known that there are about 840 so-called service postmasters, that is, persons who have held positions in the Federal classified civil service and who have been either appointed or transferred to the position of postmaster. Most of them have served as first, second or third class postmasters for over ten years. In fact, over 10 per cent of them have been serving as postmasters since the Wilson administration. More than half have been in the Federal service for over fifteen years.

"It is only fair that such service postmasters, who have sought to make the postal service a career, should be retained in the service and the valuable experience gained by them retained for the public benefit. Not to recognize the long service rendered to the Federal Government by these postmasters is virtually to serve notice that the Postoffice Department offers no opportunity for a career to the hundreds of thousands in that branch of the Federal Government, regardless of length of faithful, loyal service. The mere legal fiction of a fixed term of four years for postmasters should not be made the excuse for terminating their employment, but on the contrary they should be retained during good behavior and as long as they continue efficient."

Dear Federal Diary:

What I can't understand is why, when I spent my Federal pay check, it didn't have the same effect in helping along recovery as firing me and giving the money to some one else to spend. Can you explain this?

PERPLEXED EX-CLERK.

No, Hortense, you have the matter all wrong. You see, a dollar paid to a Federal employe is considered by an important economic school as simply going out of circulation. It is not, as your infantile logic would imply, really expended for coffee and sinkers, stepins, beer, or other whimsies, but theoretically steps off the deep end—disappears into the fourth dimension.

In this respect it differs materially from the reforestation dollar, or the farm relief dollar, or the State dole dollar, all of which can be shown by infallible statistics to roll merrily along from pocket to pocket, blessing him who gives and him who takes, and leaving a gleaming trail of recovery in their wakes. The Federal salary dollar, however, exerts no such beneficent influence. Some one for some reason has put a curse on it, and in the dark shadow of jinx, blight, and hoodoo it is ignored by all right-thinking people.

As soon as it slides into one of Uncle Sam's pay envelopes it loses caste, becomes paralyzed, can no longer perform its customary feats of economic wizardry. It is spurlos versenkt. Do not ask me why this astonishing situation arises. It's just the way things are. And if I were you I wouldn't try to understand it; it would only make you unhappy and cynical.

ADJUTANT General's Office Lodge, No. 2, A. F. G. E., has adopted unanimously a resolution commending the Hecht Co. for having "publicly appealed through the press to the administrator of the national industrial recovery act for a square deal for the Government employes of Washington," terming it "a final awakening of public sentiment in our behalf."

Cecil E. Custer, Civil Service Commission, at the same time spoke on the general legislative situation as affecting Government workers. Samuel Sacco presided.

ACCORDING to plans under way at the Postoffice Department it is probable the life and services of Calvin Coolidge will be commemorated on a United States postage stamp. His likeness will not appear on any special issue of stamps nor will such an issue be regarded as a memorial stamp, but recognition will take the form of a regular issue bearing portraits of former Presidents.

There is to be a revision of this regular issue soon, according to those who have talked the matter over with Postmaster General Farley. It is understood he has approved the suggestion from many quarters, especially from the New England section, that Mr. Coolidge's memory should be preserved through issuance of a regular Presidential series in his honor.

It is interesting to point out that portraits of but 17 of former Presidents appear on United States postage.

WILLIAM H. RICHARDS (*), departmental personnel office, Agriculture, answers the call of 30 years' service. Bill has held a unique position. He was the "controller" of personnel records.

In this position, he daily witnessed the great drama of life—joy for the newly appointed; greater joy for the promotions in salary; grief for the dismissed, and greater grief for the deceased.

The experience has made him a true philosopher. He takes his "call" in good graces. The old office will not be the same with Bill gone.

DIRIGIBLE TRANSFER SYSTEM DEFENDED

King Says Economy Is Only Reason for Limiting Officers Sent to Fleet.

Congressional criticism after the crash of the Akron is not the reason for the new Navy policy of limiting personnel transfers, and the transfer policy will be continued as a part of fundamental naval training, according to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics.

"Transfers of officers of the lighter-than-air services to fleet and other duty is not alternative nor rotative, but rather it is occasional," the admiral said. "Such transfers and varied tours of duty have always been considered necessary in the complete training of a competent naval officer. It is the so-called and misunderstood 'Navy system,' and none of us believe it can be changed to advantage."

Fleet Still Dominates.

The admiral pointed out that lighter-than-air is now only a part of the Navy, with the fleet unmistakably the largest and most important arm. What difference five or ten years will bring, with the lighter-than-air emerging from its present experimental stage of development, he could not prophecy. Good Navy officers in the air or on the water will continue to receive training in all Navy fundamentals, with all graduates of the academy being partly trained and experienced in aeronautics.

"The congressional committee and the general public seem unable to understand this system which has always been perfectly logical to us. I am sold, lock, stock and barrel, on lighter-than-air, but I can still see where an officer in that service is more valuable when he returns to the fleet periodically to refresh, expand and strengthen his knowledge and capacity and his appreciation of the fleet itself.

Eye Specialist Analogy.

"We consult an eye specialist only when we know he has already had a complete course in general medicine. Otherwise, we regard him as a quack. The analogy is almost accurate in considering the officer of the Navy's lighter-than-air service, when he is returned to the fleet to be refreshed on 'general practice,' while keeping up his specialty."

Economy is the principal reason for limiting personnel transfers at this time, it was pointed out. Naval officers have always grumbled about such transfers, even while admitting the efficacy of the plan in broadening the personnel. But the system is expensive, and therefore, the latest announced policy is designed to limit it.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

EARLE

"HEROES FOR SALE." First National picturization of a story by Robert Lord and Wilson Mizner, starring Richard Barthelmess, with Loretta Young and Aline MacMahon. Directed by William A. Wellman. Reviewed Friday morning.

By Nelson B. Bell.

Effectively, but not too insistently, splashed with red, white and blue, in honor of the new week's patriotic anniversary, the heavily stressed "July Frolic" at the Earle affords something over an hour of vivacious entertainment, heavily—and I use the word advisedly, since he announces himself as a "ton of fun"—dominated by the rollicking, rotund and at times ribald Mr. Johnny Perkins. If Mr. Perkins were a less resourceful comedian than he is, his six appearances as master of ceremonies and headliner of the entertainment might become just a bit irksome. As it is, he survives safely, ebullientiy and perspiringly on the side of a sort of jumbo joviality.

My chief criticism of the "July Frolic," should it become necessary to report captiously upon it, would be that it opens—or did at yesterday's first performance—with what should be its rousing, spectacular finale and closes with an anticlimactic illuminated Indian club number that should be its introductory touch of Fourth of July flag-waving. "The Spirit of '76" march of the Gertrude Hoffman Girls, with its familiar historical tableau, is now practically wasted.

Next to Johnny Perkins, by the way, these eighteen Gertrude Hoffman dancers are more in evidence than anyone else on the bill. Their numerous offerings were a bit jagged yesterday afternoon, but the fencing number, undersea illusion and final gymnastic stunts in the web number are extremely complex and intricate routines that require a bit of doing on a new stage to acquire perfection of tempo and detail.

Tom and Betty Wonder are the first of the specialists to appear, following the chorus maneuvers and Mr. Perkins' introductory nonsense, in a series of elastic dances and Betty's grotesque rendition of "Minnie the Moocher," all of which were enthusiastically received.

The Arnaut Brothers are next, in their eccentric violining and brilliant drollery as "two loving birds." One of the foremost, and oldest, of vaudeville's standard acts, the Arnauts on this visit reveal a deftness in comedy and a finesse in their aviary antics that place a new mark of genius upon them.

Ruth Petty, both as a balladist and "torch" singer, and as a foil for the elephantine clowning of Master Perkins, scores as emphatically as any artist on this pretentious Independence Day program.

On the screen, "Heroes for Sale" expounds a bitter and depressing indictment of the present social order. It traces with a peculiarly penetrating pessimism the experiences of a youth who was robbed of his honors in the World War, tossed from low fortune to high, and back again, after his return home, and finally is left dangling from the depression's tattered fringes, defeated and a derelict, while others enjoy the fruits of a fortune rightfully his.

In shaping their tale, Robert Lord and the late Wilson Mizner evidently set out to write a strictly head-line melodrama. Into it they have woven many of the problems of the former service men, a few of the economic perplexities of the machine age and a savage vein of ironic ridicule aimed at the Reds. Through it all moves romance, comedy, adventure, pathos and tragedy, not too logical or closely knit, but thoroughly inescapable. The picture reaches no definite conclusion as to precisely what it has been trying to say. It says it, however, with great vigor!

Richard Barthelmess, Loretta Young and Aline MacMahon appear in the pivotal roles with typically workmanlike proficiency. They are supported by an army of competent players, foremost among them being Gordon Westcott, rapidly achieving real eminence; Robert Barrat, a Communist only until he got money; Charles Grapewin, Berton Churchill, Grant Mitchell, Robert McWade and Margaret Seddon.

Orchestral prelude and Graham McNamee's interpretation of the news events assembled by Universal completed the bill.

RKO-KEITH'S

"WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE?" Columbia Pictures filmization of a story by Willard Mack, featuring Mr. Mack, Jean Parker, Minna Gombell, Bryant Washburn, Maurice Murphy and Ben Alexander. Directed by Willard Mack. Reviewed Friday evening by Dorothea Lewis.

As its title and publicity indicate, here is a lecture on youth and its problem with sex, almost clinical in its frankness and method of presentation. It is debatable whether it is entertainment.

Most of the burden of the piece falls upon the veteran, Willard Mack, triple-threat man, who authored, directed and talks most of it. Thinly disguised with characters and incidents acting out the lecture, the thought and lesson are nevertheless given straightforwardly in speeches of Dr. Davidge, played by Mack. And so it remains impersonal and the characters too general for it to be a tragedy, although it is tragic in essence and probably true enough.

It tells in brief and unwavering fashion the story of young Ruth Harper, or any other young girl, whose mother thinks it indelicate to tell her child about the material side of life, and common to discuss love. Thus Ruth, not knowing what love is, is confused by sex, only to find that she is to have a baby, that the boy who was "nuts about her" does not love her, and that her mother worries more about the disgrace than about her. So 17-year-old Ruth drowns herself.

It is just as uncompromising as that. It does not seen to us to be in any sense the material for a motion picture, particularly a feature picture for general showing. The same scientific viewpoint that keeps it from being offensive makes for embarrassment.

Willard Mack is excellent as the family doctor and Jean Parker is serious and very young as Ruth, who might have been heart-breaking if more of a person and less a victim and example. Minna Gombell is the unbelievably superficial and cold mother, a very much overdrawn character. Old friend Bryant Washburn is the father and Ben Alexander the worthless young man.

Two interesting subsidiaries are an unusually starry issue of "Screen Snapshots," which includes Garbo's historic arrival in Hollywood several long years ago, and an amusing screen song-cartoon of "The Peanut Vendor," featuring the luscious Armida in the photographed flesh, and some grand animals in pen and ink.

Pathe News and a Leon Errol comedy, which should never have been made, complete the bill.

METROPOLITAN

"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933." Warner Brothers picturization of a screen play based on Avery Hopwood's farce, featuring Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Aline MacMahon, Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee, Warren William and Ned Sparks. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Reviewed (fourth week) by W. A. Whitney.

After having belittled existing box-office records at the Earle Theater and smashing to bits like figures for second and third week runs at the Metropolitan, "Gold Diggers of 1933" continues its phenomenal run, going into its fourth and last week.

Nothing remains now to be said on this edition of the "Gold Diggers," for not only have the merits of this extravaganza been widely exploited, but adequate words for its proper description have been lifted from Mr. Webster's invaluable vade-mecum.

But if you are among those few (there can not be very many now left), who have not seen this work, then by all means do not lose this last chance to see this admirable cast traipse through a back-stage drama embellished with songs and dances and ensembles that mark one of the high points of the season's cinema.

To miss the sumptuously staged "In the Shadows" number and the dramatic "Forgotten Man" finale, would indeed be to deny yourself a long-to-be-remembered treat.

SPARKLERS IN "JULY FROLIC"

PALACE

"HOLD YOUR MAN." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a story by Anita Loos, featuring Jean Harlow and Clark Gable, with Stuart Erwin, Dorothy Burgess and Muriel Kirkland. Directed by Sam Wood. Previewed Wednesday morning.

For purposes of quick classification, it may be repeated from an earlier comment that this interesting, though not especially gay or enlivening, picture represents a romantic composite of "Easy Money," "Public Enemy," or any other underworld study of the petty larceny experts, and "Maedchen in Uniform."

It pursues a course of progressive melancholy and despondency up to the moment of a brief final flash of regeneration and the promise of eventual happiness for the young crook who has just finished a stretch in prison and the strictly urban Jezebel who has loved him through it all from the corrective seclusion of a girls' reformatory.

There are, of course, moments of hard and brassy comedy in the early movements of the drama, when Ruby is drawing dim lines of preference among her male acquaintances and Eddie Hall is dispensing his favors with an impartial promiscuity among all of the gals who will look at him twice.

There is even a grim sort of humor occasionally in the reform school where Ruby encounters some warm new friendships and is permitted to exercise a mean straight left to the jaw in keeping alive at least one of her earlier antipathies, but for the most part the later sequences of the picture are heavy with the dead weight of anguish, disappointmnt and defeatism.

This is the sort of thing, quite naturally, best calculated to lend a new note to the dramatic career of Jean Harlow, cast in the film's dominant role. It is her picture from the first glimpse of her, soaping herself in the bath, to the triumphant fadeout in Grand Central, where she and "her man" and their small son are about to entrain for Cincinnati where the faithful lover, impersonated with long-suffering patience by Stuart Erwin, is holding a job for the former racketeer, who still wears his prison pallor.

Clark Gable, as Eddie, fares not so well as Miss Harlow. This is one of the roles in which he essays a quaint and whimsical humor he is in no wise equipped to express. Mr. Gable is not a comedian, and it is not until the last few feet of the picture that he ceases trying to be one.

Among the supporting players, Dorothy Burgess, as one of Ruby's bitterest rivals who turns most helpful friend, and Muriel Kirkland, another of the reformatory's kindliest inmates, stand preeminently foremost, although valuable aid is lent the development of major episodes by Garry Owen, Elizabeth Patterson, Blanche Friderici and Theresa Harris and George Reed, two members of the cast who obviously occasioned the selection of the title, "Black Orange Blossoms," by which "Hold Your Man" was originally known.

An Andy Clyde comedy, "Feeling Rosy," with a somewhat hackneyed tired-business-man idea as its basis; a Lyman H. Howe "Hodge-Podge," devoted entirely to the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus preparing for its summer tour in Sarasota, Fla., and the Metrotone News supplement a feature that attracted enthusiastic capacity crowds yesterday.

LOEW'S FOX

"MIDNIGHT MARY." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of an original story by Anita Loos, adapted by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola, featuring Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez and Franchot Tone. Directed by William Wellman. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Stripping this latest invention of Anita Loos' of its trappings and episodic presentation, "Midnight Mary" is revealed as another life-history yarn of a woman who struggles to live down a past that persists in bobbing up.

Out of the courtroom opening sequence, where Mary is awaiting a jury's verdict on a murder charge, the story jumps back to 1919 when the girl is thrown on her own after the death of her mother. She falls in with a gang of racketeers, from whom she is for the time being saved by the intervention of a rising young lawyer.

Time, with its vicissitudes, passes and 1933 comes along with Mary back with her underworld friends again, so that her lawyer-lover may pursue his career unmolested. Fate interposes, and to save him from being murdered, Mary shoots the leader of the gang. After the guilty verdict is passed, our hero becomes conscience-stricken and tells all, obtaining thereby a new trial—and an acquittal, and they live happily, &c.

Loretta Young, as Mary; Ricardo Cortez, as the gang leader, and Franchot Tone, as the young lawyer, are quite acceptable in their roles, though playing them somewhat as a matter of course rather than from a conviction that there is any great worth in the whole affair. They are ably assisted by Andy Devine, Una Merkel, Warren Hymer, Charles Grapewin, Halliwell Hobbes and Robert Emmett O'Conner.

On the stage, Pat Rooney and Pat Rooney 3d. That is all that need be said. For when the Rooneys, father and son, come to town it is, indeed, an extraordinary show that can compete. It is a "new" act they bring this time, but new only in the sense that the work of both bears a freshness that time can not dim.

With each added performance Pat 3d gets better and better, but Pat, sr., —well, he is Pat, that is all, and there will never be another who can do the "Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" as he does it!

The other acts, favorites, too, of long standing, include Paul Remos and his three midgets; Medley and Dupree, whose exploding phonograph still does, and Joe Morris, assisted by Dorothy Ryan, Ann Fink and Larry Jason, in a two-scene skit called "It Might Happen to You."

Honoring the forthcoming holiday, the Fox Orchestra, under the direction of Phil Lampkin, plays a medley of patriotic airs. A Flip the Frog cartoon, "A Chinaman's Chance," and an issue of the Fox Movietone News complete the roster of attractions.

ARLINGTON LENDS SCHOOLS $32,000

Oil and Garbage Contracts Also Awarded at Meeting of County Board.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Pursuant to an opinion by Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas, the county board in special session yesterday lent the county school board $32,000 from the general fund for 30 days. The loan was made to save paying of 6 per cent interest.

John M. Stewart, chairman of the school board, pointed out needs of the board to meet current obligations before the beginning of the new fiscal year today. Chairman Harry A. Fellows held that the school board should pay interest on the loan. Stewart asked a short delay to permit calling his board together to draft a resolution which the county board asked before the loan would be made. This accomplished, the board, upon motion of Lyman M. Kelley, waived interest on the loan.

When questioned by Chairman Fellows as to all obligations of the school board, Stewart stated that with payment of current debts the board owes still a total of $110,000 and that it would be necessary to borrow to the extent of approximately $33,000 before the collection of taxes is made in December.

County Salaries Cut.

Stewart further told the board, when asked whether salaries of teachers would be reduced, that all contracts have been drawn on the basis of same salary, but that if it appears necessary, proper adjustments could be made. Stewart said that in his opinion the salaries of teachers are now little enough for the qualifications that are required.

This question was raised when Chairman Fellows stated that, beginning today, all salaries of county employes, excepting members of the police department, would suffer a 10 per cent cut.

County Manager Roy S. Braden read a letter from the American La France & Formite Co., refusing to accept the county's offer of $30,000 in settlement for its claim of $39,000 for firefighting equipment. The letter said an appeal will be noted to the Arlington County Circuit Court.

Upon recommendation of County Manager Braden the board awarded a contract for gasoline and oil for county fire departments to the Texas Oil Co., also for oil for the county. Contract to furnish gasoline to the county was awarded to the Tidewater Co.

Contract on Garbage.

Contract for the collection of garbage and trash, effective August 1, was awarded to Harry C. Whitehead contingent upon his furnishing bond in the amount of $20,000 by July 14. The accepted bid was $22,858.

The board approved bills amounting to $23,159.09, with the exception of one item of $439.65 for repairs to Fall Church fire engine.

Meeting in executive session last night the County Board continued its study of the maps made a number of years ago to ascertain whether the layout for trunk-line sewers will connect with the several small systems now in the county.

Upon the completion of this study it is the purpose of the board to make application to the Federal Government for a loan not to exceed $2,250,000 as provided in the national industrial recovery act.

Children of Lyon Park To Meet Again Today

Children of Lyon Park will hold their second meeting this afternoon in the Lyon Park Community House to continue plans for the organization of the Junior Community Center of Lyon Park. At the meeting today it is expected that the committee on by-laws and constitution will make their report.

It is planned to delay the election of officers until the meeting next week.

Library Branches Will Remain Open

Here is good news for suburban book lovers. Dr. George P. Bowerman, District librarian, announced last night that the branches at Chevy Chase, Woodridge, Tennallytown, Eastern High and Conduit road will not have to be closed, after all.

Until the District appropriation act was passed, it was feared that cuts in personnel items would necessitate closing of the branches. Restoration of the $5,000 for personnel has made it possible to open the branches.

Dr. Bowerman said that he has asked the Director of the Budget for a transfer of a portion of the reduced book fund to the personnel item, so that the library staff may be maintained at its full strength.

LIEUT. RICHARDSON RITES TO BE TODAY

Navy Officer Killed in California Plane Crash to Be Buried in Arlington.

Funeral services for Lieut. Jack Carpenter Richardson, one of the few officers of the Navy to have qualified both as an airship and airplane pilot, will be held in Arlington National Cemetery at 11 a. m. today, with full military honors.

Honorary pallbearers will be Lieut. Comdr. David H. Clark, Lieut. Comdr. Hugh W. Olds, Lieut. Comdr. A. S. Pitre, Lieut. Comdr. Harry B. Slocum, Lieut. Comdr. Gerald L. Schetky and Lieut. Comdr. J. Ross Allen, all of the Navy.

Lieut. Richardson was killed in an airplane crash at Oceanside Field, Calif., June 8. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anne Evans Richardson, and a daughter, Barbara Evans Richardson, of Coronado, Calif.

Lieut. Richardson was born in St. Louis June 18, 1897, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from San Francisco in 1915. He graduated in June, 1918, and served with the Destroyer Force based at Queenstown, Ireland, on guard and patrol duty. In 1924 he was ordered to Lakehurst Naval Air Station for instruction in lighter-than-air craft and was attached to the U. S. S. Shenandoah and later to the U. S. S. Los Angeles until 1930.

He was awarded a letter of commendation for his services in charge of a rescue party from Lakehurst, after the explosion at the Naval Ammunition Depot, Lake Denmark, N. J., in 1926. In 1929 he was a representative of the Navy Department on the round-the-world flight of the Graf Zeppelin, and in that year he piloted one of the Navy's entries in the National Balloon Race from Pittsburgh.

Lieut. Richardson served in the gunnery department of the light cruiser Cincinnati from 1930 to 1932, when he was ordered to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., where he qualified as naval aviator. He reported for duty with the aircraft squadrons, Battle Force, on March 7, 1933.

Restriction Sought In Colonial Village

Mrs. Hilda B. Eacho, owner of a home at 1900 Plymouth street northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to prevent the erection of a home costing less than $20,000 in the Colonial Village of Rock Creek Park Estates.

Her suit alleges that Harold C. and Dora B. Corpening, of Seventeenth and G streets northwest, are planning to erect a home costing $14,350, while, she claimed, restrictions in the deed of her property call for an expenditure of not less than $20,000. She had been assured, her attorneys said, that all property in the village would be kept up to the same price standard.

Those named as defendants are Edson W. Briggs, Edson W. Briggs, Inc., Federal American Co., Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., the Corpenings, Randolph L. Jennings and the Perpetual Building Association. Attorneys C. C. Collins, A. E. Brault and John R. Reeves represented Mrs. Eacho.

June Dry Fines Total $419.

The clerk of the Alexandria corporation court has reported total collections of prohibition fines for June of $419.50, as against $340 for May. There were 106 marriage licenses issued during the month, as against 123 in June, 1932.

BIGGEST PARADE YET IS PLAN OF FIREMEN

District Group Will Meet on Wednesday; 5,000 Bids to Be Sent Out.

The biggest firemen's parade in the world—that's the dream this year of District firefighters and Sergt. A. J. Bargagni.

Ethusiasm runs high. Spurred on by the sponsorship of The Washington Post, ambitious plans are being formed and executed for the famous Labor Day event.

Monday night the District Firefighters Association will meet at the Hamilton Hotel. The parade will be discussed. Later in the week, the women's auxiliary of the department will gather at the home of the chairman, Mrs. E. W. Howard, jr., 1344 Monroe street northwest. Mrs. Robert Hayes, president, will preside.

Invitations to 5,000 fire departments in all sections of the country will be mailed within the next few days. Sergt. Bargagni and members of the National Firemen's Association are already busy on this phase of the work.

Visitor Increases Expected.

In the past invitations never have exceeded 3,000. With The Post cooperation and the enthusiasm that is being shown the most pretentious program in the history of the parade is being mapped out for next September.

Last year 25,000 visitors came to Washington for a three days' celebration. A greater number is expected in 1933, with notices being sent to fire companies in several States not included in the past.

The National Firemen's Association, which was organized in Washington last year, expects to increase its membership by many thousands as a result of this year's gathering. Firemen also hope to continue their present plans for a national memorial here.

The memorial would bear the names of firefighters from every State who have died in line of duty and a record of some of the most heroic deeds by American firemen. Old fire equipment dating back to the earliest days of firefighting also would be housed in the memorial building.

Virginia Companies Sought.

Fire Chief George S. Watson, of the District department, hopes that action can be taken during this year's gathering whereby more emphasis can be given to national fire prevention week. This above is just some of the work that the firefighters would like to accomplish.

An intensive drive to line up many Virginia fire companies that have never participated in the parade will be made this year. Sergt. Bargagni has been invited to go to Orange to attend a firemen's circus on the Fourth. He has accepted and while there, believes he will succeed in inducing several companies to come to the Capital on Labor Day and bring apparatus.

Selection of committees is the principal work set for early next week. Many prominent Washingtonians will be asked to serve in various capacities. Several have already volunteered their services.

Mrs. Cleveland, 69, Dies at Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Grace Elizabeth Matthews Cleveland, 69, daughter of the late Stanley Matthews, justice of the United States Supreme Court, and widow of Harlan Cleveland, former United States district attorney, died here today.

Except for a few years residence in New York, Charlottesville, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., she had made her home in Glendale, a Cincinnati suburb.

Surviving are James H. Cleveland, Mayor of Glendale; two sons, the Rev. John Cleveland, of Hartford, Wis., and Paul Cleveland, Harvard law school student; two daughters, Miss Eva Cleveland, of Glendale, and Mrs. James Bloodgood, of Madison, Wis.; a sister, Mrs. Horace Gray, also the widow of a former Supreme Court justice, and a brother, the Rev. Paul Matthews, Episcopal Bishop of New Jersey. She will be buried here tomorrow.

JOHN C. FELL BURIED.

Veteran and Sportsman Is Laid to Rest in Arlington Grave.

Funeral services for John Corry Fell, veteran of the World War, who died Wednesday at Mount Alto Hospital following a long illness, were held yesterday from St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, Eighteenth and Church streets northwest. Interment was in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mr. Fell was widely known as an athlete and breeder of thoroughbred horses, being a member of several Virginia hunt clubs. He is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Fell, of Markham, Va.; a brother, Edgar T. Fell, of Baltimore, Md., and two children, John and Joan Corry Fell, both of Annapolis, Md.

Youth Electrocuted for Attack.

ALEXANDRIA STUDIES BREWERY PROSPECT

Chamber Cooperating With Portner Interests, Anticipating 3.2 Law.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with officials of the Portner Realty Co., owners of the Portner Brewery, in a movement for the reopening of the brewery if and when 3.2 beer is legalized by Virginia at the proposed special session of the Legislature.

The Portner brewery ceased operations some years before national prohibition and, while a part of the buildings have been used from time to time by various industries, little attempt has been made to preserve them. It is understood, however, that much of the machinery can be used after overhauling.

The Chamber of Commerce has conferred with L. P. Allwine, manager of the Portner Realty Co., and it is stated there are several prospects.

The Chamber of Commerce has also announced that it has offered its headquarters and all its facilities to John J. Wicker, jr., Virginia State manager of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, and also H. G. Shirley, public works administrator for Virginia, for a clearing house for the programs of both the home owners and public works organizations in northern Virginia, as well as in Alexandria.

Frederick L. Flynn was nominated for civil and police justice, to run in the general election, by the Republican organization, at a meeting last night in the George Mason Hotel.

The delegates were elected to attend the State Republican convention in Lynchburg, Va., Monday and Tuesday. They are John Barton Phillips, Mrs. Alice Strauss, Richard B. English, George Thornhill, J. D. Robertson, O. P. Angelo, John P. Strauss, W. L. Norford, T. H. Strathan, Charles Pulman, E. E. Carver, Charles Hupp, R. P. Whitestone, J. R. Harding, W. B. Fulton, Kemp Rush, F. C. Knight, Frederick L. Flynn, Miss Mary Tennesson, Floyd Keller, Cecil Brooks, James Rush, and M. L. Bettis.

The alterantes are Mrs. R. B. English, Mrs. R. L. Agner, Mrs. John Barton Phillips, Mrs. Pearl Thomasson, Charles Dean, Donald Dickerson, Robert Kilby, R. E. Grover, W. Lewis, J. Noble, Archie Simpson, Miss Ruth Miller, C. E. Jewell, G. R. Gaines, J. Maury Gaines, Mrs. Bessie Grover, Mrs. O. P. Angelo, Mrs. E. E. Carver, Mrs. C. B. Johnson, M. J. Bobee, Mrs. F. C. Knight, Mrs. L. O. Hardin and L. O. Hardin.

Lloyd Wade, colored, of White Plains, N. Y., was acquitted yesterday in Corporation Court, Judge William P. Woolls, presiding, of the charge of manslaughter, for which he was indicted on June 12 by a jury on which a colored man served for the first time in the history of jury service in Alexandria.

Wade was the driver of an automobile that collided with the one on which Henry Fleming Burke was sitting on the running board June 4, last, and from which Burke was thrown by the impact and killed instantly.

Virginia Harding, alias Virginia Stahl, who was indicted June 12 on a charge of participation in the robbery of an Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store, in Potomac, Alexandria, on March 2, pleaded guilty yesterday in the Alexandria Corporation Court, Judge William P. Woolls, presiding, and was given a suspended sentence of two years in the penitentiary. She was rearrested, however, by Detective James Bayliss, following a telegram from the chief of detectives of Indianapolis, Ind., stating that she was wanted in that city on a slimlar charge. The woman said she would waive extradition.

The Harding woman was in an automobile waiting outside the store while her companion, George B. Walter, alias R. O. Anderson, entered and held up the clerk at the point of a revolver. Walters pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

The Alexandria Chamber of Commerce has called upon the three candidates for governor of Virginia—Smith, Peery and Deal—for an expression of their position on the proposal of a 2-cent gasoline tax for the territory within a radius of five miles from the District of Columbia, a 3-cent tax for the next five miles and a 4-cent levy for the next five miles.

Kappa Deltas Reelect Capital Woman to Post

Bemidji, Minn., June 30 (A.P.).—Miss Marion Small, of Denver, was elected vice president of Kappa Delta, national college sorority, at its biennial convention today.

Miss Bessie Feagin, of Birmingham, Ala., was elected national secretary. Mrs. Percival Hall, jr., of Washington, D. C., was reelected national editor. Pasadena, Calif., was selected as the 1935 convention city.

ARCHIE C. HOLLIDAY DIES.

Funeral for Alexandrian to Be Held This Afternoon.

Archie C. Holliday, 62, died Thursday night at his home, 111 Franklin street, Alexandria. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Susie Holliday.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. today, at the Cunningham funeral home, by the Rev. William B. McIlwaine, jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, and interment will be in Union Cemetery.

Mrs. Maude Lyles Dies.

Mrs. Maude Lyles, wife of Raymond Lyles, of 421 Cameron street, Alexandria, died yesterday at the Alexandria hospital. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

D. A. V. WITHDRAWS ATTACK UPON HINES

Cincinnati, June 30 (A.P.).—Rescinding a demand for immediate removal of Brig. Gen Frank T. Hines, administrator of the veterans' affairs, the disabled American veterans of the World War today shifted their fire to sponsors of the national economy act.

At their annual convention here they voted to reconsider a resolution of yesterday demanding dismissal of Gen. Hines and of J. C. O'Roberts, his assistant. Then they approved a statement that "the resolution dealing with the removal of certain officials places the injustices done the veterans upon certain individuals and not upon all those responsible.

"While the attitude of these individuals has not at all times been satisfactory, it is understood that they had worked under orders."

Hence, be it resolved, "That we place the full responsibility upon all parties having any part in the enactment of the economy act as it relates to veterans, and do condemn their apparent ungrateful, unpatriotic, un-American and inhuman action in dealing with the war's disabled. These people include the National Economy League, the National Chamber of Commerce and their heavily financed allies."

Bitter at reduction of compensation paid them by the Government for their injuries, the veterans vented their feelings yesterday in the resolution demanding the removal of Hines and O'Roberts. Today National Commander William Conley pleaded with them to reconsider what he called a hurried and thoughtless action. He succeeded when delegates of the Department of Minnesota, sponsors of the original resolution, swung to his support.

Earlier, the delegates went on record as "standing ready to support a review of all claims for compensation," and thus, their leaders said, showed willingness to stand or fall by the justice of their claims. Concurrently, they approved a declaration of faith affirming readiness to fight again in the national defense.

The convention closed with the election of Joseph W. McQueen, of Kansas City, as national commander, and selection of St. Paul, Minn., as the 1934 meeting place.

Detroit Bank Jury Continues Inquiry

Detroit, June 30 (A.P.).—The statement of one witness that former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, believed the closed First National Bank-Detroit to be solvent, and of another that the former Treasury head sent a New York banker here to discuss plans for reorganization, tonight went into the records of the one-man Detroit bank jury.

Similarly, a plan was revealed in motion for reopening the First National—a plan which, according to James O. Murfin, director and attorney for the bank, would enable payment "at once" of 100 cents on the dollar to all depositors.

To date the depositors have received 40 per cent.

'Slim' Comes Out of Grave, Quite Ill, After Nine Weeks

Changes in Air Pressure Don't Help Seeker of Burial Record.

Whatever it takes to make a hero established "Slim" Jones as champion something-or-other last night, when he returned to earth—the top of it—after a 62-day endurance burial 6 feet underground.

Out at the Peace Cross on Bladensburg road northeast, a throng of several hundred persons hailed "Slim" as one of the greatest men in the endurance business. But he almost didn't leave his grave. It took a dozen men more than three hours to finally "dig him out."

With two doctors and as many nurses in attendance, it looked for a time as though the resurrection ceremonies were going to get the best of "Slim"—known also as R. L. Jones, of Richmond, Va.

Changes in air pressure were held responsible for placing the "champeen" on the sick list and sending him to Emergency Hospital. Climatic conditions within and without his "coffin" resulted in "Slim" becoming deathly ill. For a few moments the attending physicians were worried. But it all added to the glamour and the crowd cheered lustily.

Everything started on schedule at 8 p. m. Three men began digging into the grave. In hardly no time they reached the top of the sealed casket.

There they stopped. "Slim's" coffin refused to budge. Ropes were brought into play, but to no avail. Somebody called for tin shears. From then on the coffin's outer covering of sheet tin was snipped from one end to the other. It took nearly two hours.

The casket itself was made of wood. After several hundred pounds of earth had been removed, "Slim" complained of not feeling well. The doctors climbed into the grave. They felt his pulse. They gave him ammonia. They asked him how he felt.

After assuring them he was much better, the physicians climbed out and again extraction operations were resumed.

The Washington Gas Light Co. assigned H. L. Leonard, safety director, to supervise "Slim's" resurrection. Changes in air pressure and temperature recordings were made every few minutes.

While the crowd sweltered under a temperature of 87 degrees above ground, the reading in Jones' coffin was 103 degrees. A minimum of 90 degrees was finally gained.

As the casket top was reached members of the Bladensburg Fire Department, under whose auspices "Slim" was buried, hoisted off the top, inch by inch. As the atmosphere changed within the coffin, "Slim" writhed in apparent agony. The fresh air, physicians said, affected his lungs.

He was at last lifted from his grave, placed on a stretcher and rushed to the hospital. Chief Andrew Gasche, of the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, announced his condition as "fair."

Once before "Slim" set a record for himself. He was buried for 38 days in Annapolis, Md. A competitor in New Jersey gave up after several weeks.

"But I'll do it again if I have to," he said.

Four-Lane Pike Asked By Rockville Merchants

Improvement of the Rockville pike to a four-lane traffic road was urged in a resolution adopted last night by the Rockville Pike Business Association at a meeting in the home of the president, William F. Wagner, near Halpine, Md. The association declared that it is in favor of any improvement of the road.

An executive committee of three to function with officers of the association was named as follows: W. F. Carter, Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson and Mrs. Howard Blandy.

MONTGOMERY'S TAX RATE CUT 35 CENTS

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

Reduction of the Montgomery County tax rate from $1.30 to 95 cents per $100 was effected yesterday by the county commissioners. The annual tax levy was signed yesterday by the commissioners. The budget totals $906,722.53.

The reduction was made possible through enactment by the Legislature of the road program under which the county's share of the gasoline tax and other road revenues is made available to maintain the county road system and to pay interest and principal on county road bonds. From this source county taxpayers receive the relief equivalent of 20 cents on the tax rate.

Montgomery's share of the new $1,500,000 fund also gives the county a substantial sum toward the support of the school system, which is equivalent to the amount that would be raised by a 12-cent addition to the tax rate.

The county commissioners have been able to absorb $200,000 through salary cuts and other economies which was spent through the current 1932-33 county levy from capital surpluses carried over from the previous year and which amount was not levied directly against the taxpayers. The amount so made up represents 20 cents on the county tax rate.

The largest items in the budget are $373,547.70, representing the cost of operating the county school system; $172,792.63, interest levied this year to be paid on bond issues; $55,822.53 for county police, and $25,000 for the contingent fund. Eleemosynary purposes account for another $77,362.50.

The commissioners will refund the county bond maturities for the next 12 months in an amount of $113,000, and interest on county bonds maturing in the next 12 months in the amount of $132,000.

Estimated taxes receivable will total $906,722.55, of which $796,399.06 are from taxes on real and personal property.

Takoma Park Beer Injunction Argued

Arguments in the petition for injunction against Takoma Park officials from collecting a $1,000 fee for sale of beer in the town and to enjoin them from interfering with Nick Bougades in the sale of beer were heard yesterday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, representing Bougades, contended that the $1,000 license is in contravention of the will of Congress, the State Legislature and the people, and that the act of the Legislature legalizing 3.2 per cent beer in the State repealed the power of the town council to impose any fee for taxation purposes.

Karl D. Loos, representing the town, contended that the town council was within its rights in imposing the fee under the terms of the town charter.

Judge Woodward reserved his decision and said that it probably would require considerable time for him to reach a decision.

State Takes Roads From Montgomery

Montgomery County's secondary road system will be taken over today by the State roads commission of Maryland in accordance with the State administration road program.

Three road supervisors have been appointed. Former County Commissioner Frank Ricketts will have charge of the rural section and the suburban sections will be in charge of Thomas E. Shaw, of Silver Spring, for the eastern district, and Andrew M. Newman, 409 East Turner street, Chevy Chase, for the western district.

The State pays the salaries of only two supervisors, the third being paid by the county. The 114 road workers and 7 engineers who have been working for the county will be transferred today to the State roads commission pay roll and appraisal of road machinery and equipment owned by the county now is being made.

Brewery May Use Site Inside District

Possible failure of Prince Georges County Commissioners to change 46 acres of land at Seat Pleasant from residential to industrial zone may cause the Prince Georges Brewing Co. to erect its plant in the District, Michael Klachko, secretary and treasurer of the company, said last night.

The hearing on rezoning will come before the county commissioners on July 18.

Cheverly citizens, said to be led by Mayor Gast, have complained to the county commissioners that the brewery's trucks will endanger school children using Cheverly road. However, the company's engineers have announced a plan to build a road from the property along the Pennsylvania Railroad direct into Kenilworth, eliminating the danger and saving 2½ miles in hauling.

Fire Hero, Weary After 33 Years of Service, Retires

E. E. Padgett, of No. 25, Has Saved Lives and Sustained Injuries.

E. E. Padgett, of Engine House 25, quit the Fire Department last midnight, not because of the economy program, but because he's tired.

For 33 years Padgett has given his all for the District department and when he says "his all," that's what he means.

Records show him to be one of the most decorated men in the department. In 1904, he won a handsome medal for saving two women at a fire in the old Franklin Building.

In 1908 he was commended again, this time for catching a burglar. Not only did he catch him, but he knocked the thug out cold. However, Padgett encountered an injury himself. He hit the victim so hard that the burglar's teeth came through the fireman's fist—came through to the bone.

Another honor was bestowed on Padgett in 1923 for splendid work during the disaster at the Knickerbocker Theater. He got a ribbon for that.

Not only is Padgett one of the most decorated men in local service, he's also one of the most frequently injured. Records show that he has been hurt 11 times in line of duty.

Up a Tree

Worker on Aged Elm at White House Stumped by Curious.

Ordinarily, a tree's a tree, but when it's one on the White House grounds it's something else—something really to ask questions about.

The 80-year-old elm in the northwest corner of the grounds is being repaired. The man who is doing the work is just about as weary from answering queries as from physical labor. Most of them come from visitors to the District.

And—"Are you cutting this tree as part has had to answer are:

"Did George Washington plant this tree?"

"Did the bonus army hurt this tree?"

"Was this tree sent here as a gift from France?"

And—" are you cutting this tree as part of the economy program?"

JOBLESS FEDERAL WORKERS.

Thousands of Federal employees in all parts of the country will feel the sharp edge of the Government's economy knife today. No uniform program of dismissals has been adopted, but each department is compelled to make reductions in its payroll to conform to President Roosevelt's budgetary reductions. In some cases the outright dismissal of employees has been avoided, but furloughs will cut down their annual incomes. A number of departments and commissions, however, are making notable contributions to the army of the unemployed.

No accurate estimate of the number of jobs to be lost in this shake-up is available. For the most part the men and women who are deprived of their positions are under Civil Service regulations. They took jobs with the Government in the belief that the Federal service offered steady tenure and opportunity to advance on a basis of efficiency. Many of them turned away from more lucrative positions a few years ago because of the greater security which the Civil Service appeared to offer. Now they are jobless through no fault of their own.

The bitterness of this experience for hundreds of Federal workers is accentuated by two factors. First, while the Government is creating unemployment among its own personnel, it is planning to spend several billions of dollars to create work. Second, thousands of new jobs are made available by extraordinary activities of the Government, but few of them seem to be going to the trained Civil Service workers who are being released from the established departments and commissions.

Some hope has been held out to Civil Service employees that they would be given preference in the new agencies because of their training and experience. But that hope is waning. The Civil Service Commission has issued a circular calling attention to the fact that jobs in the new agencies are being filled without regard to the merit system. A few days ago the commission "understood" that the Public Works Administration was employing persons with Civil Service status. But a more recent issue of its circular omits this assumption. Apparently Civil Service qualifications are being subordinated to political influence in the selection of personnel for the new agencies.

Under the Government's curtailment program, trade commissioners and commercial attaches, many of whom have been serving the Government abroad for 15 or 20 years, were discharged and brought back home on a week's notice. Some of them did not have time to dispose of their furniture; others were required to pay leases for the remainder of the year. To impose such hardships on Federal officials of long standing seems to be unnecessary.

Perhaps the most lamentable aspect of the economy program is its tendency to break down the merit system. Simple provisions that would have avoided large scale dismissal of Federal workers have not been taken. Employees now losing their jobs through no fault of their own have no assurance that they will again be employed when the rigors of the economy program have been lifted. The least that might be done to mitigate the blow that is falling upon thousands of faithful servants of the Government would be to make provisions for their transfer to other positions now open in the emergency organizations or to provide for their return to the departments they are now leaving as soon as vacancies occur or additional help is needed.

It will take a strong hand to keep the spoilsmen from taking advantage of the situation.

A REAL CONFERENCE PROBLEM.

The World Economic Conference has before it at last a subject worthy of deep examination. It is the underconsumption of wine. Not having succeeded in making a great deal of headway in its consideration of other problems, the conference is asked to concentrate upon the wine problem. M. Albert Sarraut, French minister of colonies, delivered an address to the delegates which is described as "far and away the best speech the conference has heard or is likely to hear," in which he extolled the virtues of wine and declared that much of the misery that besets humanity is due to failure to consume wine—French wine, of course.

Although M. Sarraut did not disguise his desire to promote commerce in France's sparkling product, he spoke more as a poet and a philosopher in dealing with the classic beverage. He cited Noah, Euripides and Plato on the virtues of wine, and drew the conclusion that wine-drinking countries produce fewer drunkards than other nations.

Just now there is a dislocation between production and consumption of wine, which M. Sarraut hopes may be remedied by international agreements looking to limitation of production while encouraging consumption by liberalizing tariff barriers. He did not allude to the rosy prospect of a reopening of the American market, but doubtless repeal of prohibition is regarded in France with the liveliest emotions.

As to curtailment of production, M. Sarraut recalled that the Emperor Domitian met a similar crisis by forbidding the planting of new vines within the Roman empire until the world could catch up with the supply. So far as is known, Domitian was not confronted with a prohibition repeal problem, or if he was, he solved it, for the Roman empire's collapse was attributable to other causes.

WORKING FOR PEACE.

Ambassador Norman H. Davis is reported to be under instructions to return to Geneva and press the cause of disarmament. President Roosevelt is reported to be convinced that progress can be made by holding before other nations the assurance that if they will agree upon a disarmament program the United States will consult with them in the event of threatened war, and will even go so far as to agree not to deal with a nation which is declared by all others, including the United States, to be an aggressor.

Disappointing as the discussions have been at Geneva, it is not for the United States to withdraw from efforts to promote peace by limiting armaments and increasing the sense of security among nations. Like the codification of international law, disarmament must be a slow process if it is to be attained at all. National susceptibilities as to security are extremely sensitive, particularly when there is great disparity in armaments and dispute over decisions embodied in the Treaty of Versailles. But the examination of disarmament difficulties may lead to adjustment of other questions, and thus pave the way toward more certain peace.

Another reason why the United States should not cease to press for a general arms agreement lies in the fact that the naval treaty affecting the American, British and Japanese fleets will expire in 1936. A naval conference is provided for, to be held in 1935. Japan has already given notice that the existing treaty must be revised. Naval limitation agreements are a part of the more ambitious plan to limit all armaments.

One naval limitation conference failed—that at Geneva in 1927. But this failure was not the fault of the United States. Two other conferences resulted in limitation agreements—that at Washington in 1922, which limited capital ships, and that at London in 1931, which extended the limitation to other vessels. The prospects of naval limitation were as dark in 1921 as they are now for general disarmament; yet an agreement was reached, and the world was freed of the danger of naval rivalry among the strongest naval powers. The advance thus made in the cause of peace should be permanent, and can be made so.

At a time when the nations are plunged into dire distress it is incumbent upon all of them to co-operate for the purpose of limiting armaments.

COTTON PLAN MENACED.

Cotton growers of the South are very anxious to take advantage of the benefits offered by the Department of Agriculture under the domestic allotment plan; so anxious, in fact, that they may defeat the price-raising program. For the most part the farmers are sympathetic toward the plan of reducing cotton acreage with a view to obtaining a higher return for the smaller crop. But when it comes to a point of estimating the yield of their farms for the purpose of making reductions, many farmers have poor memories and extravagant opinions of the productivity of their own lands.

Administrators of the farm relief act have sent men into the cotton districts to obtain contracts under which the Government would pay benefits to growers in return for their pledge to reduce their acreage by about 25 per cent. Two different plans are offered to the growers, one providing merely for cash payments and the other for cash payments plus options to buy Government-owned cotton at about 4 cents per pound below the present market price. Difficulty arises from the fact that both of these offers are based on the yield of the land to be taken out of production.

A farmer may obtain, under the cash payment plan, $7 per acre for destruction of the cotton growing on land that has yielded an average of 100 to 124 pounds per acre during the last five years. The schedule of payments is graduated up to $20 for land that has produced an average of 275 pounds or more. As a result many farmers have fallen victims to the human failing of overstating their past accomplishments. Each one hopes to obtain the higher payments for land that yields copiously. In many cases no records have been kept, and there is no way of determining accurately how much cotton any certain acre has produced. How shall the agents who are making contracts for Uncle Sam determine whether estimated yields are accurate?

This difficulty is causing much concern in the Department of Agriculture. In some communities the records of cotton production over the last five years have been checked against the yields estimated for crop reduction purposes, and wide discrepancies have been found. Where farmers are known to have exaggerated the productivity of their land it is stated that their offers to join in the stabilization program will be rejected. Overestimation has been so widespread that officials fear it may be necessary to abandon plans of reducing acreage in this manner.

CONFUSED FINANCING.

A most confusing picture of the War Department's budget is presented by alternating reports of slashed expenditures and pleas for additional funds from the Public Works Administration. On one hand, the Army appears to be suffering from self-inflicted retrenchment, and; on the other hand, to be making plans for the expansion of housing and equipment.

Congress appropriated $275,000,000 for the War Department, which represents a drastic cut from the expenditures of the previous year. A short time ago Secretary Dern announced that his department would trim another $50,000,000 from expenditures in 1934 to effect further economy. This latest reduction is not called for by law. It represents the desire of the administration to save money in accordance with President Roosevelt's campaign pledge to reduce the Federal budget by 25 per cent.

In contrast to this economy move Assistant Secretary Woodring has announced plans to spend $64,000,000 outside of the department's budget, if the money can be obtained from the Public Works Administration. "For the last three weeks," Mr. Woodring told the graduates of the Army War College, "I labored long and hard with the newly created Board of Public Works in order to fully present the Army's requirements for housing facilities and ammunition." Just why the War Department's budget should be trimmed down to a point where its needs for housing and ammunition must be supplied through a special fund appropriated for public works is difficult to understand.

This situation appears even more strange because of the fact that assistance from the "emergency budget" is necessary to carry on the regular activities of the War Department. It is reported that the department's $50,000,000 curtailment will result in the dismissal of 5,000 technicians at arsenals in various parts of the country and that munition supplies are so depleted that the armed forces will not be able fully to carry out the peace-time maneuvers required of them. This argument is put forth to induce the Public Works board to set aside $13,000,000 for the manufacture of munitions. In other words, it appears that the War Department is voluntarily cutting its ordinary expenditures, while seeking a grant of emergency funds to carry on normal activities.

Where is the economy in putting $50,000,000 in one of Uncle Sam's pockets and taking $64,000,000 out of the other? The confusion resulting from this unprecedented shifting of funds is a typical result of the double-budget system under which the 1934 appropriations have been made.

A GEORGETOWN LIBRARY.

The Georgetown Library Association makes out a strong case in behalf of a branch public library to serve that part of the District. With a population of 40,000 in the old town and such young satellites as Burleith, Foxhall Village, Wesley Heights, Potomac Heights and Spring Valley, Georgetown submits that it is entitled to library facilities. Cities containing over 200,000 population have 20 branch libraries each, on the average, while Washington has only four branches.

If public works funds are to be devoted to enlargement of library facilities in cases where labor can be employed without delay, Georgetown deserves to be considered. Its school children and its large student population furnish a solid reason why a branch library should be established there.

The new recovery program has another merit—it makes it unnecessary for 125,000,000 citizens to rush their highly original depression cures to President Roosevelt.

If Administrator Sawyer wishes to see where public works funds can be expended to best advantage, all he has to do is ride around in Washington.

Conservation may be all right, but deserving Democrats would like to see Jim Farley display a little radicalism in passing out jobs.

Chicago grain traders bought and sold 208,000,000 bushels the other day, some of which was actually grain.

CHERRY PIE

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Can she make a cherry pie, Billy Boy, Billy Boy?
Can she make a cherry pie, charming Billy?

When this spring Kentucky hills were covered with flowering trees, ranging from dogwood, azalea, laurel and rhododendron to the apple, pear, plum and peach, there was yet another which, perhaps, brought more anticipation than the rest combined—the cherry.

Some people are convinced of the merits of apple pie; others declare for the peach cobbler; others still would paraphrase the Patrick Henry phrase, "Liberty or death," to include the cherry pie. What would liberty be without it?

In the first place your cherry pie should be made of fruit freshly picked from your own cherry tree, if that be possible. You should have gazed upon them from the day on which the first tender buds appeared, and have wondered if the frost would come down upon them some night as you slept snugly. You should have inspected the cherry when it resembled a pea, then useful only to the small boy to thrust a pin through to make a dart wherewith to play in school.

Having passed this point, you must have started in upon a neighborhood census of robins. There are millions of them this year. This done, you and your edition of the heroine of the cherry pie verse are ready for business.

For, behold, the trees are groaning, creaking, breaking down with fruit that shames the Christmas tree studded with red sugar plums. And, if you have taken all these precautions, with a mind set on cherry pie, it shall be yours!

A Lesson in Red Ink.

POST HASTE.

The Government should realize its demand that industry expand employment is weakened by its own action in discharging thousands of workers.

The wheat processing charge which is to start July 8 will add $150,000,000 to the American bread bill, but for goodness sake don't ever refer to this as a sales tax.

You must understand that the bread tax is destined to provide a bonus for the farmer, not to mitigate your income tax.

When Italy develops such a fighting man as Primo it may have a bad effect on Benito's peace plans.

Reports from London are somewhat cryptic, but surely by this time the American delegates have learned from Prof. Moley that Congress has adjourned, summer is here and the President is taking a vacation.

We seem to be glorifying in the efforts of the dollar to look like sixbits, and how we used to blush with shame if it were off a fraction of a point.

The veterans maintain their fighting edge. The battle of the bonus will only be suspended while they make the attack to regain lost benefits.

Optimists among the discharged prohibition agents think they will soon be needed to suppress industrial bootlegging under the codes—the pessimists.

As it now appears the administrators will permit cabinet boards to look over the work if they don't take themselves too seriously.

After those first hectic months the President will return to find everything handled by the pro-tems so that he will be able to take two swims a day and sometimes get to bed by midnight.

JUST FOLKS

MISSED OPPORTUNITIES.

Some walk so thickly wrapped in self
And all their petty care
They never see a blossoming tree
And wholly unaware
Of cardinal or throstle song
They trudge their dreary way along.

So muffled up in sordid things
And hopes for gain are they
They never know that violets grow
A few short miles away,
And never guess the deep woods hold
Entrancing pleasures manifold.
They hear the clink of coin 'gainst coin,
Tall buildings cold they see,
But miss the mirth which floods the earth,
As if joy couldn't be,
And never hear along the way
The curious speeches strangers say.

Who stays within the narrow rut
Carved deep by strife and care
Will travel far where roses are
And never know they're there,
For self is like a prison wall

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By Robert Quillen

MY Dear Louise: Forty years ago a certain family in a rural community counted among its members a small girl who approved of herself and little else.

She was a tattle-tale. When she saw one of her brothers or sisters doing anything that was forbidden, she screamed at the top of her voice: "I'm going to tell Mamma." And she invariably did tell.

She was a self-righteous and prim little prig whose chief delight was to search for faults in others and report them so that her own virtue would show the better by contrast.

A spanking might have saved her. She might have learned humility if somebody had told her that her own self-righteousness was a greater fault than any she reported.

But her parents weren't wise enough to enlighten her and she grew up in the complacent belief that she was free of faults in a sinful world.

As the twig is bent, so the tree inclines. What she was as a girl she continued to be as a woman. The only difference was in the breadth of her interests. Whereas she once carried tales about her brothers and sisters, she later became the tale-bearer of the community.

Every community has a few women of this type, whose lives are devoted to the business of suspecting the worst and telling the world about it.

That is what makes them a menace. If they were wild and wicked, they could be pointed out as horrible examples. But their feeling of superiority to a wicked world usually makes them ardent religionists. They take their stand with the righteous and support the cause of the godly.

The result is tragic. They make religion and righteousness seem repulsive. Girls whose minds are clean and generous and tolerant listen to them and say in their hearts: "Heaven keep me from being like that. If that is what religion does to you, I want none of it."

Well, my dear, that isn't what religion does to women. It is what tale-bearing does to them.

Don't gossip. Don't ever gossip. When you fix your mind on the faults of others, you lose the ability to see your own. And you can't pull the weeds out of your garden if you can't recognize weeds. Love,

DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Against Inflated Prices.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Gen. Johnson's call for early submission of industrial codes for official approval is the first sign of pressure in the industrial recovery moves. The reasons for the mild threat are obvious, in Gen. Johnson's basic code if not elsewhere. The plan is to put approximately 3,000,000 men back to work by October. The salient note in the basic code, which is emphasized in the general's statement, is adjustment of hours, wages and employment. In other words, the pressure is toward reemployment as soon as possible.

But there is a secondary note which should not be overlooked. Producers are warned that unless prices are kept within bounds and production kept from too rapid an upswing, the plan will be endangered.

Nature Boosts Best.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The processing tax on wheat, which goes into effect at midnight on July 8, will add approximately $150,000,000 to the cost of bread during the next twelve months and will increase the effective price of wheat by 30 cents a bushel, virtually all of which is to be passed along to the farmers. It is a dramatic and determined move. But when compared to what the weather has done for the price of wheat it loses a bit of its dramatic force.

On March 3 wheat was selling in Chicago for 48½ cents a bushel. Now it is selling for around $1 a bushel. In less than four months nature doubled its price.

With-holders.
Louisville Courier-Journal.

Those corporations organized to execute a transfer of stock to evade income tax might be called with-holding companies.

It's a Disease.
Lake Wilson (Minn.) Pilot.

A new Federal law has been passed to regulate the sale of stocks. You may regulate the sale of stocks, but it's hard to regulate the cupidity in mankind. The disease seems to be transmitted from one generation to another. The greed, cupidity and guile of the human race pass all understanding.

Good Wishes to Borah.
Brooklyn Eagle.

Always wanting to be right rather than consistent, not always right, either, Senator Borah has been in one respect better than right—he has been spontaneous, humanly natural, earnest and true of purpose. It is good news that he successfully sustained a surgical operation the other day at Johns Hopkins. His countrymen hope to see him soon a thoroughly well man again and wrestling with affairs in his old way.

The Voice of Integrity.
Detroit News.

Great Britain's attempt to scale down its war debt to the United States gains no sympathy from Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada. Several months ago when the situation became acute Bennett freely expressed the opinion that Britain should pay.

"She should pay because it's the right thing to do," he said. "No nation and no individual should attempt to evade just obligations. Failure of European nations to meet their war debts is very unfair to the people of the United States. It means that in some form of taxation they will be forced to make up the deficit. This simply can't be defended. Canada, fortunately, owes no war debts, but if she did she would pay to the last cent."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. Phillips

MR. TWITCHELL ON SELFISH HUSBANDS.

"Rome, June 30.—Mme. Tetrazzini, noted opera singer, is being sued for divorce by her husband, who charges gross extravagance. He cites her recent purchase of a mountain near Grosseto."—News item.

• • • •

"That gives you an idea just how small some husbands are," said Elmer Twitchell, the eminent defender of extravagance by women, today. "They deny their wives the slightest luxury."

• • • •

"If I was Mme. Tetrazzini," continued Elmer, "I'd tell the old man to go jump off the dock. When a husband gets so stingy that he wants his wife to scrimp in the matter of mountains there is no more happiness under his roof.

• • • •

"Of course, I dunno much about this particular mountain, but if it was becoming to her and she hadn't a lot of other mountains, I think he should have been considerate and let her buy it without squawkin'. I understand it is a very smart-looking mountain, quite unusual in cut and not the sort of mountain you'll find every other woman buying.

• • • •

"My third wife was like that. She never went in for mountains, but she was always running downtown and purchasing a hillside or sumpin. She liked glens, too, and purling brooks and rustic lakes. Every year I had to buy her a new spring waterfall.

• • • •

"It was expensive, but I was never tight with her. Once when she made a trip West and wanted to buy the Grand Canyon I had to call a halt.

• • • •

"We had quite a row and I remember she went into hysterics and called me an old tightwad. She went into all that old stuff about Mrs. Jones' husband buying his wife as many canyons as she wanted, but after a while she calmed down and I compromised by buying her the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara. I thought they suited her peculiar type of beauty better than the Grand Canyon anyway."

• • • •

"What did Mrs. Twitchell do with them?" Elmer was asked.

"Oh, you know how women are. She got tired of the Horseshoe Falls after one season. I personally always thought they looked good on her."

"How about the present Mrs. Twitchell?"

• • • •

"I'm worried about her," confessed Elmer. "She's always been pretty economical in her tastes, but the other day I discovered her looking at the Thousand Islands!"

WHY GOLFERS GO MAD.

I have a little caddie
Who goes around with me,
And what can be the use of him
Is more than I can see.
He's supposed to be a helper
And to steer me clear of woe,
But he really doesn't do it,
For his eye is dull and slow.

One morning, very early,
Just as the sun was up
I drove a ball that sped away
And dropped right in the cup.
My dream of years! A hole in one,
With witness of my shot!
In glee I shouted to the lad—
But he had seen it not.

JOE BEAMISH.

A court has ruled that a golfer is liable for damages if a sliced ball does anybody any harm. A golf slice, the justice ruled, is not an act of God. As golf is played these days, it is an act of God if you get in the fairway.

It is an old man's year on the links. The Hon. Michael Scott took the Dunlap youngster into camp in the British amateur, and it was the venerable Abe Mitchell whose spectacular work cost the Americans the Ryder Cup. It is pretty certain that during the rest of the year it will be quite okay for middle-aged golfers to respond to cries of "Fore!" from impetuous boys by turning around and thumbing their noses.

Mr. J. Henry Roraback, testifying before a Senate committee, denied that he was the political boss of Connecticut, and if you know anything about Connecticut you'll just die laffin.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your article, "Unequal Pensions," appearing in The Post of June 20, is very interesting.

I wish to call your attention to the following inequalities in pensions:

Peace Time Soldiers.		World War Soldiers.
10%	Disability..$6	10%	Disability..$6
25%	Disability..12	25%	Disability..20
50%	Disability..18	50%	Disability..40
75%	Disability..24	75%	Disability..60
100%	Disability..30	100%	Disability..80

Why should there be such discrepancy? If a soldier is wounded in action and becomes disabled for the rest of his life, what difference does it make whether he received his wound while serving with the armed forces of the United States in China, Haiti, Mexico, France, or in any other country? A wound is a wound, regardless of where and when it was received, therefore there should be but one pension law covering them all. A WOUNDED IN ACTION IN PEACE TIME.

British Ambassador Spending Week-End In New York.

THE AMBASSADOR OF Great Britain, Sir Ronald Lindsay, has gone to New York, where he will remain over the week-end. He will return to the embassy Monday or Tuesday.

Mr. Justice James Clark McReynolds sailed from New York on the Majestic for Cherbourg and Southampton. Other passengers aboard the liner were Sir Harold B. Kittermaster, Governor of British Honduras; Mrs. William Brown Meloney, editor; Mrs. Robert Bayard Swope; Mr. James Speyer, financier; Mr. Robert L. Hague, head of the Standard Shipping Corporation, with Mrs. Hague, the former Mary Lewis, opera singer.

The Speaker of the House and Mrs. Henry T. Rainey wil move shortly to Wardman Park Hotel to spend some time before going to their home for the summer.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. William H. Woodin, has gone to New York to spend the week-end with Mrs. Woodin in their home, Dunne House, Easthampton, Long Island. The Secretary is expected to attend a twilight Sunday evening concert of the Manhattan Symphony Orchestra at Westport, Conn., when one of his compositions, "Gallant Tin Soldier," will be played.

Warner—Crocker Wedding Solemnized in Garden.

The wedding of Miss Cynthia Adelbert Crocker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Crocker, to Dr. Harold Ellsworth Warner, son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Lemuel Warner, of Hartford, Conn., took place last evening at 7:30 o'clock in the garden of the home of the bride's parents, where an altar decorated with pink and yellow roses and tall lighted cathedral tapers, stood against a background of dark woods. Baskets of spring flowers marked the aisle. Dr. Joseph Sizoo performed the ceremony. Miss Katherine Riggs was the harpist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin made on the princess style with a train. The sleeves were elbow puffs of Irish point lace. The ivory tulle veil was pleated into a cap of real lace, which had belonged to her grandmother. The bride's only jewel was a blue moonstone and diamond pin, which also had belonged to her grandmother. The bouquet was of white roses and maidenhair fern.

The maid of honor, Miss Marcia Elisabeth Crocker, young sister of the bride, wore a dress of white mousseline de soie embroidered in green with a rainbow sash of pink, yellow and green. Her large white horse hair hat was trimmed with flowers of pink, yellow and green, and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and pink larkspur. The bridesmaid, Miss Helen McLachlen, wore a dress of yellow mousseline de soie with a cape made similar to that of the maid of honor. Her large white hat was trimmed with flowers of the pastel shades and she carried pink butterfly roses.

The best man was Dr. Ellis Haworth, and the usher was Mr. J. Allen Crocker, brother of the bride. A reception was held in the garden following the ceremony. Mrs. Crocker, mother of the bride, was dressed in white crepe flowered in yellow and black, a white jacket trimmed with jade green buttons, with short, full sleeves. Her hat of green horse hair was trimmed with white ribbon, and her corsage was of yellow pernet and lilies of the valley.

Dr. Warner and his bride left after the reception and will sail from Philadelphia today for Boston. After October 1 they will be at home at 1405 Emerson street.

Mrs. Warner wore a traveling costume of navy blue sheer crepe, the jacket having cape sleeves. Her hat was a navy blue sailor with a veil, and her gloves were of yellow pique. The shoes and bag were of navy blue pigskin.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Bates, uncle and aunt of the bride; Miss Grace Dick, of Avoca, Pa.; Miss Florence Ueberroth, of Bethlehem, Pa.; Miss Esther L. Dorr, of Syracuse, N. Y., all college classmates of the bride; Mrs. Julius Payne and Miss Eleanor Payne, of Philadelphia; Mr. Stanley Hunsberger, of Philadelphia, and Miss Marjory MacIntyre, of Sunberg, Pa.

For the last three years, Mrs. Warner has been an instructor in dietetics at Sibley Memorial Hospital. She has been active in Girl Scout work for 13 years, being supervising captain of three troops in the District of Columbia during the past year. Her Golden Eaglet was conferred at a special court of awards in 1926 by Mrs. Herbert Hoover. Mrs Warner is a member of the Elmira College Club, of the A. A. U. W., of the National Dietetics' Association, and of the Dietetics' Association of the District of Columbia. She belongs to the Alpha Chapter of Phi Delta Gamma, national graduate professional sorority. Mrs. Warner was graduated from Elmira College in 1930, and received her master's degree from the American University last June.

Dr. Warner attended the University of Colorado for two years, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He holds the degrees of A. B., A. M., and Ph. D., from George Washington University. He is a member of the Federal Schoolman's Club of Washington, and is president of the Education Association of the District of Columbia. Dr. Warner is Principal of the Hine Junior High School, and a lecturer in education at the Graduate School of American University.

Ruth W. Irwin Wed To Ralph Swift Johnson.

The wedding of Miss Ruth White Irwin, daughter of Mrs. Louise White Irwin, to Mr. Ralph Swift Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Johnson, of Glen Rock, N. J., took place yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's grandfather, Commander William W. White, U. S. N., retired. The Rev. Robert J. Shores officiated. The house was decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her mother. She wore a gown of white mousseline de soie and a large white hat and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony a small informal reception was held. Later Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a suit of blue triple sheer crepe with hat to match. They will make their home at Croydon Hall, Lynbrook, Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bourke, of Lanier place, left yesterday for Ventnor, N. J., where they will spend the summer. Their son, Evans, accompanied them.

Helen E. Nordlinger Married In Carlton Hotel Patio.

The patio of the Carlton Hotel was the scene of a charming wedding yesterday at noon, when Miss Helen Estelle Nordlinger, daughter of Mrs. Estelle Nordlinger, became the bride of Mr. Louis Marks, of Reading, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Marks, of Nashville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Julius Marks, of Nashville, Tenn., before an improvised altar of palms and ferns, flanked by huge urns filled with summer blooms, with candelabra of lighted cathedral candles in the background.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Walter Nordlinger, wore a gown of heavy white lace, made on princess lines, with a long circular train and long sleeves, puffing above the elbows. Her veil of net, with a panel of antique rose point lace, cascaded from a turban of the same lace, caught in the back by orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of Easter lilies.

Mrs. Howard Nordlinger, the only attendant to the bride, who was matron of honor for her sister-in-law, was gowned in figured crepe, trimmed in organdy, the predominant color of which, cornflower blue, was taken for her large hat and accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses and blue delphinium.

Mr. Charles Marks, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers included Mr. Howard Nordlinger, brother of the bride; Mr. Samuel S. Kaufman, Mr. Joseph Morse, jr., of Nashville, and Mr. Carl Zibart.

Mrs. Nordlinger, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black, sheer crepe, with a yoke and sleeves of Alencon lace and a small black hat. Mrs. Sigmund Marks was gowned in flesh chiffon, with a large brown straw hat.

Following the wedding breakfast for the members of the immediate families, Mr. Marks and his bride departed for Virginia Beach, the latter wearing an ensemble of brown and white triple sheer crepe and white linen, with matching accessories.

Mrs. Marks was a member of the 1933 graduating class of American University. Mr. Marks is an alumnus of Vanderbilt University, being a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Zeta Beta Tau fraternities, and is at present engaged in business in Reading, Pa., where the couple will be at home after July 15.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Dorothy Marks, sister of the bridegroom, Mr. Sigmund Marks, Mr. Leon Reid, of New York; Mrs. Harry Hellbrun and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Terry, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Miss Nell Moley, sister of Prof. Raymond Moley, has arrived from her home in Berea, Ohio, and is at the Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marshall have gone to the cottage on Chesapeake bay which they have leased.

Leah Guggenheim Bride Of Jeffrey A. Abel.

The marriage of Miss Leah Guggenheim, daughter of Mrs. Sydney Guggenheim, to Mr. Jeffrey Arthur Abel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Abel, took place yesterday at noon at the home of the bride's mother, at 4700 Connecticut avenue, with the Rev. Philip Bookstaber, of Harrisburg, officiating.

The members of the immediate family only were present, and the bride, unattended, was given in marriage by her mother. The bride was married in her traveling costume of brown and white, with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of gardenias. Mr. Stanford Abel was best man for his brother.

The couple departed immediately after the ceremony for New York, and yesterday sailed aboard the Queen of Bermuda for a wedding trip in the Bermudas. Upon their return they will make their home at 4700 Connecticut avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop P. Hill have motored to their country home, Hillbrow, at Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., where they will stay until after the Fourth of July. Mr. and Mrs. Ashmead Fuller and Dr. and Mrs. William A. Morgan are visiting them. Mr. William N. Sturtevant will motor there today for the week-end, and will later go to Haven, Me., to join Mrs. Sturtevant and their two sons.

Mr. Sydney Rhodes Prince and his son, Mr. Gregory Smith Prince, will sail today from New York on the Lafayette, of the French Lines, to spend several weeks in Europe.

The Rev. Arthur A. Vaschalde, of the Catholic University, will sail today on the Lafayette, of the French Lines, for Europe.

Mrs. Roger Robb and her infant son, Charles Cooper Robb, have gone to Sewickley, Pa., to stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howell C. Cooper. While they are away, Mr. Robb, son of Justice and Mrs. Charles H. Robb, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Gasch at their camp in Virginia.

Mrs. Thomas G. Mangan, jr., accompanied by her children, Barbara, Thomas 3d and Joanna, will go to Ventnor, N. J., in a few days to occupy the cottage they have taken for the summer. Mr. Mangan will join them for week-ends at the New Jersey resort. Mrs. Mangan will return to Washington tomorrow from New York, where she went to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Haas, sail for Europe yesterday.

Mr. William McClellan Ritter, who has been attending the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, will return to Washington today for a stay of a few hours before joining Mrs. Ritter at their summer home, Macanita Cottage, Osterville, Mass.

Miss Margaret McKinley, daughter of the Adjutant General of the Army and Mrs. James Fuller McKinley, has selected July 28 for the date of her marriage to Lieut. Cogswell Oakes, U. S. A., son of Col. John Calvin Oakes, U. S. A., and Mrs. Oakes, of Charleston, S. C.

The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Thirty-sixth place.

Programs at Capital Churches

Patriotic Service at Universalist Church.

The Rev. Roger F. Etz, of Boston, general superintendent of the Universalist Church, will be the preacher tomorrow in the Universalist National Memorial Church at the second of the union summer services in which this church is joining with All Souls Unitarian and Mount Pleasant Congregational Churches. The service will be of a patriotic character in preparation for the celebration of Independence Day.

Dr. Albert W. Harned, choirmaster, has prepared a program of special music for the service. It will include as a processional hymn "God of Our Fathers," written for the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876; Martin's "Hail, Gladdening Light," an anthem setting of John Addington Symond's hymn, "These Things Shall Be," and the choral from Bloch's "America Symphony." During the church service there will be a kindergarten for children. On Thursday at 7:30 the Boy Scout Troop will meet in the parish house.

Dr. Etz will preach again at the union service on July 9.

Healing Evangelist Preaches At Gospel Tabernacle.

An unusual gospel feast is being spread at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, during the anniversary convention now going on, with a number of special speakers. The convention evangelist, C. S. Tubby, of Canada, is attracting increasing numbers nightly by his prophetic and evangelistic messages, many of which are illustrated by large pictorial charts.

A feature of the services has been the testimony of many who have been instantaneously healed of pain and illness after prayer by the evangelist. A special Healing Service is held Thursdays at 7:45, for all the sick.

A special interdenominational services will be held July 4, with a Sacred Patriotic Concert by the Tabernacle Band at 7:15 p. m., and messages by the evangelist.

Rev. Samuel Allison New Covenant-First Assistant.

The Rev. Samuel Allison is the new assistant to Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Allison will fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the Rev. J. Woodman Babbitt. Mr. Allison graduated from the Princeton Theological Seminary last summer and comes to Washington from Philadelphia, where he has been acting minister for the Susquehanna Avenue Presbyterian Church. During his theological course he served as assistant minister to the Rev. John MacMillan in Atlantic City. He is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson College.

The Rev. Allison will be in charge during the absence of the pastor after July 15. He will concentrate upon the organization of the various young people's groups in connection with the church. He commences his work Sunday, July 2.

COOLIDGE'S PEW

Vacation Bible School At Central Presbyterian.

A Vacation Bible School is now in progress at the Central Presbyterian Church, with an enrollment of over one hundred. Classes for children and young people from four to sixteen years of age are held daily, in Bible, in missions and in music; and in addition there is a period for handiwork and a period for supervised recreation on the large lawn which forms a part of the church property.

Dr. James H. Taylor, pastor of the church, is attending the Pan Presbyterian Council, which is now in session at Belfast, Ireland. During his absence the pulpit is being supplied by F. V. Poag.

"Jesus the Friend." Subject of Dr. Copenhaver's Sermon.

Dr. John C. Copenhaver, pastor, will preach tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Thirteenth street and North Carolina avenue northeast, and will administer the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. His sermon subject will be "Jesus the Friend."

The annual custom of combining the evening services will be started tomorrow evening at 7:30, when Mr. Leslie Allen will be the leader of the service, after which Dr. Copenhaver will preach, taking as his subject "The Patriot." This plan will continue until early in September.

Dr. Hutchinson to Preach On "Jesus Only."

Dr. Forney Hutchinson will preach both the morning and evening service tomorrow. At the morning service his topic is "Jesus Only!" and for the evening, "Songs in the Night!" The choir, under the direction of Mr. Shure, will sing anthems at each service.

The second of the series of Evenings of Music planned by the Mount Vernon School of Music will be given on Wednesday, July 5, at 8:15 p. m., with Mildred Mulliken, organist, and Madeline Padgett, soprano.

Church of the Ascension To Have July 4 Service.

The Church of the Ascension, Massachusetts avenue, at Twelfth street, will have a celebration of the Holy Communion on July 4 at 10 a. m. There will be no sermon at this service, but it will be an occasion of intercession and prayer, that God the Father may guide the Nation and those in authority into the way of truth and happiness, prosperity and peace.

"Nation and The Crisis" Tomorrow's Topic of Dr. Sizoo.

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo will have for his subject, "The Nation and the Crisis," tomorrow morning at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. The Young People's Society for Christian Endeavor will meet in the evening at 7 o'clock, when Dr. Sizoo will speak on "What the Church Expects of the Christian Endeavor."

The Sunday evening Vesper Service will be observed at 8 o'clock. Dr. Sizoo will deliver the meditation at this service.

Bishop Freeman to Deliver Patriotic Sermon Tomorrow.

The sermon in commemoration of Independence Day at the people's evensong service in the great choir of Washington Cathedral tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock will be delivered by Bishop James Edward Freeman, who has returned to the city unexpectedly from his summer home in Sorrento, Me. Music appropriate to the occasion will be rendered by the Cathedral choir.

The preacher at the celebration of Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. will be Canon Anson Phelps Stokes, who returns to Washington today after a year's absence. He will be in residence at the College of Preachers during July and preach at several of the Cathedral services. During the year Canon Stokes has visited the universities of the Union of South Africa as lecturer for the Carnegie Corporation, traveled the length of the African continent to inspect the work of the Phelps Stokes Fund and other agencies in educational and interracial work, and for the last six months has been in Provence, France, working on his book, "The History of the University Movement."

First Congregational Church Honors Coolidge Pew.

Dr. Allan A. Stockdale, minister of the First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets northwest, tomorrow morning will preach on "The Ministry of Silence." In the absence of the organist, Paul DeLong Gable, Miss Florence Reynolds will be at the console. The service is at 11 o'clock. There will be no service in the evening at 8 o'clock.

The bronze plate, presented by the choir to the church, as a marker for the pew occupied by President Coolidge and his family during their residence in Washington, has been placed on the pew. The inscription reads: "Calvin Coolidge, August, 1923—March, 1929. President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge were loyal members and faithful attendants."

"Dwelling in the Dawn" Theme of Mr. Bird's Sermon.

"Dwelling in the Dawn" is the theme of the sermon that the minister, the Rev. Andrew R. Bird, will preach at the morning service at the Church of the Pilgrims, on the Parkway, at Twenty-second and P streets northwest. At the evenign service at 8 o'clock the minister will preach on "Singing Amid Life's Shadows."

On Thursday, July 6, at 8 p. m. the weekly gathering for prayer will take place in the chapel, followed by a lecture on "Opportunity Confronting the Church in America Today." Appearing Each Saturday in The Washington Post

POST PRIZE IS WON BY "CHERRY OLIVES"

Woodstock Woman's Recipe for Canned Delicacy Awarded $5.

An interesting preparation will result from the putting to use of this week's Post prize recipe. It was submitted by Mrs. Harry Sheets, of Woodstock, Va., and is for "Cherry Olives." She wins the $5 prize.

All formulas which are submitted in the weekly contests of The Post must use as an ingredient some product which is handled by the advertisers of the Saturday Food and Home Economics' Page of the paper.

Mrs. Sheets recipe follows:

Choose ripe, perfect cherries with stems on. Sour cherries are preferable. Wash and pack carefully in glass jars.

Allow two tablespoons vinegar and one teaspoon salt to each pint of fruit. Fill up jar with cold soft water and seal.

These may be used within a few days or they may be kept indefinitely. They make a good accompaniment to the meat course besides making a novel and attractive garnish. All ingredients may be purchased at the Sanitary Grocery.

The Meanderer

Recommends Ready-Made Picnic Dinner—And Ready-Made Foods for the Pantry Shelf.

"Just fix up a few sandwiches" may sound like light work for the homemaker. Privately the Meanderer thinks making sandwiches are much more trouble than cooking a steak. If the family would be satisfied with a few sandwiches, it wouldn't be such a fallacy to treat picnics as a matter of labor-saving for the cook. But families think mother hasn't planned well if there is not a sizable stack of sandwiches and accompaniments. The "so-what" the Meanderer would present is the readymade picnic basket two popular downtown bakeries are introducing. It contains a cooked picnic ham, a pint of potato salad, a pint of cole slaw, a dozen sandwich buns, a loaf of rye bread and a half dozen cup cakes. If the food items were bought separately in the shops, the cost would be $1.70, while the special picnic-box price is $1.49.

Meat loaves and individual chicken pies also are ready for picknickers in the shops just mentioned. Individual fruit pies for 5 cents each are quick sellers from the same food counters.

Plenty of consideration for the plight of the housewife in summer, when cooking is an uncomfortable duty, is apparent on the shelves of a food shop in the heart of a big department store. The Meanderer will list some of the foods ready to serve, which the housewife may order from the big department store, just as she would order a hat or a dress (and, incidentally charge them to her store account as readily as she charges anything else).

Lobster, crab meat, shad roe, shirmps, tuna fish, kippered herring, choice sardines, some of them in tomato sauce; canned ham, canned tongue, sauerkraut and frankfurters, chicken and noodles in glass jars; a rice and chicken dinner in jars; a chowmein dinner package with the sprouts, celery and meat in a jar, the noodles dry and the imported sauce in a bottle included in the package; kidney, lamb or beefstew in cans and a well-seasoned spaghetti dinner in glass jars.

English mustard pickles, watermelon pickles, special mayonnaise, to which fruit juices have been added for fruit salads; a tartar sauce that has no onions in its mixture, but chopped olives instead, and pitted olives, which the menu planner may want to stuff with special stuffings, are among the delightful "tangy" things that will give relish to the most commonplace menu.

Six Days to Be Limit On P. U. C. Furloughs

Public Utilities Commission employes were told yesterday by Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, that the extent of the rotative furlough to be imposed on them would not exceed six days. His announcement came during a ceremony marking the retirement of William H. Terrell, colored laboratory assistant in the gas inspection bureau.

Terrel was given a gold watch by his fellow employes. He has been in the District service 28 years.

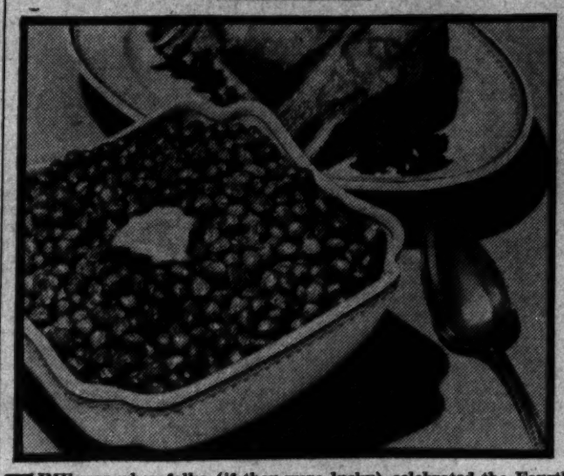
WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

DURING LENGTHENED SEASON GREEN PEAS SCORE BIG HIT

By Ann Barrett



TIME was when folks (if they were lucky) celebrated the Fourth of July with the first mess of green peas out of their own gardens. Then a few short weeks and the fun was over. Nowadays, peas are in the market pretty generally all spring and summer.

So golf-champ Helen Hicks can have more shots at that combination she dotes on—filet mignon and green peas. And Carveth Wells, explorer and lecturer, can have more chicken croquettes banked up with green peas.

Cooking Tips

And a good time may be had by all of us, for weeks to come, if we don't spoil our peas by cooking them too long, or in too much water. If peas are fresh and not too old, 15 minutes should tender them. Use as little water as possible, have it boiling when you put the peas in, and salt it lightly during the last few minutes of cooking (½ teaspoon salt to 2 cups peas). If you should suspect your peas of having lost their sweetness through old age, you can restore some of it by adding 1 teaspoon of sugar to the water (for each 2 cups of peas). Steaming peas is a good way to treat them, too. So is cooking them (with seasoning) tied in squares of parchment cooking paper.

Seasoning (besides salt and pepper) may be butter or cream—say 1 tablespoon to each cup of peas. As with every green vegetable, peas taste best when they stand in their seasonings 3 or 4 minutes, so as to be well flavored.

English Peas

An English way of seasoning peas is to cook them with mint, like this: Put 2 cups of very young, tender peas into a glass jar (that has a tight cover) with 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon chopped mint. Cover jar tightly. Then set it on muffin ring or small block of wood in kettle of boiling water. (Water should come up halfway up on jar). Keep water boiling hard 30 to 60 minutes. Peas may also be cooked this way in parchment cooking paper.

Chicken Croquettes With Peas

Peas make pet combinations with filet mignon (or steak), with salmon (either hot or in salad) and with chicken — especially chicken croquettes.

So here's a recipe for melt-in-the-mouth chicken croquettes: First, gently cook ½ cup minced mushrooms in 2 tablespoons butter about 2 minutes. Combine this with 1 cup minced cooked chicken. 1 teaspoon minced parsley and ½ cup very thick white sauce (made with 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk—scant measurements, if you're not to have too much). Season mixture to taste, and cook a few minutes over low fire. Then cool mixture and form into croquettes. Roll these in fine crumbs, dip in egg, shake off excess egg, and roll again in fine crumbs. Fry till light brown in deep fat at 390 F. (hot enough to brown cube of bread in 40 seconds). Serve with green peas either plain or in a thin white sauce.

Send for Chicken Recipes.

In case you'd like to celebrate the Fourth of July (or some other day) with green peas and chicken in some other role—say fried or broiled or done in a Dutch oven—you'll find our newest bulletin "World-Famous Ways to Cook Chicken" a big help.

D. C. Approves Plan For Summer Camps

The District Commissioners yesterday approved a tentative plan for operating Camps Good Will and Pleasant during the summer for the use of charitable agencies desiring to sponsor daily outings. Miss Sibyl Baker, director of playgrounds, will supervise the play facilities.

The camps in the past have been operated by the Associated Charities, but this summer the organization is without funds to reopen them. Camp Good Will, for white children, is in Rock Creek Park, while Camp Pleasant, for colored children, is near Blue Plains, Va.

Republicans of Fairfax Elect Delegates Tonight

Dr. F. M. Brooks, chairman of the Fairfax County Republican executive committee, has issued a call for a county Republican convention tonight in the courthouse at Fairfax, Va. The purpose of the convention is the selection of 27 delegates and 27 alternates to the State Republican convention, in Lynchburg, next Monday and Tuesday.

A candidate to run in the general election in November against the Democratic nominee for delegate to the State Assembly from Fairfax County will also be selected.

G. R. Newman Elected Bible Institute Head

G. R. Newman was elected president of the J. B. Henderson Memorial Bible Institute, Inc., at the annual election yesterday. H. M. Winder was named vice president; Miss Elmira Newman, secretary; William Newman, assistant secretary, and Mabel Washington, treasurer.

It was also announced that a campaign to raise $12,000 to finance and equip a building for the institute is now under way, and voluntary contributions are being solicited from individuals and churches.

Auxiliary of V. F. W. Here Chooses Officers

Mrs. Clay Keene Miller, of 3918 Ingomar street northwest, has been elected department president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, recently organized in the District.

Other officers included Roberta Fawcett, senior vice president; Katherine Lawson, junior vice president; Adelaide Grant, treasurer; Rose Lubkerk, chaplain; Florence Morris, conductress, and Mary Dove, guard.

PUBLIC WORKS DRIVE MAY LEAD TO BOOM

Standard Statistics Likens Program's Possibilities to "War Baby" Days.

By Lawrence Sullivan.

Public works expenditures under the recovery act involve a potential duplication of the "war babies" boom experienced in the United States in 1915-17, when the European governments were placing gigantic orders here.

This summary of the possibilities of the program now under way was made public yesterday by Standard Statistics Co.

Almost simultaneously, the new Public Works Administration, in the Interior Building, announced that work would begin immediately throughout the country under the $400,000,000 public roads authorization.

Jobs For 100,000.

Director Sawyer estimated that the roads program alone would provide a little more than 9,000,000 man-weeks' work. He predicted that 100,000 men now unemployed would be put to work on new highways and forest trails during the next six weeks.

The Standard Statistics' survey points out that the total spending of the allied governments in the United States in the two years ended April, 1917—when this country entered the war—was approximately $4,600,000,000, or at the rate of $2,300,000,000 annually.

It is then recalled that the European orders were the factor which snapped American industry from a distressing slough of depression to unprecedented heights of industrial activity within a year.

Billion for Year.

Although the survey does not take account of the fact that it will not be physically possible to inaugurate work within two years to use up the entire sum available in a public works authorization of $3,300,000,000, this suggestion from other sources still contemplates the expenditure of about $1,000,000,000 under the forced expansion program during the fiscal year 1934, which starts today.

"The program of Government buying, building and borrowing has points of resemblance to the 'war babies' boom of 1915-17," the Standard Statistics' survey says.

"A total of $3,300,000,000 has been authorized for public works in various forms. A comparison of this amount with the sums spent by the allies in the United States during the early years of the war indicates the magnitude of the potential stimulus to business."

Borrowings of Nations.

"During the first two years of the struggle, France borrowed in the United States, $694,000,000; Russia, $136,000,000, and Great Britain, $1,065,000,000, a total of $1,895,000,000.

"In addition large amounts of American securities held abroad were mobilized and resold in this country. England's mobilization of dollar issues, by loan to or purchase by the Treasury, amounted to $1,221,000,000, in addition to which $1,635,000,000 of sterling securities, figured at the pre-war value of the pound, were gathered in. A large part of both descriptions was pledged to secure borrowings in the United States, leaving, say, $1,800,000,000 for sale. France also mobilized approximately 2,000,000,000 francs representing French investments abroad, but how many of these found their way to America can not be determined. During 1915 and 1916, gold imports into this country totalled $950,000,000.

"Disregarding the numerous invisible or untraceable items in the international balance of payments, it appears that foreign countries had available for war time purchases in the United States upward of $4,600,000,000 in the two years ended April, 1917. How far this total is comparable with prospective expenditures on public works will depend on the amount and speed of expenditure under the existing $3,300,000,000 authorization."

Bulk for Wages.

Director Sawyer's road-building survey emphasized that in such work between 80 and 90 per cent of the entire expenditure goes directly for wages.

"At least 100,000 men will be at work within six weeks," Mr. Sawyer continued. "The number of newly employed men will increase steadily as State and local highway programs develop and win approval.

"The advent of cold weather will not halt this work, for Federal highway engineers are perfecting methods for modifying the effects of low temperatures upon roads under construction."

Under the law not more than 50 per cent of the funds allocated may be used for extension of existing Federal-aid highway systems. The remaining half of all available funds must be devoted to feeder roads and the improvement of established routes through municipalities.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Hardware—Dealers' purchases to increase stocks are said to have been an important factor in the pronounced improvement in wholesale market during the past two months.

Furniture—The trade hears that orders recently booked by some wholesalers ran 50 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Grocery trade—Wholesalers are said to be experiencing an increased demand based on the steady advance in quotations. Order for teas and spices are running in good volume for immediate needs and the future.

Heavy chemicals—In most products demand continues active. Soda ash and arsenic are moving out in good volume to the glass industry.

Lead—Sales for July shipment are estimated at about 35,000 tons, against 28,000 tons sold for July. Corroders have been active buyers during the past week.

Copper Stocks Top 1,200,000,000 Units

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Dow, Jones & Co. today estimated that stocks of refined copper in the United States declined about 40,000,000 pounds in June, which was also the amount of decrease for May.

Refined stocks in this country are now around 1,200,000,000 pounds, but sales and open contracts would bring unsold metal in producers' hands at present to about 700,000,000 pounds. The agency said there had been a heavy demand for tubes and sheets, due partly to the operations of breweries, although a large increase in general orders for copper and brass had taken place.

BONDS CLIMB AGAIN TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—A late rally in rail loans, which had lagged earlier in today's session, enabled the bond market to finish on a firm level.

The carriers responded briskly to the freight carloadings report for the week ended June 24, which made the best showing of any week this year. With traffic apparently gaining daily, holders of rail liens anticipate that interest payments on some recently shaky issues can be met without difficulty.

Among the most active gainers of 1 to 3 or more point in the transportation list were some bonds of Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Central Pacific, St. Paul, Chicago & North Western, Rock Island, Erie, Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville, N. Y. Central, Southern and Wabash. Louisville & Nashville 5s of 1941 had an exceptional advance of 11½ points.

Aside from a few specialties, the utilities and industrials were not unduly enthusiastic. American Metal 5½s were up 4½ points, McKesson 5½s gained 6, McCrory Stores 5½s advanced 3½, Warren Bros. 6s dropped 6½ points, United Drug 5s lost 2, and Columbia Gas 5s yielded 1.

Foreign obligations were quiet and irregular and United States Government securities were dull and barely steady. French issues were off 2½ to 3½ points and some of the Japanese lost 1 to 4. German government 5½s gained a point, but other Reich loans were mixed.

Sales totaled $15,337,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced three-tenths of a point to 79, another new high mark for the year.

Business Notes

Virginia Beach, Va., June 30 (A.P.).—President A. B. Carrington of the Tobacco Association of the United States told the association's members in convention today that the tobacco trade's financial position was "much better than it has been for a number of years."

Wilmington, Del., June 30 (A.P.).—The Du Pont de Nemours Co. has announced an "upward readjustment" of pay for 650 employes of the Du Pont Building Corporation and the Hotel Du Pont Co. The corporation previously advanced pay for 13,000 workers in four States. No further details were announced regarding the increases for the 650 workers.

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—The Republican Engineering News-Record reported today the "first tendency of an upturn since 1931 in private engineering construction. The report said private awards have averaged $13,600,000 weekly in June and listed both public and private contracts at $22,822,000 for the week ended June 26.

Waterloo, Iowa, June 30 (A.P.).—The Chamberlain Corporation, manufacturing washing machine wringers, will increase wages 5 to 15 per cent tomorrow, Floyd L. Chamberlain, president, announced. Previous reductions were not given. The change will benefit more than 200 employes. The company's business for the first five months of 1933 has increased 49 per cent in dollars and 59 per cent in units over the corresponding period of 1932, Mr. Chamberlain said.

Stocks Resume Rise Under Lead of Rails

Drifts to Lower Levels Changed in Late Trading; Average Gain Is 1.4 Points; Sales Volume Totals 3,700,720 Shares

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Financial markets turned the page on a strenuous half year with a general net appreciation in grain and security prices as the day's contribution to accomplishments of the last three months.

Stocks drifted lazily lower until afternoon when rails led a rally that helped other divisions.

Until the late rally stocks moved higher only in spots. Canada Dry, American Rolling Mill, Homestake, Hercules Powder, McIntyre, Dome, Crown Cork and a few coppers were favorites, some of them doing extremely well. When virtually all the leading carrier issues took a spurt that netted gains of 1 to more than 4, lagging industrials firmed.

American, Westinghouse, Du Pont, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears-Roebuck, Harvester, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, United Carbon, Baldwin Locomotive, Bohn Aluminum, International Cement and International Silver closed with gains of 1 to 3. American Telephone and Public Service of New Jersey added more than a point; otherwise utilities were sluggish. Transactions totaled 3,700,720 shares, the week's smallest turnover.

Carrier equities had their lift in advance of the weekly carloadings statement which appeared just at the close instead of on Saturday, as is usual.

Current business reviews comment on the proportions which the trade recovery has assumed as industry moves into the second half of 1933. The National City Bank's survey of conditions believes that the direct effect of the dollar depreciation has been "very limited," and calls the improvement since mid-March "the most impressive showing" ever witnessed in the United States in a comparable period. Dun & Bradstreet's weekly analysis says the momentum of the upswing is "doubtless without parallel in the history of the country," asserting that some trades are now feeling an actual shortage of goods.

Greensboro Is Selected As New Bank Location

Raleigh, N. C., June 30 (A.P.).—Greensboro today was selected to be the home office of a new State-wide bank to be organized from the Page Trust Co., North Carolina Bank & Trust Co., and Independence Trust Co.

Committees representing each of the old banks, which are now in liquidation, picked Greensboro to be the general office for the new institution, which will have $1,500,000 capital. The groups voted to name the new institution the Guaranty Bank.

Stocks.

After drifting lower in early trading, stocks advanced strongly near the close. The average gain was 1.4 points. Before the final rally, the market swung upward in spots. Sales dwindled to 3,700,720 shares.

Bonds.

A late rally in railway loans turned the tide and bonds finished three-tenths of a point higher. Foreign issues were quiet. Sales totaled $15,337,000.

Curb.

Trading milled about the uncertainty, with the exception of mines and specialties, until late in the session. Prices were irregularly higher at closing. Sales volume dropped to 515,000 shares.

Wheat.

Fears of new heat waves and crop losses combined to send wheat higher. May passed the dollar mark. Corn and oats followed the advance. July wheat sold at 90½ to 90¾ cents.

Cotton.

Early declines of 26 to 31 points were almost recovered in late rallies on improved demand and buying. The general market was 2 to 3 points down at the close. October sold at 10.27; July at 9.99. Liverpool joined in the selling. Prices there were 4 points lower.

Rubber.

Sugar.

Raw sugar was quiet. Dealers were standing on 3.45 as the price. Refined sold at 4.60.

Coffee.

Spot coffee was quiet. Rio No. 7 sold at 7@7⅛; Santos No. 4, at 8@8¾.

Silver.

Gold.

Dollar.

The United States dollar improved slightly on foreign exchanges. It stood, with reference to other currencies, $4.28 to the English pound; 4.94½ cents to the French franc, and 30 cents to the German mark.

Grain Man Is Selected To Buy Wheat for China

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 30.—J. J. Lavin, well known grain man of the West, has accepted the position of Pacific Coast representative of the Chinese government agency, which will purchase 15,000,000 bushels of wheat or its equivalent under the provisions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan arranged for that purpose.

He resigned as president of the Rocky Mountain Elevator Co., of Great Falls, Mont., to accept this new position. Mr. Lavin has long been prominently identified in the grain and flour business on the Pacific Coast, having represented various large grain buying interests during the period of the World War and having been associated with leading grain interests of the Pacific Northwest ever since.

Commercial Solvents To Buy Alcohol Plants

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—The Commercial Solvents Corporation, it was announced today, has entered into an agreement to purchase from the Rossville Alcohol & Chemical Corporation, the latter's industrial alcohol business, the New Orleans plants, the plant of the California subsidiary and certain of the current and working assets of the corporation and its subsidiaries, including inventories.

The consideration involved in the deal, it was stated, is 105,000 shares of Commercial Solvents stock and cash in the amount of the book value of the current and working assets, which are to be taken over from Rossville. A special meeting of preferred and common stockholders of Rossville has been called for July 18, to approve the transaction.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading was quietest on the stock exchange today and prices were unsettled owing to the fluctuation in exchange rates. Gilt-edged securities hardened on investment buying and Kaffirs were supported by South Africans. Industrials and oils were easy and Transatlantic shares were quiet with the exception of International Nickel, which advanced 1 point. The closing was irregular.

Paris—The unloading of holdings by speculators disturbed by money fluctuations coincident with month-end liquidations forced prices lower. The closing was heavy.

Berlin—Prices were unsettled and closed weaker on the boerse.

CURB PRICES HIGHER IN IRREGULAR SALES

Mine Issues and Specialties Popular in Sales of 515,000 Shares.

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—The Curb Market milled about in quiet trading today to record unimportant changes, except in some of the mining shares and a few specialties. Prices were irregularly higher at the finish, late buying having carried the market upward from a reaction in the forenoon.

Distillery issues were again rather quiet. Distillers Corporation-Seagrams lost nearly a point, while others showed a scant change. Utilities were generally steady to fractionally higher, while oils were in better demand than in recent sessions. Humble Oil rose a point, but other gains were mostly of fractional proportion.

Safety Car Heating soared 10½ points in a small turnover. Glen Alden Coal and Pan-American Airways rose about 2 points each, while National Steel Car and Sherwin Williams were reactionary. The Celanese issues were rather heavy.

In the mining group, Lake Shore and Newmont firmed around 2 points each. Pioneer Gold was a shade higher, transfers totaling 515,000 shares, compared with 582,000 Thursday.

Output of Lumber Sets High Record

Lumber production during the week ended June 24, 1933, overtopped all records since September, 1931, and lumber shipments since July, 1931; new business, though a trifle under that of the week ended June 10, 1933, was otherwise largest in volume since December, 1930, according to telegraphic reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association from regional associations covering the operations of 648 leading soft-wood and hardwood mills. Production totaled 186,116,000 feet; shipments, 225,087,000 feet; orders, 253,091,000 feet.

All reporting regions showed excess of new business over production except the Northern pine, where production is seasonally heavy. Soft-wood orders were 32 per cent above production and hardwood orders 75 per cent above hardwood output. Although all regions showed heavy order reports, those of Western pine mills made a new record at 65,885,000 feet. For the 25 weeks of 1933 to date, orders were 41 per cent above production and shipments were 26 per cent above.

Compared with last year, production was 53 per cent greater than in the corresponding week of 1932; shipments were 68 per cent heavier, orders 90 per cent greater. All regions showed gain over last year in all items. For the 25 weeks of the year to date production was 2 per cent above that of similar period of last year; shipments were 1.5 per cent heavier, orders 18 per cent larger.

CREDIT BANKS STATEMENT.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 30.—Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent for the 12 Federal intermediate credit banks which were created under the act of January 23, 1923 to provide agricultural credit for an intermediate period, made public today the consolidated statement of these banks as of May 31, 1933.

The report shows total assets of $134,771,246, including loans and discounts of $82,668,094, U. S. Government securities of $29,622,050, other securities in the amount of $7,921,178, cash deposits for matured debentures of the banks amounting to $50,937, and cash on hand and in banks of $6,894,093. These quick or current assets total $119,327,315, compared with quick or current liabilities of $58,958,374. The latter consist of $58,711,205 of unmatured debentures of the banks, $50,000 of matured debentures, and $197,169 notes and accounts payable.

The entire capital stock of the banks is owned by the U. S. Treasury. The authorized capital of each bank is $5,000,000, or a total of $60,000,000.

The total sale of debentures in 1932 was $215,120,000. Since January 1, 1933, a total of $48,370,000 of debentures has been retired to date.

The foregoing figures, according to Mr. Dunn, indicate a very strong liquid condition. Loan collections he reported as having held up surprisingly well in all sections of the country. With higher prices for farm produce now prevailing, the farmer will be in still better position to meet his obligations, Mr. Dunn said, adding:

"There has been a continued demand for the banks' collateral trust debentures from corporations, institutions and individuals, particularly from corporations and institutions. Recent legislation by Congress may be considered most favorable from the standpoint of the service and usefulness of the Federal intermediate credit banks."

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for June 26 were $80,646,136.30; expenditures, $118,697,928.93; balance, $899,342,301.78. Custom duties for 28 days of June, $20,491,234.44.

Lumber Leaders Start Code Draft

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Advised by a Government official that the national recovery act involved wage increases, a special committee representing the various units of the Nation's Lumber industry today began drafting a fair competition and organization code. "Deadly serious business," Dudley Cates, assistant administrator from Washington, termed the work before the lumbermen as he explained what the Government expected industries to do in compliance with demands of the recovery act.

"The purpose of the act," he said, "is to distribute mass purchasing power, this through wage increases and more employment." The National Lumber Manufacturers Association, with its nine regional groups, and the American Forest Products Industries, composed of associations divided on a functional basis, met with 1,000 delegates attending. The joint convention adopted a resolution sanctioning the work of the special committee considering a tentative code.

The tentative code divides the lumber industry into 14 regional groups, to be under the general control of the Forest Products Industries Recovery Board of 24 members. The code also would set up between this board and the administrator of the industrial recovery act an emergency national committee of five members, which would also serve as a coordinating agency with similar committees representing other building material industries.

Demand for Wool Still Reported Fair

Boston, June 30 (A.P.).—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "Demand for wool has been of fair proportions, everything considered, this week. Prices have not been marked up materially, but the trend of the market is against the buyer.

"Manufacturers are not pressing goods for sale any more. In fact, they are allotting deliveries and buyers are eager to get their commitments. Sales for the more remote months are not heavy. There is reluctance on the part of the manufacturers for the time being to quote far ahead, on account of the new processing taxes and the question of labor costs in the matter of wages and working hours. The new clip is well cleared from the West, except for some wools which are held at prices that dealers now consider prohibitive.

"Foreign markets are very strong, and for the week a bit higher once more. Advances of 15 to 25 per cent are predicted at London, Tuesday next, medium crossbreds being the strongest feature of the market."

Tobacco Opening Sales Dates Are Announced

Virginia Beach, Va., June 30 (A.P.).—Opening dates for tobacco markets in the different belts for sale of the 1933 crops were announced today by the sales committee of the Tobacco Association of the United States as follows:

Georgia, August 1; South Carolina, August 15; Eastern Carolina, August 29; Middle Belt, September 19; Old Belt, September 26; Dark Virginia Belt, November 7.

BENEFIT LIFE PLANS GAIN IN COLLECTIONS

Decrease of June Expected to Be Overcome in Month of July.

By Thomas M. Cahill.

H. Lawrence Choate, local general agent, Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of New Jersey, said yesterday that total June cash collections of the District of Columbia agency of the company were $44,790, a decrease of only 3 per cent from June, 1932. This compares with a 5 per cent decrease in May.

New business written by the same office amounted to $165,000, an increase of 16 per cent over last year, while July is expected to break all records since 1925 for that month. John H. Snyder and James A. De Force, chartered life underwriters, are the agency leaders in volume for the first half of 1933.

Laudick Made Partner.

Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider, one of the largest brokerage firms holding membership in the New York Stock Exchange, announce that Louis W. Laudick, for many years a prominent figure in local business circles, has been named a partner in the firm. Mr. Laudick will be the resident partner and make his headquarters in the firm's office in the Southern Building. Fifteenth and H streets northwest. John D. Mothershead will continue as manager of the local office and Richmond P. Davis as assistant manager.

Mr. Laudick originally started his business career in the farm implement industry in the capacity of general finance man representing the old Syracuse Plow Works in seven States.

This company was eventually merged with the International Harvester organization. His next connection was with the Buick Motor Car Co., which organization he served as district manager for 13 years in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland territory. He retired from the Buick organization because of ill health and after a stay in Europe, was more recently affiliated indirectly with the Humphrey Shipbuilding Corporation of New Jersey.

Gas Light Revenue.

Operating revenues of Washington Gas Light Co. for May amounted to $486,088, against $522,638 for May, 1932, a decrease of $36,550, according to its monthly statement filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday.

Operating expenses, including taxes and uncollectible bills, totaled $322,372 in comparison with $349,334 in May, 1932, leaving a net operating income of $163,716, against $173,304 last year.

Nonoperating income decreased from $6,444 to $5,444 this year, leaving a gross corporate income in May of $169,160 compared with $179,748 in the same month last year. After interest deductions the company reported total net income for the month, before dividends, of $99,896, compared with $101,826 in May, 1932, a decline of $1,930.

Five Months Increase.

The company reported earnings for the five months of the present year showing operating revenues of $2,726,504, against $2,823,479 a year ago. Operating expenses, taxes and uncollectible bills amounted to $1,745,765, compared with $1,775,509 last year, leaving an operating income of $980,739, against $1,047,970 in 1932.

Nonoperating income declined $27,496, resulting in a gross corporate income of $981,567, compared with $1,076,234 for last year. After interest deductions, the net income totaled $561,767, against $726,966 for the same period last year, or a loss of $165,199.

Operating revenues of Georgetown Gas Light Co. were $94,468, against $101,498 in May last year, a recession of $7,030, this company's statement revealed.

Operating expenses including taxes and uncollectibles were $92,089 in

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON BROADER BUYING

Heat Wave Fears and Crop Losses Aid Advance; All Grains Up.

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Indications of a new heat wave northwest, together with prospective startling curtailment of estimated yields, bounced wheat up 4 cents today from early bottom figures.

Wheat for May delivery reached $1.01⅛ and finished at $1.00⅛ to $1.00⅝. A broad buying movement swept into all the speculative pits late today and sent the entire grain list kiting with early sharp setbacks in prices much more than overcome. Expectations were that private crop summaries to be issued Monday would prove sensationally bullish.

Wheat closed nervous at about a cent under the day's top figures, but ⅞ to ⅞ cent over yesterday's finish; corn, 1¼ to 2 up; oats, 1⅞ to 2¼ advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Early Trading Drift.

At first the grain market slid downhill fast owing to an accumulation of overnight orders to sell. Moisture had been received in the spring wheat belt both north and south of the Canadian border, and there were predictions of additional rains and cooler weather likely to improve wheat prospects wherever improvement was still possible.

However, friends of higher prices contended irreparable crop damage Northwest was widespread, and that rains were too late and insufficient.

In a nip-and-tuck struggle that ensued, wheat price changes were unusually rapid, the market often switching a cent a bushel within a few minutes.

Bulls Gain Advantage.

Toward the end of the day, bulls had the advantage, and trade attention focused largely on what Monday's unofficial crop summaries would show. Much talk was heard that regardless of weather conditions from now on, Northwest crops had suffered enough damage to warrant higher quotations.

Soaking rains in parts of the corn belt led to aggressive selling early, but some important districts reported not sufficient moisture to lay dust, hot temperatures continuing, and anxiety acute as to the corn crop in South Dakota. Oats were influenced by expectance of very bullish production figures in unofficial reports Monday.

Reserve Bank May Aid Stabilization of Dollar

London, June 30 (A.P.).—American quarters understood today that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was ready to proceed with a program of steadying the dollar by halting speculation by means of control machinery already in operation more than three months.

Emergency Body Named By Western Railroads

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—A committee of five executives of Western railroads, creation of which was demanded by the Government in the emergency transportation act, was elected today by representatives of 40 carriers.

The regional coordinating committee is composed of Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific; S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Santa Fe; H. A. Scandrett, president of the Milwaukee road; Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington Line, and Hale Holden, chairman of the Southern Pacific. The committee will recommend to the carriers economic practices and elimination of duplicating services.

Bakers to Raise Prices for Bread

Des Moines, June 30 (A.P.).—Claiming that recent advances in wheat prices and the Federal processing tax made an increase in bread prices necessary, the Iowa Bakers Association today announced that the price of a pound loaf of bread would be increased July 5 from 5 to 8 cents. The price for the 1½-pound loaf will be raised from 10 cents to 12.

J. A. Powers, Des Moines baker, and vice president of the association, said "flour that costs us $3 a barrel three weeks ago now costs $5 a barrel. When the $1.50 a barrel Federal processing tax is added, it will mean that the cost of flour to the bakers has more than doubled.

"The retail price advance will take care of only the boost in flour costs. When the American Bakers Association adopts its fair practice code embodying possible new working hours and wages, it may be necessary to further increase the retail price of bread."

Dollar Called Key Strand In Web of Money's Battle

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Around the present gold crisis there is spun a web of political and economic circumstances in which the position of the American dollar appears to be a key strand.

The dollar's value has dropped in the foreign exchange markets principally because it is no longer redeemable in gold and foreign countries naturally refuse to pay gold parity for it in terms of their own currency.

International banking authorities here believe that the recent gyrations of the dollar now that it is no longer moored to gold—are the result largely of speculation and a "capital flight," namely, that the holders of dollars in the United States have endeavored to translate this credit into terms of foreign currencies which they feel are more stable.

Experts of the highly intricate science of foreign exchange assert that when a creditor country like the United States devalues its currency the resultant effect is tantamount to a tariff. Since the dollar will buy fewer commodities than it formerly did, their prices, in terms of dollars rise, and foreign countries find it difficult to sell us goods. Conversely, exports of American goods should theoretically tend to increase.

This is one of the problems now facing France, according to Wall street opinion. Still on gold, France is grappling with two thorny problems, an unbalanced budget and an unfavorable balance of trade which is accentuated by the difficulty of competing for world markets against the depreciated currencies of England and America.

But for France, a debtor nation, to debase its monetary unit would mean an added burden when payment of foreign obligations came due. The United States is not indebted to foreign countries and has no such problem to contend with.

France Will Issue More Deficit Bonds

Paris, June 30 (A.P.).—The government will shortly issue a second slice of ten-year bonds to cover the continuing deficit, it was learned today. Better terms will be offered to buyers because of the unfavorable market which on April 29 caused the government to borrow £30,000,000 (currently $128,400,000) from England instead of borrowing at home.

The price probably will be 92 with 4½ per cent interest. The March loan was at 98½ with 4½ per cent interest. The government postponed presentation of the promised financial overhauling program to balance the budget. This will be presented when Parliament reassembles in October.

Premier Daladier, expressing hope for results from the World Economic Conference, said it was essential to await the outcome of the parley.

$8,000,000 in Bonds Ready for Minnesota

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Issuance of $8,000,000 in bonds of the Rural Credits Bureau of Minnesota was completed today. The bonds were signed and executed by Minnesota officials and turned over to the State Board of Investments by the Rural Credits Bureau. They were placed in the hands of W. H. Lamson, secretary of the Board of Investments. Lamson said he would retain the bonds pending outcome of litigation started in district court there to prevent their issuance.

Carleton D. Beh Co., of Des Moines, investment brokers, had arranged to purchase the issue, but it was decided to defer the sale until after the litigation has been settled.

3,000 New Employes Boost Lumber Output

Seattle, June 30 (A.P.).—Reflecting an added employment of at least 3,000 men during the week ended June 24, mills reporting to the West Coast Lumberman's Association increased production almost 12 per cent or 11,000,000 feet over the previous week, the organization said today.

"Since June 1," the association said, "it is estimated that at least 65 per cent of the companies operating in the area have increased wages."

RALLIES IN COTTON REDUCE EARLY LOSS

October Sells at 10.27, With General Market Down 2 to 3 Points.

New York, June 30 (A.P.).—Early declines of 26 to 31 points in cotton today, under liquidation and Liverpool selling, were almost completely recovered later in the day on improved trade demand and rebuying or covering reflecting firmness of stocks and somewhat more cheerful reports from London.

October contracts rallied from 10.03 to 10.29 and closed at 10.27, with the general market closing very steady at a net decline of 2 to 3 points.

The opening was 11 to 13 points lower, influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables, although the market failed to respond fully to the decline abroad. The early selling was attributed largely to liquidation and Southern selling.

Liverpool Begins Selling.

Liverpool became an active seller on the narrower differences prevailing, and when October eased below 10.15 a fair volume of stop orders was uncovered, adding to the pressure.

July sold off to 9.70, and December to 10.20, carrying the general list to net losses of about $1.25 to $1.50 a bale.

At the lows the market had declined 70 to 74 points from Tuesday's high levels. The technical position was regarded as having been improved by the recent liquidation, and the market encountered renewed trade buying as well as demand from commission house sources. The rally extended to within a point or so of the previous close with final prices practically at the best for the day.

Estimate of Acreage.

A private report estimated the acreage as of July 1 at 40,803,000 acres, an increase of 10.3 per cent without considering the reduction campaign. Exports today, 25,475, making 7,848,874 so far this season. Port receipts, 26,000; United States port stocks, 3,478,022.

During the morning, the market reflected continued nervousness over the foreign exchange situation and Liverpool also reported a disinclination to trade owing to instability and uncertainty of exchange.

The decline there was attributed to London and continental selling.

No Rain Indicated.

A Dallas review of Texas crop progress during the week, reported generally satisfactory conditions excepting in the northwestern and western drought areas, where the crop continues to decline. The market, however, devoted the greater part of its attention to reports from London and Washington concerning the currency situation.

The weekly New York Cotton Exchange figures continue to reflect heavy forwardings to mills of the world, which are now 13,094,000 bales, against 12,626,000 bales for the corresponding period of last year.

Nonoperating income increased from $1,445 to $1,553 this year, resulting in a gross corporate income in May, 1933, of $3,932, compared with $16,424 in the same month last year. After interest deductions, the company reported a net loss for the month of $1,113, against a net income of $11,902 in May, 1932, a loss of $13,015.

The company reported earnings for the five months showing operating revenues of $599,715, against $599,341 a year ago. Operating expenses, taxes and uncollectible bills, were $567,368, against $502,934 last year, leaving an operating income of $32,347, compared with $96,407 in 1932.

Nonoperating Income.

Nonoperating income amounted to $8,528, an advance of $766, resulting in a gross corporate income of $40,875 in comparison with $104,169 for last year. After deducting interest charges, the net income was $18,327, against $81,496 for the same period last year, a decrease of $63,169.

During May there were 20,081,000 telephone calls made in Washington, approximately 500,000 less than the calls made during the same month a year ago.

However, there were also 6,272 less telephones in use at the end of the month than at the close of May, 1932, according to the May report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., filed with the Public Utilities Commission. The report shows there were 176,034 telephones in service at the close of May, 1933.

Revenues for Month.

Operating revenues for the month were less than those for May, 1932, by $39,526. Total revenues were $47,027 below the same month last year. Total revenues for May, 1933, amounted to $770,856. Expenses and interest for May, 1933, were $621,461, leaving a balance of $149,395.

The cost of telephone plant in service at the end of the month was $34,392,697. According to John A. Remon, general manager of the company, the net return on the average plant in service for the first five months of the year, on an annual basis, was 5.69 per cent.

Local bank clearings for June were $56,487,657.33, an increase of $16,034,458.83 over those of May. For the six months of 1933 they aggregate $302,125,862.63, as compared with $518,877,123.93 for the corresponding period last year.

BANKS TO SPONSOR GOOD WILL TRAINING

Special to The Washingtn Post.

New York, June 30.—A plan for training bank personnel to promote better public understanding regarding sound banking operations as an essential part of their contacts with banking customers is announced by John H. Puelicher, chairman of the Public Education Commission of the American Bankers Association, in a statement in the current issue of the American Bankers Association Journal.

Preparation of this material as an American Institute of Banking course under the supervision of Harold Stonier, educational director of the association, has been carried out with the aid of members of the Financial Advertisers Association, who have applied to it their experience in handling public relations problems in banks of all types throughout the country.

"Public hostility to banks and political attacks is one of the most ancient characteristics of American depressions," Mr. Puelicher says, "and will be again in the future unless some way can be developed to correct fundamental misconceptions which give rise to periodic outbursts of widespread fear and distrust, and unless we can develop in the public a consciousness of the vitals part it plays in maintaining a successful banking structure. Widespread unreasoning fear and prejudice are the weeds which choke off and destroy the banking credit of a community or a nation.

"The first step in cultivating the confidence of the American people in the strength of our banking system is to uproot the general ignorance of banking which has prevailed so long.

One of the vital defects in American banking is not within the banks themselves, but in the weakness of the chain of understanding and mutual cooperation which links the banks to the mass of customers whom they serve."

The course under preparation, Mr. Puelicher says, will place in the hands of American bankers a series of conference material on bank public relations practice which can be made available to the members of their staffs. These conferences will place special stress on customer psychology and plans, and on ideas and methods for keeping depositors familiar with the reasons for banking rules and regulations and with sound banking practices.

"The plan calls for recognition on the employe's part of the viewpoint of the man or woman whom he faces across the desk or the teller's window," Mr. Puelicher says. "It demands full realization among the bank personnel that the growth and stability of the bank rests upon what they do to develop the good will of its circle of customers. It requires a philosophy of informative helpfulness and responsibility toward the public in the mind of every clerk, teller, floorman and executive whose duties place him at any time in contact with the bank's customers."

RAW SUGAR—Quiet again early today with an absence of business prices were more or less nominal. A fair line of sugar, including both Cuban and duty free, was on offer at 3.50, with indications that less would have been accepted in some quarters, but refiners were inclined to hold off, and unwilling to pay above 3.45, and then only in later positions. Futures opened at 1 point decline to 1 point advance, but later eased under increased liquidation and selling by Wall street and commission houses promoted by the continued inactivity in the spot market and uncertainty over developments at the various conferences now under way for the stabilization of sugar. September declined from 1.52 to 1.49 with the general market at midday 1 to 2 points net lower.

In refined a fair withdrawal demand was reported, but only a light new business and this was supplied through second hands. Prices were quoted at 4.60 for fine granulated by refiners, with second hands available at about 10 points less.

NATS BEAT TIGERS, 2-1, TAKE LEAD AS YANKS LOSE

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

EVEN when a couple of umpires fall out, honest ball teams don't come into their own. The decision that robbed the Nats of a ball game yesterday still stood despite the fact that Umpires Roy Vangrafian and Bill Summers nearly came to blows in their dressing room.

Each blamed the other for the foul decision on Gerald Walker's foul ball that Vangrafian finally called a two-base hit. Loud shouts were heard in the umpire's dressing room after the game. While the Nats were dressing, Umpire Summers came to the door and called for Manager Cronin and Earl Whitehill to substantiate his statement to Vangrafian that he had called the ball foul.

Later Leave Park on Good Terms.

Vangrafian in turn called in Catcher Luke Sewell. Vangrafian said that he had told Sewell that Summers had made the decision on the ball. The lie passed between them. Sewell told this correspondent that Vangrafian admitted to him that he did not see the ball.

Shortly thereafter, according to the Washington players, Vangrafian and Summers were seen to leave the park on very friendly terms. Apparently their differences had been patched up.

So there was little surprise among the Nats today when they learned that both umpires in their reports to Umpire in Chief Tommy Connolly, sent here by President Harridge today, agreed that the ball was easily fair.

This report that the ball was fair was made to Connolly within 24 hours after one umpire had admitted he did not see it, according to Luke Sewell, and after the other umpire had stated to Manager Cronin that it was a foul ball, according to Cronin. It's all very funny, perhaps.

Owner Nevin Asked For Connolly.

Connolly's presence in Detroit was not the result only of the ruling by Vangrafian yesterday. The Washington club's protest followed on the heels of protests made by Owner Navin, of the Tigers, who requested that Connolly be sent here in view of the outrageous decisions ren-

Sutter Loses Wimbledon Singles

Vines to Meet Prenn Today While Jones Faces Cochet.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 30 (A.P.).—With the exception of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who easily advanced to the last eight of women's singles, American entrants in the Wimbledon tennis championships had heavy going today with Cliff Sutter eliminated and Lester Stoefen barely winning in fourth-round matches.

Mrs. Moody, worried for a time by Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, second-ranking French woman player, won 6—3, 6—0, and Stoefen outstayed H. G. N. Lee, third-ranking English star, to win 5—7, 2—6, 7—5, 7—5, 6—3. Sutter was overpowered by George Patrick Hughes, English Davis Cup player, in three surprising sets, 9—7, 7—5, 6—3.

Sutter had been expected to win, along with Stoefen and Mrs. Moody, and had even been touted as a probable finalist against Ellsworth Vines, jr., but he could not match the tenacity of purpose and forcing play of Hughes. The Englishman's backhand was supposed to be weak, but Sutter soon found to his sorrow that some one had misinformed him. Hughes passed him frequently with well-angled cross-court shots from the off side.

Queen Mary Among Spectators.

The former American intercollegiate title-holder did not appear to be on his game before a gallery including Queen Mary, making her first visit to the tournament, but his errors seemed more the result of Hughes' play than his own inaccuracy.

The same fate almost befell Stoefen. The slightly built Lee, looking like a child alongside the towering Californian, outmaneuvered and outguessed the Californian to take the first two sets. The American finally began to charge the net after his cannon-ball service and swung the tide of battle his way.

Mme. Henrotin, handicapped by an injured ankle, had Queen Helen dashing about to retrieve well-placed returns in the first set, but once Mrs. Moody got the range, she quickly ran out the match.

Helen Jacobus Also Victorious.

Helen Jacobs, United States singles champion, was among other American victors. Miss Jacobs paired with Don Turnbull, Australia Davis cupper, to defeat S. Rodzianko and Mrs. B. Pones, 6—1, 6—3, in mixed doubles; Elizabeth Ryan, paired with Mme. Rene Mathieu, advanced in women's doubles at the expense of Mrs. Holcroft Watson and Miss E. H. Harvey, 6—2, 6—2, and the former American students, Clayton Lee Burwell and David N. Jones, defeated Dr. Daniel Prenn and Pierre Grandguillot, German-Egyptian combination, 8—6, 5—7, 9—7, 7—5.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke was eliminated in mixed doubles with her Hungarian partner, Bela Von Kehrling by Mme. Sylvia Nicolopoulo, of Greece, and Antoine Gentien, of France, 6—4, 7—5. The former Harvard player, W. L. Breese and W. L. Ryan, his partner, were eliminated in men's doubles by Baron Gottfried Von Graam and E. Nourney, of Germany, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4.

Vines will swing into action again tomorrow, meeting Daniel Prenn, former German champion, in a fourth round match, while David Jones will play Henri Cochet in another men's singles feature. In women's singles the United States is bound to lose one entrant as Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Burke meet in a fourth round match.

It was not made known immediately whether Carnera's voice is as large as his fists. At any rate, there were numerous persons who joined in his joy, a few from his native Italy.

Carnera Plans U. S. Tour; May Not Fight Again in '33

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK, June 30 (A.P.).—The mourners and the gleeful conquerors gathered around Madison Square Garden today to pick over the cold bones of Primo Carnera's rise to the heavyweight championship of the world by reason of a six-round knockout of Jack Sharkey last night.

Carnera, biggest champion in the history of the ring, probably will not fight again this year, preferring to bolster his bankrupt finances with a vaudeville and exhibition tour and motion picture appearance.

Schmeling Logical Alternate.

Madison Square Garden wants to promote that bout, but Jack Dempsey, close friend of Baer and promoter of his knockout victory over Max Schmeling, seems to have the inside track on the match. Schmeling seems the logical alternate for a September match with either Baer or Sharkey if the latter pair fails to get together.

The fight drew less than any heavyweight title match in history of boxing here with only two exceptions, the Jess Willard-Frank Moran and the Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan bouts, both held indoors in the old Madison Square Garden.

Returns today showed 35,000 customers paid a total of $198,189.60, with net receipts, less taxes, amounting to $163,789.61. The Willard-Moran fight drew $151,000 and the Brennan-Dempsey match $134,904.

Sharkey's share—42½ per cent of the net receipts—was $69,605, with Carnera receiving $16,379, or 10 per cent. Profit to the Garden was estimated at $25,000, less expenses, with Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., receiving 25 per cent of the final net profits.

Crowder Bests Bridges; Goslin Is Star in Field; Tribe's Rally Wins, 13-12

New York's Lead of 7 Runs in Third Is Wiped Out.

By Shirley L. Povich

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Mich., June 30.—The tight pitching of Alvin Crowder and the swell catching of Goose Goslin rendered the Detroit Tigers exceedingly feeble this afternoon and the Nats pussy-footed home with a 2-1 triumph.

By winning, Washington again went into undisputed possession of first place in the American League, the Yankees beaten, 13 to 12, by the Cleveland Indians on a ninth-inning rally, dropping back a full game into second place.

The Nats gave Crowder only a pair of runs to work with, so miserly was Tom Bridges when Washington was in a scoring position, but Goslin made these two runs stick with two sensational bits of outfield play that earned him the plaudits of even the hostile ladies' day throng.

Stone Rams Hard Drive.

It seems that the Tigers had the winning run on base when Crowder passed Gehringer to open the eighth and the heavy end of the Detroit batting order coming up. Johnny Stone then rammed one of Crowder's pitches on a line into right center. It whistled a three-base hit tune as it sped into apparently unprotected territory. Gehringer took one glance, and was off around the bases.

And then the figure of the Galloping Goose hove into sight in seemingly futile pursuit. Goslin and the ball reached the screening at the same time, but the ball was in the webbing of the Goose's glove, high above his head, in a dazzling one-hand catch that made Merriwell look like a bum.

It was a swell catch, but Goslin wasn't through. Still back on his heels, he slammed the ball back to first base like a bullet to double Gehringer, who had rounded second, and put down the threatened insurrection as completely as if none had been on base.

Tigers Blanked Five Innings.

Crowder had blanked the Tigers for five innings, but his outfielders were saving him from a sad fate, with both Schulte and Goslin roaming far and wide to haul down base hits. So Manager Cronin called Jack Russell

ESSEFF, WESTROPE UP, WINS ARLINGTON PARK FEATURE RACE

Knight's Gal Is Second In Sprint

ARLINGTON PARK, Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Running over a heavy track, Charles T. Fisher's Esseff breezed to victory here today in the Shadybrooce Purse, the feature event, by six lengths.

Struggling back of the victor in the 7-furlong dash came Knight's Gal and Miss Bunting.

Only six horses started. Esseff, which races under the name of the Dixiana Farm, owned by Mr. Fisher, of Detroit, ran the distance in 1:28 2-5. The winner paid $4.84 in the $2 mutuels.

Tendril Scores Impressively.

Latonia, Ky., June 30 (A.P.).—Making her first start since March 17, C. V. Whitney's Tendril, a daughter of Hollister and Fluffy, scored an impressive victory over a good band of 2-year-old fillies in the Silver Grove Purse, today's principal attraction. Young Brothers' Fiji was second and H. P. Headley's Grey Sash third.

Eight accepted the issue in the 5½-furlong dash with Tendril a warm favorite with the meager off-day crowd. Marianna was first to show in front, followed by Roulade and Fiji. Marianna set a good pace to the stretch, where she retired and Apprentice Jack Mayer shot Tendril to the lead.

Fiji made a mild bid, but the Whitney miss shook off the draw-away and won by two lengths. Fiji held on determinedly to stall off Grey Sash's late rush.

Steward and Connelly In Play-Off Tomorrow

A nine-hole match play tournament begins today, with participants to qualify over the nine-hole route. Two matches will be held tomorrow and two more Tuesday. In addition, there will be pitching and putting and driving contests.

One of the features of the week-end card is the 18-hole play-off for the medal prize in the Congressional invitation between Luther Steward, jr., of the Congressional Club, and John Connelly, of Rock Creek.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: ARLINGTON PARK, JUNE 30.

Well, friend, some days we just can't make a nickel but we didn't lose more than one or two today. The mud came up and two races were substitutes. However, Mrs. Bennings' little Billie had a pair of winners in Higher at $13.28 and Esseff at $4.84. In addition, he is deserving a check in the assist column on Damascene which carried off track notation. However, tomorrow is another day, even if it rains. I have sweated my way through the books tonight in an effort to dig up some hot ones. And if they're half as warm as the weather out here, we should sweep the card. BILL.

FIRST RACE—FINNIC seems the most likely of this group to take a set of brackets. This one is right at top, and I see no reason for mistakes. LONGUS and EVELINE F. to complete the money picture.

SECOND RACE—POSTSCRIPT has the best post position of those that I rate leading contenders in this field. Should improve on that last effort and lead LE MISERABLE and FIGHTING BOB to the wire. PEEDEEQUE is still a threat. When this one is turned loose, there will be action.

THIRD RACE—ETCETERA again goes for the Bennings dough. This one is a formidable sprinter in any field of this caliber. GRAND PRINCE gets the rail position and will be dangerous. LADFIELD must tote 120 pounds and that way rigged may have trouble.

FOURTH RACE—BARNSWALLOW and BOLD LOVER give the Bradley interests a strong hand in this mile contest. Both have worked well and either can take the long end of the purse. INLANDER wants more route. May be third.

FIFTH RACE—I'm going to RUSH HOUR in this. The Labrot representative has amazed the clockers of late and is a streak away from the gate. Seems over his head, but I'll take my chances. GALLANT SIR and FAIRBYPAIR for the other awards.

SIXTH RACE—SINGING WOOD turned in a sensational race here the other day and that effort repeated here should take some part of the cash if not the long end. This is a bulky field, however, and a lot of things can happen before the finish is reached. BLACK BUDDY and SUN TEMPEST for the rest.

SEVENTH RACE—Here's a gang that beat each other. TWISTED THREADS, WATCH TOWER and SCIMITAR is the way I'm guessing them.

EIGTH RACE—FINGAL may get the track he likes and run this field into the ground. ROYAL BLUNDER, off that recent fine effort, looms as the one to fear. EBONY LADY for the show.

Virginia Pope Wins Junior Golf Crown

Miss Pope bettered her first day's score by 9 shots. Helen Dettweiler, of Manor, who led with a 98 on Thursday, failed to hit her stride and turned in another 98.

Primo Is Challenged By Paulino Uzcudun

Barcelona, June 30 (A.P.).—Paulino Uzcudun, veteran Basque fighter, tonight challenged Primo Carnera for the heavyweight championship, offering to meet the big Italian in Nonjuich Stadium here at Primo's convenience.

Carnera gained a decision over Paulino in ten rounds at Barcelona in November, 1930.

Ryder Cup Team Wins in Scotland

Glasgow, Scotland, June 30 (A.P.).—The United States Ryder Cup team today found a team of ten Scottish amateurs easier to beat than the British professionals and defeated them in a medal play match with an aggregate of 701 to 723.

Horton Smith led the Americans with a scorching 65, sensational even for the 6,000-yard White Craigs layout, where the course record is 70. Five other Americans broke 70, as against only one subrecord score by the Scotsmen, a 69 by J. B. Stevenson.

The Americans had the best scores in seven of the ten twosomes and the Scots in three.

7, Including Head Play, To Run in Latonia Today

Latonia, Ky., June 30 (A.P.).—Seven 3-year-olds, including Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Head Play, winner of the Preakness, today were named for the $10,000 Latonia Derby, which will be run over 1½ miles tomorrow.

Head Play, which also finished second in the Kentucky Derby, but loser of his last two starts to Mr. Khayyam, has been assigned 126 pounds and will give from 6 to 12 pounds to his rivals. The remainder of the field includes Gold Basis, Bobsled, Sun Envoy, Sweep Rush, Jovius and Navanod.

D. C. Women Beaten In Baltimore Doubles

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 30.—For Reba Kirson, of Baltimore, and Mrs. De Lloyd Thompson, of Washington, Pa., today was receiving day, for they won several prizes for the parts they took in three finals in the Maryland State tennis tournament at the Baltimore Country Club.

Mrs. Thompson downed Miss Kirson, 6—2, 6—0, for the singles title.

And together, this pair eliminated Abbie Sard and Frances Walker, both of Washington, after a hard-fought match for the women's doubles crown, the scores being 6—3, 6—4.

With George Hebner, Baltimore, Mrs. Thompson took the mixed doubles event against Miss Kirson and Elmer Rudy, by 6—3, twice.

SEMIFINALS OF DISTRICT TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY

Shore Faces Mitchell in Tourney

Mangan and Charest Are Opponents in Other Bracket.

SEMIFINAL matches in the annual District of Columbia tournament singles will be played on the courts of the Army-Navy Club this afternoon with Tom Mangan facing Clarence Charest and Dooly Mitchell pitted against Frank Shore. The first will be at 3 o'clock and the second an hour later.

The team of Mitchell and King blasted its way past Staubley and Blanchard in the second round of doubles yesterday, winning the match by a score of 6—3, 6—4. Mangan and Graven took a hard-fought set from Deck and O'Neill, but were battling on even terms in the second set which was called with the score at 3-3 because of darkness.

Doubles Also Scheduled.

Matches are scheduled in doubles this afternoon, with the unfinished set mentioned above featuring the card. It will be played at 3 o'clock. Sidell and Herman oppose Newgarden and Baker in the second round at 4 o'clock, with Dorst and Blade scheduled to meet Shore and Latona at 6 o'clock.

According to present plans the singles champion will be determined tomorrow afternoon when the survivors of today's matches come to grips at 2:30 o'clock. The doubles finals will be played Tuesday at the same hour.

Gilbert Hunt Reaches Junior Tennis Finals

Hunt, after eliminating Eugene Sydnor, of Richmond, in the morning, 6—0, 6—2, defeated Powell Taylor, of Norfolk, this afternoon in the semifinals, 6—1, 6—2. Shapiro downed Jordan, of Norfolk, in the first round, 6—1, 7—5, and turned back another Baltimore entry, Henry Barclay, 7—5, 8—6, in the afternoon.

Brockenbrough Land, of Richmond, faces Mervin Shpritz, of Baltimore, in the boys' division finals tomorrow. Land defeated Perkins, of Norfolk, in the semifinals this afternoon, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3, and Shpritz downed Ralph Adair, of Washington, 6—2, 6—2.

The winners in both junior and boys' divisions are eligible to enter the junior and boys' national championships at Culver, Ind., in August.

Ralph Metcalfe Outruns Owens

Soldier Field, June 30 (U.P.).—Glenn Cunningham, fleet University of Kansas runner, and Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University Negro sprint star, retained their supremacy in the national A. A. U. track and field championships here tonight.

Cunningham won the 1,500 and 800 meter runs. In the latter race he defeated Charlie Hornbostel, who two weeks ago barely nosed out the Kansas runner in one of the most spectacular half-mile races in track history. Metcalfe ran to easy victories in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. His time in the 100 was 10.5 seconds and in the 200-meter, 21.1 seconds, a new meet record.

In the 100 meters, Metcalfe outran James Johnson, Illinois State Normal, and Jesse Owens, Cleveland East Tech High, both Negroes. Metcalfe started in first place in both races and led to the tape.

Cunningham easily outdistanced Hornbostel after the Hoosier star attempted to pass him on the last turn. Hornbostel extended himself too much trying to pass Cunningham on the curve and fell back on the stretch, finishing four meters behind Cunningham.

ACE TO DR. GOODMAN.

Dr. William T. Goodman joined the rapidly expanding hole-in-one-club yesterday when he holed his tee shot on the fourth green of G course, East Potomac Park, yesterday. He used a mashie for the 116-yard drive. O. H. Wells, of 503 Webster street northwest, witnessed the feat. It was the seventh ace scored at East Potomac this season.

MUELLER RETAINS TITLE.

WHITE SOX BOOKED.

Virginia White Sox will play the Capital Traction team Sunday and Fairfax A. C. the Fourth of July, both games to be played on the Arlington Field at 3 o'clock.

HISER'S WITHOUT GAME.

Due to a cancellation by the Certified Barbers, Henry Hiser's All-Stars are without a game for Tuesday and would like to hear from any strong unlimited team. Call Wisconsin 3600.

Store League Hitters Led By Deck

Lansburgh Star Has .625 Mark; Doome, Kann's Next.

BATTING honors for the first half flag race in the Department Store League were won by "Lefty" Deck, clean-up man of the Lansburgh team, who belted the horsehide at a .625 clip, according to figures released yesterday by the official scorer.

Earl Doome, of Kann's, and Roy Kidwell, of the Hecht Co., were next on the list with averages of .530 and .519, respectively. Good pitching held the majority of players well in hand, but there are some who edged into the charmed .400 circle.

Two games will open the second-half schedule tomorrow morning. Lansburghs tangle with Hechts at 11 a. m. on diamond No. 4, while Palais Royal is battling with Kann's at the same time on diamond No. 3.

Summers is quoted as saying that Vangrafian mistook his sign on Walker's hit. According to one report, Summers said he gave Vangrafian the sign that the ball was foul, that Vangrafian mistook the sign, called the ball fair and then stuck to his decision in the belief that he was backing up Summers.

Connolly would not speak for publication on his findings after taking the statements of the umpires and players of both clubs, but it is known that the umpires today agreed that the ball was fair. He witnessed today's game as an official observer and the umpires were fortunate in that there was not a single close decision to be made.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

It's Al Thomas vs. Red Marberry tomorrow in the third game of the series . . . Joe Kuhel is compiling a consecutive game hitting streak . . . He has now hit safely in his last sixteen contests . . . Goose Goslin, after thirteen years in the majors, is now attempting to hit to left field deliberately . . . And succeeding . . . Unlike Cronin, who hits to right field by pushing the ball, Goslin gets his hits into left by meeting the pitch late . . . But Heinie Manush is still the best place hitter on the club . . . The Nats are still raving about the great pitching of Schoolboy Rowe yesterday . . . Joe Cronin says the rookie is a right-handed Grove and will be a sensation next year . . . And he can get down to first base faster than any other pitcher in the league.

Dark Horses Midget Play Feature

Only 2 More Games Remain on Schedule of Each Team.

LITTLE has been written about the midget teams battling for supremacy in the Capital City League this season, but a glance at the standings reveals that the boys are staging a real race, with no favorites but plenty of dark horses.

When the National Pale Drys decided to seek the junior championship, after winning the midget pennant last year, they set the stage for one of the hottest races put on by midget clubs in several years.

Each suceeding week sees the teams more closely bunched. Only a half game separates the club in sixth place from the three tied for the lead of the circuit, and if past performances count for anything two and possibly three teams will be tied for the first half honors when the race ends.

Montrose A. C., Eastern A. C. and Washington Maid occupy the top rung of the ladder with two victories and a single defeat apiece. Next in line is the Savoy nine, with one win and a defeat, and then comes the Versis A. C. and Potomac Fish Co., tied for fifth place with two wins and as many losses.

Only One Team Fails To Hold Own.

Only one team, Corbett Athletic Club, has failed to hold its own, but even the Corbett players entered into the spirit of the league by knocking off the Easterners.

Two tie games were played earlier in the season, and the Savoy team figured in both. It battled the Eastern Athletic Club to a 3-to-3 stalemate, and later played to a 7-to-7 draw with the Montrose nine. These scores indicate how evenly matched the teams are this season. Hard fought games with small scores have been the rule.

Two more playing days remain before the end of the first half, when a champion will be determined, which will meet the winner of the second half in a three-game series for the city championship. But it is doubtful if two days will be sufficient time to straighten out the jumbled standings. The two tied games must be played over again, in addition to the regularly scheduled games.

POST MORTEMS . . .

Promoter C. E. (Fats) Cornell has fallen heir to a yacht . . . If Fats has his last year's luck with the weather at Twin City, you are liable to see him chugging aroung the ring in it some fight night . . . If you think that Primo Carnera is the strongest thing Italy ever produced, you have never wrestled with one of those Italian cheroots . . . what is this influence in the Southern Conference inimical to G. W.? . . . out of consideration for the finances of the owners, the Nats and Yanks might at least have held that tie . . . until the big doubleheader in New York on the 4th . . . Dale Alexander and Smead Jolley, caterpillar tractors of the Red Sox, both chalked up their first pilfered bases of the season yesterday . . . where is Curley Byrd these days? . . . most fighters are unable to eat after a fight . . . they usually drink a quart of milk instead.

Charley "Trader" Horn hasn't yet recovered from his quick knockout at the hands of Bob Godwin . . . he is still trying to figure out just what happened . . . as are most of the fans . . . they do say that anything is liable to happen when Steele meets Londos at the ball park next Thursday . . . and the rassling moguls have finally broken down and confessed that Washington is the best city in the country for their business . . . one thing that might be done to make life more pleasant for golfers is to resod fairways in front of greens . . . some of the local courses have neglected this feature . . . and as a result, roll-up shots are largely a matter of luck . . . and pitch-and-hold shots are pretty tough in weather like this.

Griffith Bars Conference Gridders

Denies That G.W. Has Exclusive Right to Park's Use.

CLARK GRIFFITH took up the cudgel in behalf of local college football teams yesterday when he announced that games involving Southern Conference football teams will be banned henceforth at Griffith Stadium.

Earlier in the day it was rumored that the president of the Washington Baseball Club had agreed to give George Washington University exclusive rights to the park during the football season, but this he denied last night.

"I am merely taking the side of Washington teams in their fight with the Southern Conference," he said last night. "Of course, games already scheduled for the stadium involving conference teams will be permitted as I do not want to go back on my word. But the park will be reserved for George Washington, Georgetown, Catholic University or any other local team, so long as they do not play Southern Conference schools."

Navy and University of Virginia are scheduled to play at the stadium next year, and Griffith said the rule would not apply to this game, as contracts already had been signed for the use of the field.

Yesterday's action followed a long-drawn-out fight between local schools and conference authorities who have repeatedly insisted that District teams conform with the rules of their association when playing a Southern Conference team.

It has been pointed out that they count the District of Columbia as part of their territory, although they do not have a member within its bounds. University of Maryland, at College Park, is the northernmost school in the conference. In the past Maryland's big games have been played at the stadium. Other schools, George Washington, Georgetown and Catholic University in particular, have sought to bring Southern Conference teams here for games, but have been placed on the "black list" by conference officials.

Marathon Entry Deadline Monday

Entries for the annual Department of Playgrounds-Takoma Citizens' Association 10-mile marathon, scheduled the Fourth of July, will be accepted up to midnight Monday, the committee announced yesterday. The lists originally were scheduled to close today.

The District A. A. U. 10-mile championship will be at stake when the field lines up for the run, which happens to be the only athletic event of importance scheduled Tuesday. Bill Agee, of the Stonewall Democratic Club, Baltimore, carried off this honor last year.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the first three men to finish, but every contestant to finish will receive a medal. The race will start from a point some 250 yards below the railroad bridge on Mount Vernon boulevard, pursuing a course directly through the city and finishing at the Takoma Park playground.

Richard S. Tennyson, supervisor of men's activities, is chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. Entries should be filed with him at the playground department office, District Building.

Bobby Jones, Visitor Here, Praises Play of Goodman

By Dave Herman.

THE "Grand Slam" king, Bobby Jones, the only man ever to win four major golf championships in one year, made his perennial visit to Washington yesterday, armed with words of praise for the young Nebraskan who is attempting to step into his shoes—Johnny Goodman.

"Johnny played some marvelous golf in the Open at North Shore," the peerless Georgian said in a soft, drawling voice.

"If any one deserved to win it that boy did," the former British amateur and Open and American amateur and Open champion, declared.

He added:

"He has every shot in the bag. With the kind of golf he plays, Johnny should win many more important championships. He certainly had the pros worried in the Open, and they found it tough keeping pace with him after he got hot the second day."

Jones has actually been the victim of some of Goodman's brilliant shotmaking. It was back in 1929 in the thirty-third national amateur at Del Monte, Calif. Unceremoniously, the poker-faced Nebraskan eliminated Jones in his first-round match, 1 up.

Last September at Five Farms, Jones was a spectator when Goodman bowed to Sandy Somerville, of Canada, in a thrilling finals match.

The guest of L. W. Robert, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, a close friend of his from Atlanta, Jones spent yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel, and left late at night with Mr. Robert for his native heath. Jones had along his famous clubs, which included that death-dealing putter, Calamity Jane, and sisters as well.

He regretted not being able to play a round of golf here, but said he looked back with fond memories on his previous jaunts over Burning Tree, Columbia, Washington and other layouts. He spent several hours yesterday afternoon, however, visiting familiar scenes at the Columbia Country Club, where back in 1921 he participated in the national open, finishing down the list. The Georgian renewed old acquaintances while at Columbia, but turned "thumbs down" on an invitation to play golf.

Chicago Defeated By Red Sox, 4 to 2

Chicago, June 30 (A.P.).—Henry Johnson held the White Sox to four singles today and the Boston Red Sox took the delayed opener of the series, 4 to 2.

Rabbit Warstler, who got two doubles and a single off Ted Lyons, scored two of the Boston runs, and Johnny Hodapp, who fattened his high batting average with three singles and a walk in five chances, scored, the other two. In the last six innings no Chicagoan advanced past second. Only 28 men faced Johnson.

Radio Dial Flashes

By Robert D. Heinl

THE operation of the radiobeacon system, which guides ships into harbors despite fog, is clearly shown in an exhibit of the Lighthouse Service at the Chicago exposition by means of an animated map of the Great Lakes, on which there is a small colored light at the location of each radiobeacon station.

The flashing of these lights illustrates the method of broadcasting, the stations of each group operating in proper sequence. A series of properly labeled switches connected to a loud speaker makes the signal of any station audible. This map was designed and constructed in the Eleventh Lighthouse District.

There will be an eyewitness description of the running of the Great American, one of the outstanding events of the present season at the Aqueduct track, near Jamaica, Long Island (WJSV, 2:45 p. m.). The Great American is considered by racing authorities to be one of the Eastern season's most important competitions for 2-year-olds.

Charles Winninger, Capt. Henry of the Show Boat, tells this one on himself. When he first appeared in New York, Allan Dale, then the dean of dramatic critics, saw the show and the next day Charley picked up the paper and read that "something with a German accent by the name of Winninger appeared on the stage of the Herald Square Theater last night."

THE first of a series of twice weekly broadcasts bringing to the air the New York Philharmonic Orchestra will be presented today. The initial concert, and the Saturday concerts thereafter, will be heard at 7:30 p. m. over WMAL. The second period will be heard each Tuesday night.

William Van Hoogstraten, conductor of the Portland, Ore., Symphony Orchestra, will direct the first three concerts which are staged by the Philharmonic Orchestra at the Lewisohn Stadium, College of the City of New York.

Later, Hans Kindler, of the National Symphony Orchestra, will be the guest conductor.

The inaugural program will include Tschaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F Minor; the Overture to Rossini's "William Tell;" Saint-Saens' "Dance Macabre," and Sibelius' "Finlandia."

After attending the Ryder Cup matches on Tuesday the Prince of Wales remained in Liverpool especially to attend the Empire Theater and hear Duke Ellington and his orchestra, featured there this week, says a wireless from the duke's press agent, which continues:

"Wales stayed in his seat at the conclusion of the act and led the applause which kept the bands on the stage for four encores, which required twenty extra minutes after they had played for a solid hour.

"Ellington took thirteen curtain calls at this performance and the applause was so enthusiastic and so continuous that it was necessary to send to the dressing rooms for the band to return to the stage and play the fourth encore."

THE first radio drama to be broadcast from a ship at sea will be heard over WJSV at 6:30 p. m. today, when an air version of a new motion picture is presented from the main salon of the Queen of Bermuda, on a week-end cruise. The program will be sent to shore by the ship's short-wave transmitter and relayed to the country when the ship is about five hours at sea.

A special control panel will be installed for monitoring the program and feeding it to the ship's Marconi room. The picture, of which the radio version is being prepared, is "A Lady For a Night," and has been adapted from a short story by Damon Runyon.

Isham Jones and his orchestra, who will settle down at Atlantic City for a summer's engagement, have been scheduled for five broadcasts weekly from the seashore over the networks. Beginning tonight, over WJSV, the band will be heard on Saturdays at 9:15, Sundays at 11 p. m., Tuesdays at 10:30 p. m., Thursdays at 5:45 p. m., and Fridays at 10:30 p. m.

The "Washington Night Hawks" will again be abroad from midnight to 3 a. m. over WOL.

"Taxes and Their Relation to Prosperity" will be digressed upon by Senator King, of Utah (WMAL, 6 p. m.).

"Joshua" will be the subject of Horace L. Stevenson in the International Sunday School (WMAL, 5 p m.).

The Radio Commission will move from its present quarters in the Interior Building to the Architects Building at 1800 E street northwest. This will be the sixth time the commission has had the rollers put under it in six years.

PERHAPS inspired by the success of Station WJKS, of Gary, Ind., in securing the frequency of Station WIBO, of Chicago, Station WIBA, of Madison, Wis., has applied for permission to share the cleared channel of Station WGN, of Chicago, one of the choicest on the radio spectrum. As yet no date has been set for a hearing of the case, but it is certain to be bitterly fought by the Chicago station.

In fact, it may put every station in the country having a cleared channel on the uneasy seat, because if WGN's frequency is, by any chance, captured by the Wisconsin station the domain of cleared channels everywhere is apt to be threatened.

Two programs in connection with the air races to be held at the Century of Progress in Chicago will be broadcast over WJSV today and Tuesday, July 4. The program today will be heard at 2 p. m.

THREE years ago a colored orchestra called the Missourians was being featured nightly at one of the largest ballrooms in Kansas City. The leader, a lively, dapper youth, sang at least one chorus of each number in an amazingly loud voice.

"Pay more attention to your conducting and don't sing so much," he advised. "Our patrons come here to dance and they expect dance music. You attract so much attention with those funny songs of yours that some of them stop dancing to watch. It blocks the floor and interferes with the dancing!"

But Cab Calloway kept right on singing, and this week most of the former patrons of the ballroom and quite a few other Kansas City residents are watching him on the stage of the Main Street Theater.

His former employer paid him a visit backstage the other day. The ballroom manager's face was red!

A New Yorker At Large

(By Mark Barron.)

New York.—With November elections coming on, the town seems to be in a quandary over the choice of the man who will sit in the mayor's chair for the next four years.

Tammany had definitely decided to renominate O'Brien, but since the hurricane of protests over his proposed city auto taxes, they aren't so sure. Although they couldn't persuade Joseph McKee or Samuel Seabury to run, the fusionists still are trying to recruit a man to oppose the Tammany selection.

It will be quite a battle and Tammany's power is more seriously threatened than it has been since the days of the Tweed ring didoes.

I happened along the other afternoon just as Mayor O'Brien was being questioned by a group of reporters. Every time they mentioned the auto tax his Irish temper came booming up.

Jimmy Walker and Joe McKee were artists when it came to evading embarrassing questions which they didn't want to answer. Walker always had a wisecrack ready to make the reporters laugh and forget the subject. McKee would smile and say nothing, or else change the subject to an entirely foreign matter.

RAH! RAH! RAH!

New York is distinctly a college town with half a dozen large universities located here. But it is seldom that you hear of campus adventures as you would in a small town.

Several years ago Columbia students, celebrating some athletic victory, captured a subway train and caused quite a rumpus. But that was the only major collegiate excitement until the other day when pacifist students at C. C. N. Y. staged their militant demonstration against R. O. T. C. maneuvers. Although shouting their stand against militarism, the peace-loving students proved more warlike than any number of soldiers.

AROUND THE TOWN.

Those ancient cabbies who drive hansom cabs through Central park go in for red neckties exclusively.

For the first time in her career Ina Claire missed a performance the other night when she caught a cold and couldn't speak above a whisper.

Whatever became of that law which was to forbid taxis cruising about the town? They still do.

Lawrence Tibbett is 37 years old.

An unusually large number of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" shows will go touring again this fall, due to the popularity of the Players club revival on Broadway. The Players employ fox hounds in the place of bloodhounds in their production.

ENGLAND THEN AND NOW.

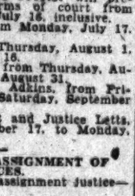
WITH the international match between Great Britain and the United States at Contract Bridge just around the corner, the interest of players in the respective skill of the representatives of the two nations naturally is very keen. I have received a great many letters asking me my opinion of the outcome of the match to be played in London. Naturally I have every confidence in the accurate bidding and skillful play of the American team, otherwise I would not have selected them to accompany me. On the other hand, I have the greatest respect for the English Bridge players as players, and since they have adopted correct systems of bidding for reaching correct contracts, I believe they will give a good account of themselves in the forthcoming contest. In fact, it need surprise no one if they should win.

One of the great weaknesses of the British teams when the matches were played in 1930 was the lack of any system bidding and an adherence to what they termed "Common Sense." A rose by any other name smells just as sweet, so we are told, but common sense as used by system mongers who make a system of being unsystematic carries no particular significance.

An example of British bidding in the previous match with Crockford's Club is given on the hand below. The American players were seated North and South in Room 1, with the British players North and South in Room 2. It is interesting to contrast the bidding and the results.

North, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The bidding in Room 1:

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	3♠	Pass
3♡	Pass	3NT	Pass
4NT	Pass	5♣	Pass
5NT	Pass	6♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding in Room 2:

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	1NT	Pass
2NT	Pass	3♣	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

While the success of the contract depends upon a finesse, the Slam unquestionably should be bid. Whenever any single chance permits the making of a Slam, the reward fully justifies the risk of giving up an otherwise certain game. South made six clubs.

The bidding in Room 2 is unbelievably archaic from an American viewpoint. That South should respond with one notrump to the opening bid of one heart with his tremendous honor and distributional values is unbelievable, and then his bid of three clubs merely as an afterthought on the second round of bidding is equally abstruse. Of course, again 12 tricks were made.

Today Means

By Mary Blake.

"CANCER."

A TENDENCY to procrastinate will be evident on this date; you will not feel the urge to get out and accomplish things. Business will not be active. In the home it will be difficult to maintain harmony and routine; plans will go for naught and differences of opinion will be many and strong.

The child born on this July 1 quite early in life will develop great independence; he will look neither to those of his own age nor to his elders for his amusements or pleasures. He will probably like to play by himself. If a boy, he will be mechanically inclined and will love to build things. If a girl, she will early take to sewing and cooking.

If July 1 is the date of your birth, you are probably possessed of an adventurous streak that will carry you far, either in business, in the arts, in politics or in one of the professions. You are not afraid of the new; you will tackle anything that seems to offer an even break, an even chance of success. You are not a plunger, nor do you take unnecessary risks. Success in life is your goal; you seek wealth, recognition in your field, and power. You are perhaps a little hard in your treatment of others; at times you allow yourself to be just a little bit unfair.

Born on July 1, you will probably have a great influence over the lives of others, which may be direct or indirect. You may be able to employ many people, and if you do, you will possibly seek to unduly control their private lives. You may do much good for others through your writings, painting, and acting if you seek a career in the arts. It is possible for you to gain such position in life as you desire.

Christian Science Churches

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all the Churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The Golden Text is from Exodus 15:18: "The Lord shall reign for ever and ever." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, no angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8: 38,39.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We should forget our bodies in remembering good and the human race. Good demands of many every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligation to go, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them. Christian Science takes naught from the perfection of God, but it ascribes to Him the entire glory" (page 261).

HELP WANTED—MALE 18

Mr. Government Employe
In this time of crisis are you losing your position?
If so—don't lose heart. We are prepared to put you in business for yourself where change of administration, seasons or general business fluctuation will not hazard your living.
A large nationally known corporation needs a few additional men for Washington and nearby territories, preferably under 50, married, ambitious, of good spirits, who want to make money and win promotions without being required to make any capital investment.
We finance you and pay you weekly on business done; everything straight and on the level. The product is revolutionary. The method of distribution is new. Our training and help soon put an absolutely green man into surprising earnings from which there is steady growth into very large returns.
Promotions are based on proven ability, hard work, sincere cooperation and results. If you feel you can qualify and would like a conference at an early date, write, giving name, address, where now working, how long, nature of work, if have car, if married, telephone where you can be readily reached and if available at once. Letter treated confidentially. Address

TWO LAWYERS TODAY JOIN SCHOOL BOARD IN PLACE OF CLERGY

Simon and Bennett Chairs to Be Taken by Quinn and Houston.

Replacing a rabbi and an Episcopal clergyman, two lawyers will become members of the District Board of Education this morning.

Appointed by justices of the District Supreme Court, Henry I. Quinn will succeed Dr. Abram Simon, former president of the board, and Charles H. Houston, colored, will take the place of the Rev. F. I. A. Bennett.

Mrs. Philip Sidney Smith, wife of the noted Alaskan explorer and geologist, whose term expired this year, has been reappointed.

When Dr. Bennett was appointed, nine years ago, he took the place of William L. Houston, father of the man who now succeeds Dr. Bennett. The coincidence is fortuitous. Justices of the District Supreme Court were unaware of the connection.

Houston Will Be Absent.

Mr. Houston is in Chicago and will not be present for the reorganization meeting at 10 a. m. today. Mr. Quinn will come from Bay Ridge, Md., for the event.

Mr. Quinn, a member of the law firm of Burkart & Quinn, was born in Washington. He received his education at Gonzaga College and Georgetown University, and holds an honorary M. A. degree and an LL. B and an LL. M. He is a member of the District Bar Association, the American Bar Association and the Board of Trade.

Mr. Houston, also born in Washington, is a member of the law firm of Houston & Houston. He received his rudimentary education at the M Street High School, now Dunbar High School. At 19 he was graduated from Amherst College and from Harvard Law School in 1922.

Election of President.

Besides inducting these new members into office, the board will elect a new president this morning. Board members remaining in office besides Mrs. Smith are Dr. Hayden Johnson, president; Dr. J. Hayden Johnson, colored; Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, vice president; George M. Whitwell, Henry Gilligan and Mrs. William G. McNeill, colored.

The new members' terms continue until June 30, 1936. Mrs. Smith has served on the borad since 1928. Dr. Simon, who is retiring because of ill health, was appointed November 19, 1919, and became president for the first time July 1, 1920. He retired from the board July, 1923, and was reappointed January 15, 1930, to succeed Isaac Gans, who retired.

Von Hitler's Master Wants His Dog Back

Has any one seen Von Hitler?

He is missing, strayed or stolen.

The report was made to police last night by his master, Bert R. Moore, 2900 Cathedral avenue northwest. Von Hitler is a German shepherd dog, and proud of his name and ancestry.

Jefferson Junior's Site Is Unpicked

The District Commissioners will not purchase the remainder of the block in the Southwest for the construction of the Jefferson Junior High School until they are able to buy either the entire site originally selected or another site, Engineer Commissioner John C. Gotwals announced yesterday.

Negotiations with the owners of the disputed property have been terminated because the Commissioner and the Board of Education feel that the one block bounded by Seventh, Eighth, H and I streets southwest would not be adequate as no playground could be provided.

As a consequence of the decision, $75,000 remaining in the fund appropriated for the site purchase expires with the death of the fiscal year. Another appropriation to complete the site probably will be asked in the 1935 estimates shortly to be compiled. The District has a continuing appropriation of $250,000 to start construction of the school.

Murderer Is Sentenced Here to Life in Prison

A sentence of life imprisonment was meted to Andrew Miles, colored, by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue in the District Supreme Court yesterday.

Miles pleaded guilty to second degree murder. He was charged with having slain Benjamin W. Coles, also colored, last April in a fight over a hat.

Capital Gains

Population Has Increased About 8,000 Since Last Official Census.

If the lines in front of the movies seem longer or the street cars more crowded than they did a year ago—there's a reason. Washington is about 8,000 persons larger than it was when the last census was taken, according to the annual estimate of the Census Bureau.

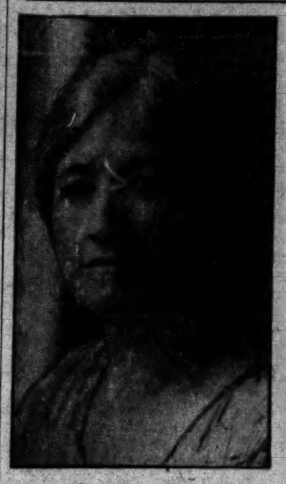
The official estimate of the present population is 495,000, as compared to the 1930 census of 486,869. The city is 2,000 larger than it was last year, when the estimate was 493,000. The estimate is made by weighing the number of births and deaths and the number of persons known to have moved here or away.

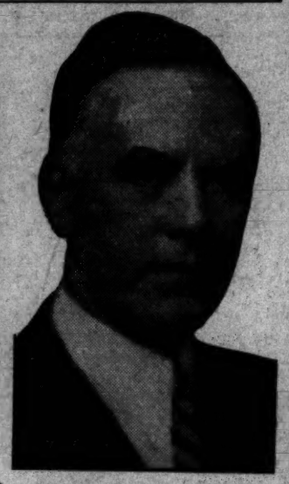
The population of the country as a whole has increased by nearly 3,000,000 during the same period, the estimate shows. The 1930 census showed a total population of 122,775,046, while the present number is set at 125,693,000. Since the last census the Maryland population has grown from 1,631,526 to 1,663,000, while Virginia has increased from 2,421,851 to 2,441,000.

Sunday 'Chute Jumps at Airport.

Washington-Hoover airport will stage two parachute jumps each Sunday, beginning tomorrow, John S. Wynne, manager, said yesterday. Edward Butler, well known around the Capital for his 'chute descents, will make two demonstation jumps early and late on Sunday afternoons.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS





Mrs. Philip Sidney Smith (upper left), who was reappointed to the Board of Education, and Henry I. Quinn (upper right) and Charles H. Houston (lower), colored, new members.

PLANS FOR FOURTH FAST TAKING FORM

Neighborhood Celebrations to Be Climaxed by Program at Monument.

On all sides and throughout the city, Fourth of July preparations are rapidly nearing completion.

The city-wide program will include a number of community and neighborhood celebrations during the morning and afternoon, climaxing in the official ceremonies and fireworks display at the Washington Monument, beginning at 7:15 p. m.

Senator William H. King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, will be the orator at the night finale. He will be introduced by Claude W. Owen, chairman of the Citizens Committee of One Hundred.

Details of Night Program.

There will be a massing of the colors ceremony with 100 Boy Scouts with lighted torches of red, white and blue forming the background. As the colors are retired, the great fireworks display will begin.

Many notables will be in the reserved seats. They will include Cabinet members, senators, representatives and members of the Diplomatic Corps. Many District officials, including Dr. Luther A. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of Commissioners, will attend.

An event of the afternoon will be a polo match at Potomac Park between the War Department team and the team of the Fauquier-Loudoun Polo Club.

Takoma Park to Parade.

As is their custom, residents of the District and Maryland division of Takoma Park will join in their annual celbration and parade.

The parade will begin at 9:30 a. m. on Ethan Allen avenue, proceeding west on Carroll avenue, north on Carroll street, west on Cedar street, north on Piney Branch road, west on Dahlia street and north on Eighth street, where it will disband.

Marching units will include the Army Band, National Guard units, American Legion marchers, Veterans of Foreign Wars marchers, Boy and Girl Scouts, groups of costumed children and other units.

FARMS' COMPLAINTS ON MILK PRICE TOLD

The dairy farmers' complaints against Washington milk prices were laid before Senator William H. King yesterday by Elwood H. Seal, special counsel for the committee which will conduct the inquiry into local milk prices.

At a conference on Capitol Hill, Mr. Seal told Senators King and McCarren the results of a two-day trip through the Washington milkshed, during which he interviewed scores of milk producers about their production costs and health regulations.

Among the producers interviewed were Dallas Berry, former president of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, and two former directors of the association.

The conference was attended by W. B. Watson Snyder, special assistant to the Attorney General, who is studying the antitrust phase of the innvestigation.

The date for the hearing on milk price is scheduled to be set within the next few weeks.

Parents Club to New Band Is Organized

A Parents Club to cooperate with the newly organized National Capital Cadet Band has been formed. At a recent meeting officers were elected and the constitucion and by-laws adopted. Charles F. Williams is the director.

The following officers were elected unanimously: President, Mrs. Edward Lanhardt; vice president, Mrs. Orsinger; secretary, Mrs. McCann, and treasurer, Mrs. Lambros. Meetings will be held the first Monday in each month.

The band will make its first public appearance at Pinkney Memorial Church, Hyattsville, Md., on Tuesday, July 11, and will participate in other musical activities.

$71,811 Bequeathed To Capital Woman

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Kempton, of 4500 Cathedral avenue northwest, will share in the estate of the late Henry B. Tremaine, president of the Aeolian Co., of New York, according to an appraisal filed in that city yesterday. Mr. Kempton is president of the Kempton Motor Co. here.

Mrs. Kempton, a daughter of Mr. Tremaine, stated last night that she was not aware of the amount of her share. The appraisal gave her portion as $71,811. Her husband was left stocks of undetermined value and given an option to purchase any or all of the common and preferred stock of the Kempton Cadillac Corporation.

Mr. Tremaine died in Pelham Manor, N. Y., May 13, 1932.

Woman, 29, Is Released After 12 Years in Home

After spending 12 years allegedly as a virtual prisoner in the House of the Good Shepherd, Thirty-sixth street and Reservoir road northwest, Georgia McGuin, 29, was acclimating herself yesterday to the everyday life of an uncloistered person.

Her sister, Pauline McGuin, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the District Supreme Court Thursday. An attorney for the institution asked for a continuance, and the woman was released shortly afterward.

DURIG IS OPTIMISTIC ON ART PROSPECTS FOLLOWING EVICTION

Will Explain His Desire for Citizenship to McIntyre at White House.

The battle is on—shall Switzerland be known in America as a land of yodelers, cheese and watches, or shall it be better known as a land of blue lakes, of beautiful sculpture and of lovers of true democracy and patriotism.

Chief protagonists of the latter premises are Prof. and Mme. Ernest Durig. Today Prof. Durig will present himself at the White House to lay before Louis McIntyre, Presidential secretary, an explanation of his recent mysterious absence and of his consuming desire for American citizenship.

Durig's day, that had begun with ashen gloom and relentless United States marshals, yesterday ended in a soaring blaze of hope.

Friends Rally to Aid.

The day had seen many new friends attracted by news stories of his eviction—and of his display of artistic temperament. One southern European diplomat has joined his cause, prouncing Durig a "brilliant and deeply intellectual artist."

A high spot of Durig's outburst yesterday as the marshals moved him out of his old studio was the smashing of the busts of Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom. The New Yorker has been friendly with Durig in the past, but the artist and his earnest little wife declare that a powerful fellow Swiss has "poisoned" the minds of many of their strong friends. As Durig splintered the statue of Bloom the latter sat chatting with Otto Kahn, renowned patron of the arts, who is appearing before the Senate committee probing the affairs of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

The diplomat who has befriended the Durigs last night characterized the enemy they speak of as being a "Philistine" to the arts.

Seeks Art Renaissance.

Durig's overwhelming passion is for the birth of a modern art renaissance in America—right here in the Capital. Even last night he was making new plans for this rebirth of the activities of Michelangelo, Da Vinci, Porticelli and Cellini.

The sculptor has a 12-year-old daughter, Rose Marie. The lass has a playmate, Eugene Pischel, 10. While Durig was absent the two children got into his studio and began to putter with a mound of clay.

Out of the mound the lad has molded a head that to the eye of the reporter is very creditable. Mme. Durig has encouraged him. Yesterday his creation was shown to the returned sculptor.

Pleased by Boy's Work.

Durig exclaimed in rapture:

"It is magnifique for such a little one. Yes, he has great promise. I, with my own hands, will help him. Maybe some day he, too, will be a great artist."

Yesterday as the marshals evicted the Durigs and arrayed the sidewalk at Connecticut avenue and Q street with multifarious sculptural creations, Eugene's mother, arranged for the engaging of another apartment across the street, just over the Pischel apartment.

As Prof. Durig last night told of the purported activities of his fellow-countryman—who thinks, says the professor, only of cheese, watches and yodelers—the two children played about the new studio, cementing the Swiss-American alliance.

Playground Days Begin Next Week

Forty-nine playgrounds at District schools will be reopened next Wednesday by the playgrounds department for use throughout the summer. Thirty-three municipal playgrounds are already open. Schools at which the playgrounds will be reopened are: Bancroft, Barnard, Benning, Brightwood, Brookland, Buchanan, Congress Heights, Cooke, Corcoran, Deal, Eaton, Edmonds, Fairbrother, Filmore, Gordon, Hayes, Polk, Jefferson, Johnson, Key, Lafayette, Langdon, Ludlow, Macfarland, Maury, Noyes, Orr, Paul, Peabody, Petworth, Reservoir, Stuart, Tenley, Truesdale, Van uren, Wallach, Weightman and Wheatley.

$300 Pin Stolen From Home.

Mrs. William M. Burleson, 2119 H street northwest, yesterday reported a bar pin, valued at $300, was stolen from her home.

'Oyez' Finale

Aged Institution of Court Criers Ends as Ax of Economy Falls.

An institution as old as the District courts was relegated to the scrap heap yesterday when the seven remaining District Supreme Court criers were discharged for lack of appropriations with which to pay them.

An inheritance from the English manner of opening and closing court sessions, the crier has long been one of the picturesque features of the judicial system. Not in the memory of the oldest attaches of the District Supreme Court has there been a time when the famous "Oyez, Oyez" was not the signal for the opening of court.

One of those who was swept into the ranks of the unemployed was George W. Mowbray, who, for 25 years, has been on the job that Congress abolished, effective yesterday. Mowbray, 81, had but one regret, he confided to friends. He wished to "die with his boots on."

Another, William F. ("Bill") Davidge, has been a crier for 20 years. The others were comparative youngsters, with but from 2 to 15 years of service. They are Eugene Carusi, Philip M. Hamilton, Richard L. Collins, James B. Kennedy and Arthur Blanchard. Two vacancies were already existent because of the deaths of two criers a year ago. Their vacancies have never been filled.

APPIAN WAY STONE IS GIVEN CATHEDRAL BY CHURCH IN ROME

Relic Presented by Italian Ambassador Will Be Used in Walls.

A carved stone from the famous Appian Way yesterday was presented to the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul, at Mount St. Alban, Italian Ambassador Augusto Rosso formally presented the relic to the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington.

The stone was taken from the tomb of Cecelia Metella on the famous Roman concourse. The gift commemorates the sixtieth anniversary of St. Paul's American Church, in Rome, and was conceived by the Rev. Theodore Sedgwick, rector of the church.

St. Paul passed over the Appian Way during his sojourn in the capital of the Roman Empire. With the permission of Roman authorities, the stone was turned over to Dr. Sedgwick last March.

The stone weighs about 100 pounds and is ornately carved. The carving shows the head of a sacrificial bull, with rope falling from the horns. Rosettes on each side of the bull carry out the Hellenic tradition. There is a frieze above and below these decorations.

For the present the stone will be placed in the outer aisle of Bethlehem Chapel, where pilgrims and worshipers may view it. It is expected that ultimately the stone will be placed in the walls of the cathedral.

Patron of Oil Station Takes $3.90 in Holdup

After being serviced to nine gallons of gasoline and two quarts of oil, a lone robber driving an automobile with a Virginia license, late yesterday held up W. Wise, proprietor of a gasoline filling station on the Crain highway near Marlboro, and robbed him of $3.90.

The youthful robber was driving a car about three years old, Wise told Prince Georges County police.

Mrs. Natalie Carr, Kin Of Mark Hanna, in Reno

A relative of the late Mark Hanna, Mrs. Natalie Carr, of Washington, filed suit for divorce in Reno yesterday against Stanly Carr, also of this city. She charged cruelty.

An agreement for custody of their child, Stewart, 3, has been reached out of court. They also have come to terms on a settlement of property. Mrs. Carr is said to have several relatives here and is widely known.

Educators Attend 9-Cent "Banquet"

A Barnarr McFadden "banquet," at a cost of 9 cents a person, was attended yesterday at the new dietitian restaurant for unemployed, 1727 Seventh street northwest, by Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University, and Garnet C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools. They inspected the penny plant and expressed approval of its sanitary and scientific features.

Elder Michaux, who is giving all surplus foods each day for benedt of worthy colored families, was also in the party, as was Dr. Emmett J. Scott, Howard University secretary, and member of the parole board.

Exploding Firecracker Severely Burns Girl, 3

CATHEDRAL GETS HISTORIC STONE

Bishop James E. Freeman receives a stone from the tomb of Cecilia Metella on the Appian Way from Signor Augusto Rosso, Ambassador from Italy. The historic relic will be incorporated in the wall of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul on Mount St. Alban.

CAPITAL TO SUFFER MORE HEAT TODAY

Three Prostrated and Many Sleep in Parks; Humidity Drops Sharply.

Continuance today of the sticky, torrid weather of yesterday was the prophecy of the Weather Bureau last night as thousands took to the parks, pools and country roads for a breath of cool air. Many slept in Rock Creek Park and around the Speedway.

The only ray of hope promised by the Weather Bureau was the suggestion on the barometer of local thunderstorms tomorrow, bringing light breezes.

Three persons were prostrated and treated at local hospitals during yesterday's humid heat. They were:

Joseph Green, 40, colored, 1227 Seventh street northwest, treated at Emergency Hospital; Charles Wilson, 23, colored, no address, treated at Emergency Hospital, and Miss Jacksie Pearson, 18, of Vienna, Va., treated at Emergency Hospital. None was believed to have been affected seriously.

Yesterday's high temperature was 95 at 4 p. m., with instruments at the Weather Bureau indicating a drop in the humidity from 89 at 9 a. m. to 53 at 6 p. m. To Washingtonians, however, the drop seemed to be only on the instruments, if the rivulets of perspiration that flowed were a criterion.

Traction Merger Bodies Deadlocked

The committees of the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. trying to work out a merger agreement under the Congressional authorization, are still unagreed on a financial setup, it was reported yesterday. It is not expected that anything more than the agreement in the merger act will be presented to the stockholders at their meetings Monday.

One of the obstacles said to be blocking an agreement is the question of what price is to be paid Harley Wilson for the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

The railways, while eager to push through the merger, have until January, 1935, to consummate the merger though the financial setup would have to be submitted to the Public Utilities Commission long before that time.

PARK GROUP PLANS RECEIVER MEETING

Bank Depositors to Hear of Treasury Plan as Others Offer Opposition.

Depositors of the Park Savings Bank are expected to receive a call next week for a general meeting, at which the advantages of a Treasury receivership will be explained to them.

A committee, headed by Frank J. Sobotka, is arranging for the meeting. The Treasury Department is considering the application of three of the bank committees, in which the Comptroller of the Currency is asked to name a receiver.

This move is being strongly opposed by another depositors' committee, headed by J. W. Thompson, who believe that the depositors would derive a greater benefit if the affairs of the bank are liquidated through a court receivership.

There was no indication yesterday when the Treasury Department will act upon the petition. E. Hilton Jackson, representing the Jackson depositors' committee, has filed a brief opposing the Treasury Department receivership and challenging the right of the Treasury Department to name a receiver.

Second Divorce Sought From Same Husband

A husband she remarried after having once divorced him, was again in domestic difficulties yesterday when Mrs. Eula Jo Freeman petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her a divorce from George P. Freeman.

Mrs. Freeman's suit alleged that she divorced her husband in 1931. They were reconciled and remarried in Norristown, Pa., shortly afterward, she claimed. Her husband left her a few weeks later and has since been associating with another woman, she alleged. Attorneys Arthur E. Reyman and T. O. Nichols represented the wife.

Watch Out for Children, Safety-Drive Sign Warns

Closing of schools has released thousands of children to the streets, and with this in view the third poster of the street and highway safety campaign features the slogan "Watch Out for Children."

The campaign is being conducted locally by William A. Van Duzer, director of traffic, in conjunction with nine major oil companies and the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Mr. Van Duzer declared motorists should exercise extreme caution when in the neighborhood of playgrounds, ball fields, parks and similar places.

HARMONY KEYNOTE OF DESIGN FOR NEW CHURCH AT CAPITOL

The idea of architectural harmony is being applied to private structures in the neighborhood of the monumental public buildings, the Fine Arts Commission revealed yesterday.

The commission has been asked to cooperate with architects for the new Church of the Reformation on East Capitol street, between Second and Third streets, to insure harmony of design between the church structure and the Folger Library across the street. Such cooperation will make certain that the library, one of Washington's most noted architectural gems, will be set in surroundings equally pleasing.

The building committee of the church requested the cooperation of the commission, H. P. Caemmerer, its secretary, said yesterday. Porter & Lockie, Washington architects for the church, have already submitted a sketch of the building, Mr. Caemmerer said. This will be considered by the commission at its next meeting, although detailed plans must be submitted before final approval is given.

The Church of the Reformation was formerly located at 208 B street southeast. This land was bought by the Government for the extension of the Library of Congress. The church now owns the plot on East Capitol street, where the new building will be erected.

Authority for the commission's cooperation on design of private construction is contained in an Executive order issued by President Wilson. This order gives the commission supervision over all buildings which materially affect the appearance of the city.

Thomas S. Rhodes Quits As Attorney General Aid

Thomas S. Rhodes yesterday announced his resignation as special assistant to the Attorney General, to engage in the general practice of law here. He will open offices in the Southern Building.

Mr. Rhodes has been in the Department of Justice for more than 13 years, being originally appointed by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer. He has participated in the trial of many important cases for the Government.

John Erbach Ends 44 Years' Service

A 44-year record of service, with not one day lost because of illness, was established yesterday by John Erbach, who retired as a photographer in the Geological Survey, Interior Department.

At the age of 70, Mr. Erbach's entire period of service has been in the Geological Survey. He entered the department when photography was in an early stage of development.

A native of Washington, Mr. Erbach was educated in the District schools. He lives with his wife at 4317 Fessenden street northwest. He has two sons, John W. and Carl F. Erbach, and a daughter, Mrs. Amalia Perry.

"Biggy" O'Connor Gets Prison Term

Edwin M. Van Meter, a former lawyer, who with O'Connor, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking into a 5 and 10 cent store at Eleventh and H streets northeast, had previously been sentenced to 3 to 7 years.

O'Conner was one of the principals in a celebrated criminal case several years ago. He and Vernon Story were convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of a man who was run over by their automobile after he had been robbed. The Court of Appeals sustained the conviction of Story and O'Connor in its first pronouncement of the automobile as the "deadly weapon" in a homicide case.

Commissioners Approve Dump.

The District Commissioners yesterday approved the recommendation of Sanitary Engineer J. B. Gordon that a burning dump be established on the east side of the Anacostia River, near the Benning race track. Approval must now be given by Maj. Joseph D. Arthur, District engineer of the War Department.
